Pine Haven Farms Wins Ohio Sheep Show

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

HUNTSDALE (Cumberland Co.) — Pennsylvanians dominated the Ohio Suffolk Sale and Show held recently at the Preble County Fairgrounds in Eaton, Ohio.

The biggest winner was Pine Haven Farms of Huntsdale, which won with the senior champion and grand champion ram at the show.

However, John Conaway, a partner in Pine Haven Farms, said the Ohio show not only was good for his operation. He said it also was good for the sheep industry as a whole. "It was a real boost for the sheep industry," said Conaway. "This is the best sale we have seen in a long time."

According to Conaway, the Ohio show attracted exhibitors from not only Pennsylvania and Ohio, but from Virginia, New York, Indiana, Idaho, Mississippi, Nebraska, Vermont, Michigan, and several other states.

The show is one of the premier sheep shows of the year, he said.

Conaway said 300 head of Suffolks were shown and sold at the event, with an average sale price of $600.

The winning Pine Haven ram sold for the top price in the show of $4,000, he said.

The ram was sold to Vanderwende Genetics of Fargo, N.D., Conaway said.

He said the animal already was a winner before it went to the Ohio show, since it was the champion Suffolk at the 1993 Pennsylvania Farm Show and was the champion at the 1992 Maryland State Fair.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gov. Robert Casey on Thursday signed into law two acts which affect agriculture and environmental concerns.

Casey signed into law the Nutrient Management Act and also an act to create an Agricultural Advisory Board to DER. Both laws go into effect in 60 days.

The two laws, though not specifically related, were both modified and created out of a basic conflict between DER and the agricultural

FFA'ers Learn Effective Leadership At Conference

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — To more fully define their roles as FFA chapter leaders, county officers met with state and national FFA representatives at Lancaster Mennonite High School Wednesday night at the second annual County Leadership Conference.

At the beginning of the Conference early Wednesday evening, FFA members from Lancaster joined in "mixers," which helped to "break the ice and promote interaction," according to Jacy Clugston, state FFA secretary. FFA officers discussed activities at the chapter and county level.

The main objective of the leadership conference, which lasted until 9 p.m., said Jacy, was to give FFA members a more complete understanding of what their functions are.

"This is something the county officers believed was necessary, and decided to do for the second year at the county level," said Jacy.

At the conference, which featured several leadership training sessions and workshops to allow officers' to be more effective in chapter leadership and development sessions for ag literacy and other programs, FFA'ers learned "the importance of being involved as officers," said Jacy.

"No job is more important than another," she said. "We need every member to work cooperatively to help them and their programs grow."

Participating members at the Conference also included national central region vice president John Kleiboeker; Mandy Hilbert, state FFA president; Ben Ehrhart, state vice president; and Shelly Ogline, state FFA reporter.

Lancaster Farm And Home Foundation Names Scholarship Winners

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Seven county high school seniors received $1,000 scholarships from the Farm and Home Foundation on Tuesday night.

Recipients of the scholarship must pursue a career in agriculture or home economics, and are selected based on school standing, leadership, extracurricular activities, and financial need.

For the past 28 years 338 scholarships have been given from the trust fund set up by the late Elmer L. Esbenshade. The number of scholarships given varies from year to year depending on the interest earned from the trust. Some years as many as 14 students received scholarships, but declining interest rates lowered the number of recipients this year and made it difficult for Foundation Committee members to chose from the 19 applicants.

Recipients of the $1,000 scholarships are as follows:

George Bard, the son of George and Jackie Bard of Conestoga, is a Penn Manor student who plans to study engineering at Penn State. "I like math and science, and I wanted to do something in that area," George said.

George is an FFA member who was part of the National Dairy Judging Team. At Penn Manor, he

Notice To Hog Producers
Report Supplied By Company, May 10

Unfortunately, because of a lack of volume in our Leola hog receiving station, it is no longer economically feasible to operate the Leola and Thomasville stations.

Effective June 1, 1993, we will no longer receive hogs at these buying points. We regret any inconvenience this might cause, and want to thank the producers who have supported us in the past.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Wednesday, May 19, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was slow to fair at best. Offerings were readily available for immediate delivery and difficult to place. Live supplies were moderate; weights varied, but were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were heavy. Less than truckiot asking prices were 1 to mostly 2 cents lower at 56 to 69 cents and extra supplies were negotiable. Trade sentiment was weak to lower. Breast items were irregularly balanced. Leg items were adequate with drumsticks in closest balance. Inquiry on dark meat items centered on next weeks needs. Wings were in good balance.

Truckiot buying interest continued to be light to fair. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts from yellow skin production were adequate for current needs and product cleared at steady prices. Boneless skinless breasts without tenders were fully adequate for the light and cautious demand with some trading reported at lower prices. Line run breasts were irregularly distributed. Product was offered at lower trending prices and was slow to clear. Most buyers were cautious and limited receipts to commitments only. Yellow skin leg quarters, thighs, and drumsticks cleared to an active demand; white skin leg quarters were available.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, May 19, 1993

Prices for large and extra large trended unchanged to higher in the Northeast; otherwise, prices around the country were unchanged. The trade sentiment was steady to fully steady on larger sizes, steady to instances cautiously steady on mediums. Retail demand ranged slow to good, mostly fair. Supplies of larger sizes were in close balance to instances tight, mediums were at least adequate or were available if needed. In the Central States breaker channels, prices for nest run supplies ranged unchanged to higher, checks and undergrades were unchanged. Trading and demand was mixed. Floor stocks were about adequate. The undertone was steady to fully steady. In the Southeast, sales of light type hens were too few to report prices. Offerings were fully adequate to ample. Demand was fair at best. The undertone was barely steady to weak.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, May 19, 1993

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY WHEAT PRICES CONTINUED TO CLIMB, WEDNESDAY, SUPPORTED BY CROP CONCERNS AND EXPORT DEMAND. CORN PRICES WERE PRESSURED BY PLANTING OPTIMISM AND TECHNICAL SELLING ON THE BOARD. SHARP DECLINES IN BEAN PRICES REFLECTED WEAKNESS IN CORN PRICES, HOPES FOR ACTIVE PLANTING, AND CONCERNS FOR POSSIBLE INCREASE IN BEAN PLANTING. WHEAT UNCHANGED TO 3 CENTS HIGHER. CORN 3 TO 4 CENTS LOWER. SORGHUM 5 TO 6 CENTS LOWER. SOYBEANS 3 TO 7 CENTS LOWER. GOOD EXPORT INTEREST AND HOPES FOR RENEWAL OF CHINA'S MOST FAVORED-NATION TRADE STATUS, PUSHED WHEAT PRICES HIGHER. CONTINUED CONCERNS OVER SLOW WINTER WHEAT DEVELOPMENT AND POSSIBILITY FOR DISEASE, IF WET WEATHER CONTINUES, ADDED SUPPORT. CORN PRICES SLIPPED ON IDEAS WEATHER CONDITIONS WILL IMPROVE AND PLANTING WILL CONTINUE AT A RAPID PACE. LIGHT EXPORT DEMAND LIMITED PRICE DECLINES. SPILLOVER WEAKNESS IN CORN PITS WEIGHED ON BEAN PRICES. RECENT SHARP GAINS IN SOYBEAN AND SOYBEAN MEAL PRICES SEEN AS OVERDONE ALSO PRESSUR ED PRICES. POSSIBLITY FOR INCREASED BEAN PLANTING IN PLACE OF CORN STILL EXISTS.

EXPORT NEWS: CYPRUS BOUGHT 18,000 TONNES U.S. WHEAT; 13,000 TONNES HARD AMBER DURUM AND 5,000 SOFT RED WINTER WHEAT UNDER EEP FOR JUNE SHIPMENT. Cuts more than hay. Cuts time.

New Idea 5212 Disc Mower Conditioners cut a big 11'9" swath and condition with 9'6" intermeshing rolls. It's a wider version of our well-known 5209. With it, you cut and condition lots of hay...every trip. And that means you cut time.

Because the New Idea modular disc cutterbar design makes routine maintenance simple and, although unlikely, repairs a breeze; there's less downtime, too.

Best of all, you'll find our disc mower conditioners are just one segment of our hay equipment line. Others include round balers, disc mowers, sickle mowers and mower conditioners, rakes and hay handling equipment.

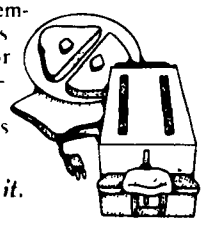
The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

MAY 24-30, 1993

SARDINE SEASON NOW.

THE POP-UP TOASTER

Charles Strite, a master mechanic in Stillwater, Minnesota, during World War I, did not like burned toast In those days preparing toast, even in the new electric toasters, meant carefully watching each piece and turning it by hand to brown both sides. To eliminate human error, Strite added springs and a variable timer, and applied for a patent on May 29, 1919 The idea of a pop-up toaster was an immediate success, but the devices themselves had a few bugs to be worked out. Every one of the first 100 hand-assembled toasters shipped to the Childs restaurant chain was returned for mechanical adjustment Although "perfect toast every time" was still several years away, the automatic toaster was here to stay



God gives food but does not cook it.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Keep a small magnet in your sewing basket so you can easily pick up spilled pins.

EARTHWISE

Lots of fresh vegetables and fruits are available now, so spend your food dollars on food rather than packaging According to the U S Department of Agriculture, in 1986 we spent more on packaging — $28 billion — than the nation's farmers received in net income Each day we throw away about 4 pounds of non-food garbage per person That's a lot of garbage, and a lot of money, ending up in our landfills Take some time to take a look at your buying habits

YANKEE PORK TENDERLOIN

1½ pound pork tenderloin
3 tablespoons butter
1 onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup sour cream

Cut tenderloin into thick slices and roll in flour Place in Irving pan with butter and onion, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and brown on both sides Baste with sour cream and cook, covered, over low heat for about 30 minutes or until tender

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Clear and warm, cold and rainy south and west then clearing and warming

SOUTHEAST: Rainy and cool, then sunny and warm, clear and hot Florida, then rainy and milder

MIDWEST: Rainy and cool, warmer north and east, clearing and hot, then rain and cold

NORTHWEST: Clear and warm, then cool and showery coast, sunny and cool mountains, then warming

SOUTHWEST: Clear and warm, few showers desert, very hot California, rainy and cooler east

OPINION

Bovine Bashing

It seems that not a week goes by that I don't read or hear about another blow dealt to society by those wily and notorious creatures called cows. The cows even fooled Orwell — the pigs were just a diversion.

Scott Barao, extension livestock specialist University of Maryland says according to some, these mischievous malcontents, while appearing on the surface to contribute significantly to the lifestyle we all enjoy, actually have a less than noble agenda. Even though they help keep the pharmacists, researchers, clothing manufacturers, furniture makers, construction workers, plus the butcher the baker and the candlestick maker employed, they still cannot be trusted. They turn roughage (fiber), undigestible by you and me, into a nutrient dense food source that fits easily into a variety of diets and eating plans. Cows were the original recyclers.

Some well-fed public nags would have us believe that there is a group of renegade cows down in South America hacking away at the rainforests with chainsaws in one hoof and stuffing grain that could feed the hungry, into their mouths with the other hoof. Complex economic and food distribution problems exist in many poorer countries. The simple fact that the U.S. has had a surplus of grain for most of the last 3 decades and yet those surpluses have failed to alleviate world hunger should provide some evidence of the complexity of the world hunger problem — at least according to a cow friend of mine.

There are many serious issues facing us today. Human overpopulation, air and water pollution, waste disposal, resource abuse, homelessness, crime, violence and disease to name just a few. These issues are complex and interrelated. Attempting to simplify any one of these issues down to the point of blaming cows only adds to the misinformation and misconceptions that already abound.

Decisions about these issues must be based on the best scientific information available. Hype, hysteria and scare tactics insult the intelligence of and do a disservice to the American public.

Farm Forum

Editor,

Last Monday, May 17, CBS Evening News included a report on meat inspection as part of their "Eye on America" series. The blatanly biased report could certainly raise questions among consumers.

Beef industry groups support the USDA regulation that establishes zero tolerance for all recognizable fecal matter or ingesta on carcasses. The key word, however, is recognizable.

Recognizable means that an inspector can detect foreign matter as part of the normal visual inspection of the carcass. It does not mean getting out a magnifying glass and going over every inch of every carcass in search of microscopic specks of matter.

In terms of food production, that is no more practical than getting out a magnifying glass and going over every head of lettuce to make sure it doesn't contain any microscopic specks of soil which may harbor bacteria.

There are numerous safeguards all along the production chain designed to ensure that the beef sold in your supermarket or served in your favorite restaurant is safe. Through the beef checkoff program, the Pennsylvania Beef Council is active in educating consumers, retailers, distributors, and foodservice representatives on the proper handling and cooking of beef.

We've also taken our message directly to producers. In cooperation with Penn State and the Cattlemen's Association, the Pennsylvania Beef Council has joined other states in sponsoring a beef quality assurance program.

The bottom line is that beef is a fresh product that contains no additives or preservatives, and, like other fresh foods, is safe when prepared and cooked properly.

It is unfortunate that issues involving labor unions, the government and tabloid television are combining to hurt consumer confidence in the safety of beef.

Beef producers are committed to producing a safe and wholesome product. Cattlemen and consumers are the victims of this labor/government squabble.

I urge producers to write or call CBS, or your local CBS affiliate, to object to the treatment of our product on this type of tabloid television. The address for the CBS Evening News is: CBS Evening News with Dan Rather, 524 West 57th St. — Studio 47, New York, N.Y. 10019. The telephone number is (212) 975-3691, or (212) 975-4321.

Sincerely,

David J. Ivan

NOW IS THE TIME

By John Schwartz
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Have Ag Leaders Step Forward

Society is changing. Power bases in government are changing. Many public policy makers and teachers have no experience or knowledge about agriculture.

The number of farmers continue to decline. This means agricultural organizations must change. This means developing a unified voice for agriculture to address environmental, food safety, agricultural literacy, and "animal rights" issues.

We need forward-thinking agricultural leaders to step up and take charge of their organizations and redirect their efforts. Agriculture needs people who are willing to work into agencies and develop working relationships with officials. Members must realize working with nontraditional agencies are more important than member services.

We need to support efforts to educate the public about the important role agriculture plays in a healthy environment, about modern food production, and the importance of maintaining a strong agricultural economy. Agriculture needs to prepare to defend itself as an industry from being a regulatory target.

Now is the time for agricultural leaders to come forward and organize to meet the challenges of the 1990s.

To Manage Pastures For Profits

If you want to make a profit from your pastures, you must think of yourself as a pasture farmer. This requires putting the same amount of effort into establishing and managing pastures as you would into any other crop.

How many farmers would grow corn, soybeans, or alfalfa with the same low level of soil fertility and low level of management that they use on their pastures?

To begin your pasture management program, you must first institute a serious weed and fertility program. Once weeds are under control and optimal fertility levels are reached, a good grazing program is needed. Good grazing management will help maintain fertility while decreasing or even preventing further weed problems.

If you fail to manage your pastures well, they will soon revert back to the same weedy and unproductive pastures. Good rotational grazing systems will tend to keep most weeds out of pastures while increasing productivity.

Remember, pastures need to be managed like any other crop.

To Fight Johnes Disease

Johnes is a disease that attacks the digestive tracts of cattle. Older, infected cattle shed the infectious bacteria in their feces.

Calves and younger cattle are most susceptible to infection. They become infected by consuming fecal material from older cattle.

To prevent calves and heifers from ingesting fecal material from older cattle, you need to:

- Provide cows with clean maternity areas.
- Separate the newborn calf from her dam as soon as possible after birth.
- Do not allow the calf to nurse her dam. Instead, wash and sanitize the dam's teats and bottle feed her colostrum to her calf.
- House calves and heifers well away from maternity areas and sick bays. Also, house them away from pens, lots, and alleys used by older cattle and drainage from these areas.
- Do not contaminate the feed or feeding area of calves and heifers with fecal material coming from foot wear, manger sweepings, or dirty utensils and equipment.
- Keep visitors, advisors, service people, and farm workers from tracking manure from your herd or from other herds into the feeding areas on your farm.
- Graze heifers separate from older cattle. In a rotational grazing system, do not use heifers to clean up paddocks grazed by older cows.

All of these suggestions are aimed at preventing young stock from ingesting fecal material from older cattle. More severely infected cattle that are heavy shedders may transfer their infection to their unborn calf across the placental membranes. Thus, it may be beneficial to cull calves that are born of infected dams.

Consult your veterinarian for more specific information about testing, culling, vaccination options, and the state's Johnes-free certification program.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

"Seeing Is Not Enough!"

Background Scripture:
John 14.
Devotional Reading:
John.

We usually assume that if we can just see something, we can believe in it and that is all there is to it. Of course we trust our loved ones, but it helps sometimes if we can see our trust substantiated. We believe in living by worthy moral principles, but once in a while we like to see that the world and us are better off by holding to those moral standards.

One of our most ancient concerns has been that we cannot see God. Of course, we know that if we could see him plainly, whatever it is that we would be seeing could not be the Infinite, the Holy, the Almighty. Still, we would rather like to see him! And that was why Jesus came to the world — so that in him, so far as we are able to perceive, we could see the Father. "I am the way, and the truth, and the life;" said Jesus, "no one comes to the Father, but by me. If you had known me, you would have known my Father also; henceforth you know him and have seen him."

SHOW US!

How ironic, then, that Philip follows those revealing words with his plea, "Lord, show us the Father, and we shall be satisfied." Is it that Philip didn't understand what Jesus had been saying, or was it that he wasn't satisfied with what he saw of the Father in Jesus? Are there not some times when we stand in Philip's shoes, having received a revelation, but asking for still more? There is a suggestion of incredulity in Jesus' reply: "Have I been with you so long, and yet you do not know me, Philip? He who has seen me has seen the Father; how can you say, 'Show us the Father'?" How can we?

Never in all the history of the world has this been more true: "Like father, like son." The clearest, most complete picture the world will ever have of God is to be found in his Son, Jesus. That doesn't mean that in Jesus is revealed all that there is of God, but all that you and I need to know and can comprehend. It is the gracious, loving nature of God that is fully revealed to us in Jesus Christ. What more could God tell us about the living of our own lives? When we see Jesus Christ, we are seeing all that we need to see of God.

KEEPING THE WORDS

But, if seeing is believing, seeing and believing are not end of the process. Jesus challenges us, saying, "If you love me, you will keep my commandments" (14:15). And again: "He who has my commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves me; and he who loves me will be loved by my Father..." (14:21). And once more: "If a man loves me, he will keep my word..." (14:23). Keeping his words, his commandments is what he expects to follow from our seeing and believing.

When Jesus asks us to keep his words, he does not mean to keep them safely hidden like a treasure that cannot be exposed to the light. We are not to keep these treasures in books, stained glass windows, paintings or even safety deposit boxes. Keeping the commandments of Jesus means doing them.

Having belief in God is never enough if we do not act upon it. Acting upon what we believe, that is faith. And it is also love: "He who has my commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves me; and he who loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and manifest myself to him"

Firestone The Leader in The Field

Super All Traction 23°

R-1

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

THE GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE and BIG DUTCHMAN PROFIT-TIER® CAGE SYSTEMS

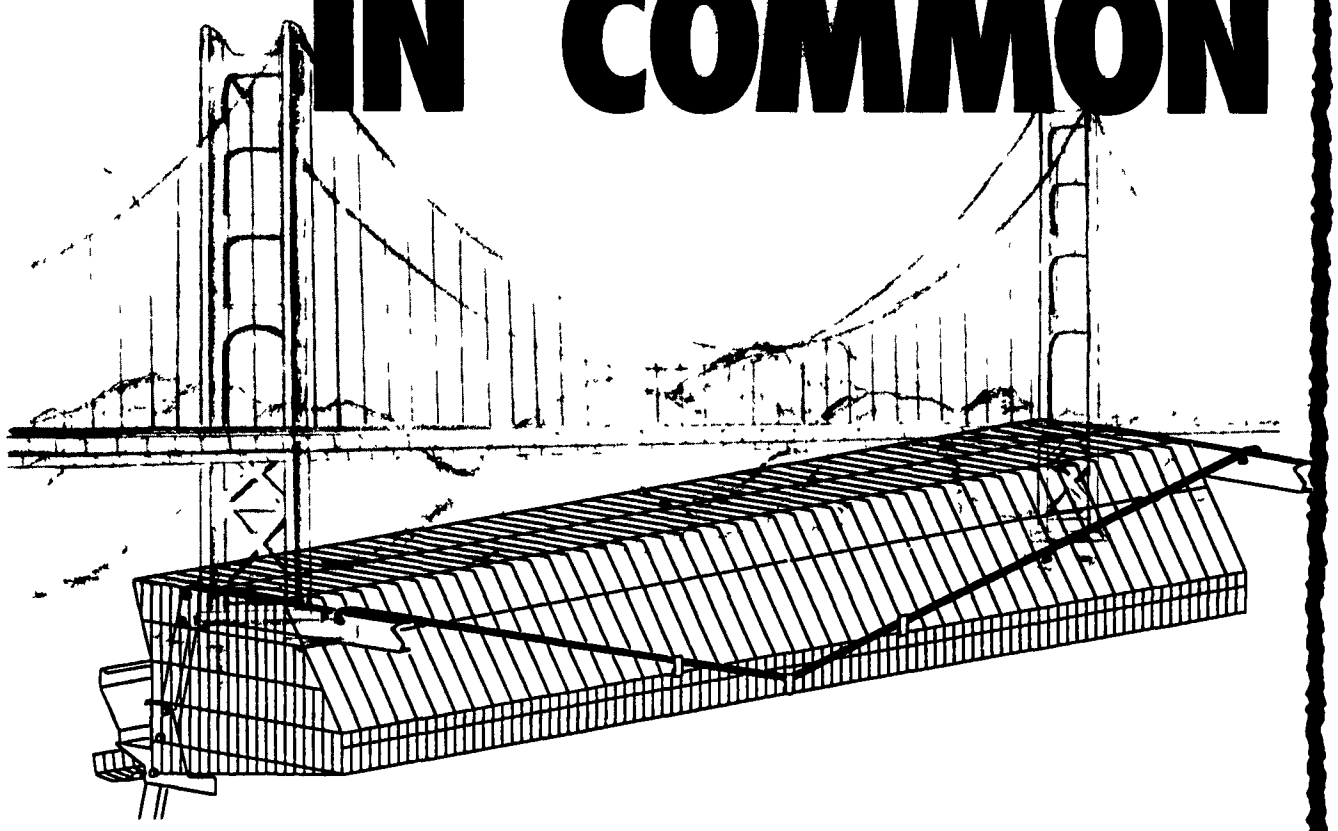
HAVE ONE THING IN COMMON



THEY BOTH HAVE INTELLIGENT DESIGN

Our cage support system has been designed and engineered with tested technology. This superior suspension makes the superstructure of the cage row stronger and better aligned from end to end.

This is accomplished with a tie-in between the cage suspension rods, the cages and the stand in each section of cages

Leg stands are screwed together, not merely clipped together We feature a cage-to-stand mounting on tabs that are built into the leg stands.

In addition, every cage section is attached to the feed trough which acts as an I-beam providing more rigidity and support. The trough is also attached to the leg stand The result is superior strength, alignment and stability throughout the system.

All of these features allow us to use a leg stand every 10 feet, significantly reducing building costs

When you purchase your next cage system, buy the one that was designed and engineered to endure. We offer the important features that make a cage system work better and last longer

BIGGER FOIL CRYSTALS. BETTER CPB CONTROL.

New Foil BFC. Big Fat Crystals For Better Control.

New Foil BFC

New Foil® BFC bioinsecticide is reshaping Colorado potato beetle control. Ecogen has developed a new Foil strain that produces a crystal that is three times as large and three times more effective than the original Foil formulation. That's three times more toxin in every bite.

Bigger is better.

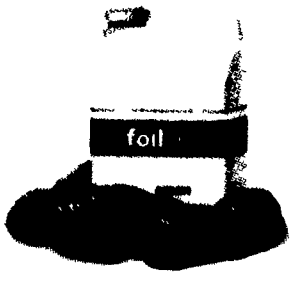
Added strength means that less Foil BFC is needed to do the job. Recommended application rates have been reduced from 3 quarts per acre with the original Foil 1 to 1 1/2 quarts per acre with Foil BFC. Reduced rates and increased efficacy combine to save you time and money.

Best Choice For IPM.

Lead-off your Integrated Pest Management (IPM) program with Foil BFC. You can't find a more effective Bt than Foil BFC.

Consultants agree that Bts can play a critical role in CPB control. When properly timed, Foil BFC will stop the explosion of CPB larvae and permit a sensible rotation of insecticide classes.

When the season starts put Foil BFC to work It will save you time, money and a small piece of the environment for your future.



Foil BFC is the best Bt you can buy.

PACD Selects Nominees For Vacancies

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — During its executive council meeting in Wilkes-Barre on April 16, the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts (PACD) selected nominees to recommend to Governor Robert P. Casey to fill two farmer vacancies on the State Conservation Commission.

Amos H. Funk, vice chairman and member of the commission for 19 years, has declined to accept reappointment when his term expires in May; and George B. Wolff, who has served since 1980, has announced his resignation. Both men will continue to serve until the governor appoints successors.

The PACD will submit to Governor Casey the names of Ross Orner, Jr. of Clearfield County, and Dr. James S. Shadle of Schuyl-kill County. Shadle served as chairman of the Schuylkill County Conservation District for 36 years. He is a full-time farmer. Shadle was a high school vocational agriculture teacher for 18 years, an agricultural education instructor at Penn State University for two years, and has been principal of the Blue Mountain Middle School in Schuylkill County for the past 10 years.

Ross Orner, Jr. presently serves as chairman of the Clearfield County conservation district board. He operates a 580-acre family dairy farm, managing a herd of approximately 200 cows and heifers. He is also a member of Agway, Inc., Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement, Pennsylvania Dairyman's Association, Pennsylvania Guernsey Association, Penn-sylvania Holstein Association, Pennsylvania Master Farmers Association, Pennsylvania Grange, Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers, Pennsylvania Farmers Association, and Unilec-Rural Electric Association.

EASE! Time is money and you'll see how easy it can be to save both with a Westfalia Parlor. And Westfalia has just the right one designed to match your milking needs and style. Whether you choose the new Westfalia Herringbone All-Exit Indexing System, the PRA (All Exit Parallel) or the new AUTOTANDEM, you can't go wrong with Westfalia.

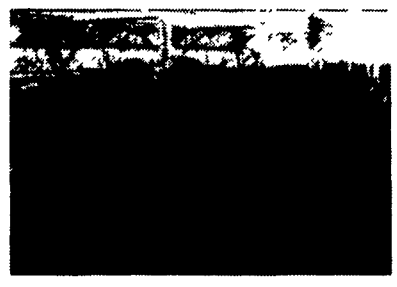
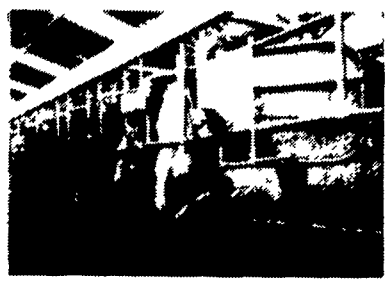
WESTFALIA'S ALL-EXIT, INDEXING HERRINGBONE STALLS





20 to 0 in 8 Seconds!

Quick, quiet and smooth best describes Westfalia's All-Exit, Indexing Herringbone Stalls. You'll have the most efficient cow traffic available with the Westfalia All-Exit.

This great, new system allows all cows to be exited out of the milking area at the same time. Stalls are returned to the entrance position in only 8 seconds. Quiet hydraulics do the work.

But that's only part of the job these heavy-duty stalls will do for you. When in the indexing mode, the breast rails gently nudge cows into the proper milking position. An easy to use control box keeps operation simple.

If you're planning a new barn or are remodeling (fits under an 8' ceiling) this year, the Westfalia All-Exit indexing Herringbone System should be your choice.

Lebanon Resident Becomes Outstanding Ag Student

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Teresa J. Hill, a Penn State student from Lebanon, has been named the 1993 Outstanding Two-Year Agricultural Business Student by the College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society.

She was honored at the college's 1993 Spring Commencement, held Saturday, May 15, at Penn State's University Park Campus.

Hill, the daughter of James Hill and Betty Frint, received an associate degree in agricultural business. She made the Dean's List in 1991 and 1992 and was active in the Dairy Science Club and the Coaly Society. During her studies, she worked for Lebanon Valley National Bank and on three dairy farms.

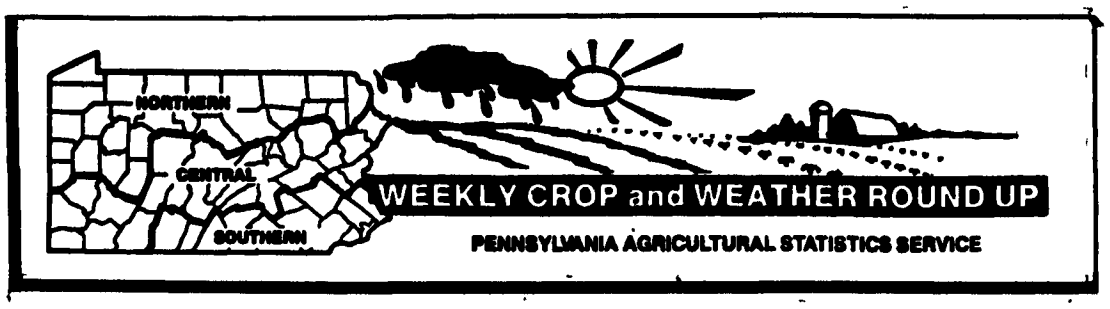
In Lebanon County, she was a member of FFA and the Junior Holstein Club. She plans to work in an agricultural financial institution and to remain active in the agricultural community.

Supervisors Employees Of Year

BELLEFONTE (Centre Co.) — Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is pleased to announce that County Supervisor Mildred L. Turner, and Assistant County Supervisor Dorothy J. Gates, of the Centre County office were selected for "Employees of the Year - 1992."

These employees were selected from several other nominees from Pennsylvania. FmHA employees criteria for the award were based on the employees' overall effectiveness in delivering of FmHA programs, contributions to management effectiveness/cost reduction, respect earned throughout the community, cooperation with peers, superiors and the public, and concern in day-to-day dealings with the public.

Bellefonte traditionally has been in the top five in the state for both rural housing and farmer program loans made each year. The rural housing case load remains steady at 850 clients while the farmer program case load has consistently increased by 10 clients per year, with a total of 75 clients, to date.



FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 16

EXCELLENT WEEK FOR FIELDWORK: Above-normal temperatures and below-normal precipitation allowed six days suitable for fieldwork last week. Soil moisture was rated short by 12 percent of our respondents, adequate by 75 percent, and surplus by 13 percent. Activities included manure hauling; preparing seedbeds; planting oats, corn, soybeans and potatoes; first alfalfa cutting started; fixing fence; and caring for livestock.

CROPS: Planting of all spring crops progressed rapidly last week but continued to be about one week behind normal for oats and potatoes. Plantings for corn and soybeans have progressed at about the normal pace. Tobacco transplanting was started. Hay stands showed excellent growth last week. Grazing of rotational pastures was going strong and cattle were moved onto all pastures across the state, with the exception of a few selected areas that were still too wet.

FRUITS: Fruit tree development continued to advance rapidly. Fruit sets looked good. There were reports of frost in the northern areas with some minor damage.

Protect Your Farm From Theft

SHARTLESVILLE (Berks Co.) — The Young Farmers group of the Tulpehocken Area School District will present a program at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 7, about protecting your farm equipment and animals from theft.

Chris Williams, an agriculture instructor at the high school and adviser to the group, said a state trooper from the Hamburg barracks will discuss how farmers can protect their equipment and livestock from thieves.

It's not unheard of for thieves to take these things, she said.

"Several farmers I work with have had their shops robbed," she added.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held in the barn of Paul Zimmerman, who lives on Tulpehocken Road west of Shartlesville. When you turn onto Tulpehocken Road off Old 22, the Zimmerman farm is the first one on the left.

FFA'ers Help Repair Streams That Feed Muddy Run

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

RONKS (Lancaster Co.) — Johnny Appleseed had his chance with his apple seed scattering of the hit-or-miss variety.

But using tree planters, last week more than 16 Pequea Valley FFA'ers literally pitched in and planted bareroot dogwoods, pine, forsythia, willows, conifers, apples, and cranapples alongside a streambed under repair.

Chad Slusser, Pequea Valley junior, uses a tree transplanter to ready ground for tree species along the stream.

The special Building Our American Communities (BOAC) project, in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) and the Pennsylvania Game Commission through the efforts of the Pequea-Mill Creek project, is part of overall repair work on a stream near Rt. 340 in Ronks. The stream feeds the Muddy Run Creek, which in turn flows into the Mill Creek.

During the past year, Pequea Valley FFA students contributed their time and efforts toward fencing the stream from dairy cattle on the Amos L. and Elam F. Fisher farm. Also, work was completed recently on streambed fencing on the Jacob B. Fisher farm nearby.

There is at least a mile of fence installed on both sides, according to Clair Witwer, FFA adviser. More than 30 students are involved, which is the FFA's BOAC project.

The FFA was approached by the conservation district and the Mill Creek project to donate labor and time to helping install the systems.

"We do a lot of environmental studies, so this ties in pretty closely with what we work with," said Witwer.

The students also monitor stream water and complete various tests to see what effect the fencing

Missy Vandergriff and Tim Dunn, Pequea Valley FFA sophomores, wade through a repaired streambed at the Amos L. and Elam F. Fisher farm near Ronks.

Omer Brubaker, SCS, right holds up recycled plastic posts while Terry Worall hammers them in.

A total of 7½ acres are available for grazing at the Jacob Fisher farm. The posts were provided by the Fishers, and the wiring from Tipper Tye, which also supplied the recyclable plastic posts, according to Dean Brubaker, SCS, pictured here. Seven paddocks are under construction at the farm to help replenish the grasses that have endured heavy grazing.

"We want to study exactly what happens to the stream once we get the animals out of it," he said.

On hand last week to assist in the planting were Jim Hickernell, from the state Game Commission, and Rich Skubish, land manager for the Commission.

Dean Brubaker, of SCS, and brother Omer assisted students in installing fence posts as part of a rotational grazing system at the Jacob Fisher farm.

A total of 7½ acres are available for grazing at the Jacob Fisher farm. The posts were provided by the Fishers, and the wiring from Tipper Tye, which also supplied the recycled plastic posts.

Recently, electric fence was installed to protect a heavily grazed area near a stream. Areas near the streambed now look green and healthy and are ready to graze, according to Dean Brubaker.

The students will study the effects of the stream fencing to determine if the bacteria count in the water is lowered, what fish now exist in the waters, and other factors, according to the SCS representative.

Determine Water Intake

VIRGINIA A. ISHLER
PSU Dairy Extension

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Inadequate water intake by lactating dairy cows will result in a decrease in milk production faster and more dramatically than any other nutritional factor.

Depending on a particular problem situation, it may be necessary to determine how much drinking water the milk cows are consuming.

Normally, milk cows will consume 4 to 4.5 pounds of water from both eating and drinking per pound of 4 percent fat-corrected milk (4% FCM) produced daily.

The following are the equations and an example on determining drinking water intake.

+pounds of 4% FCM + 25.6

Drinking water intake (lb./day) = Total water intake--ration water.

Holstein cows are averaging 1,350 pounds and producing 57 pounds of 4% FCM. Total dry matter intake is 43 pounds. The moisture content of the ration is 55 percent.

Total water intake
=(4x43) + 57 + 25.6
=254.6 pounds of total water intake daily or =30.5 gallons (254.6/8.34) or
=4.47 pounds per pound of 4% FCM produced daily

Drinking water intake
=202.1 pounds of drinking water daily or
=24.2 gallons (202.1/8.34) or
=3.55 pounds per pound of 4% FCM produced daily

* Calculated using the modified Kertz equation.

100 - 55 = 45% dry matter

95.5 x .55 = 52.5 pounds of ration water.

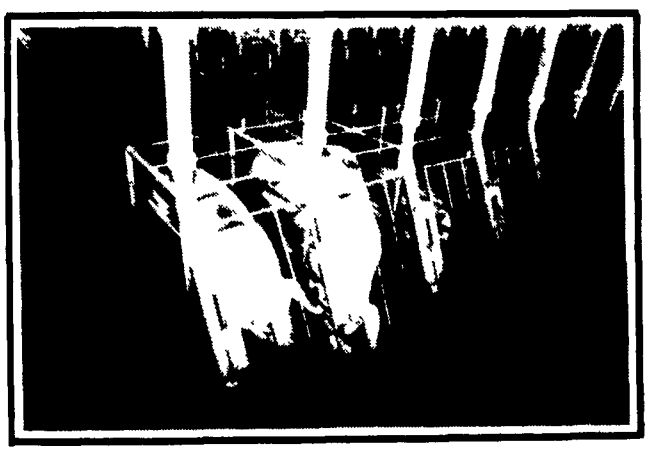
PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE" Developed through testing in our research farms the goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay ons, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity fliprail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.

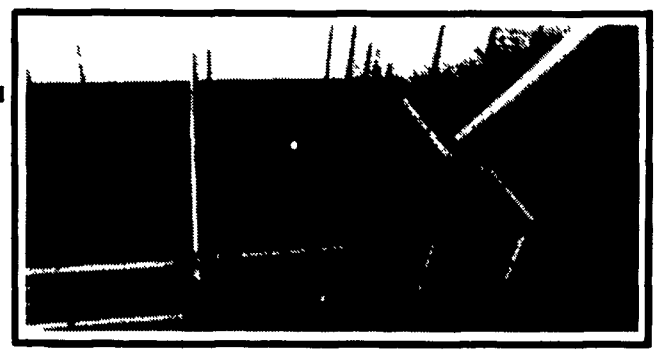


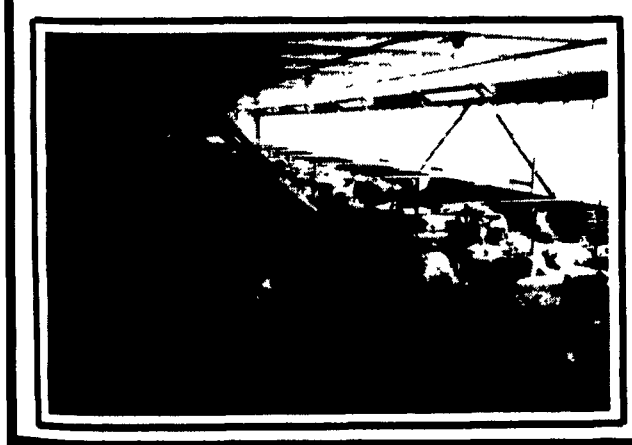
CONFINEMENT STALL

Developed recently in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (21"-24" O.C. x 86")

NURSERY PENNING

Nursery penning has been improved by the use of an optional solid stainless steel panel on the front gates which keeps walkways clean. Stainless steel verticals on penning eliminates corrosion where penning attaches to the floor. Stainless steel drinker pipes & mounting brackets also increase durability.





FINISHING PENNING

Optional stainless steel verticals and fasteners offer improved durability over other similar types of penning. Loop and flapper latch arrangement eliminates the use of drop pins. Stainless steel fence line feeders provide excellent durability and a minimum of waste.

Integrated Management Systems for the Dairy Industry

Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association
DHIA Service Center, Orchard Road, University Park, PA 16802

UNDERSTANDING YOUR REPORTS

The manual "Understanding How to Make Pennsylvania DHIA Reports Work For You" was designed and written to provide dairymen, consultants, and DHIA employees with a detailed explanation of the management information services and programs provided by the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The manual is divided into 10 sections, generously illustrated for easy reference. Each section can be ordered separately if you want information on a particular report, or you may order the entire manual. The information in this manual can be ordered by packages dairymen are currently enrolled in or by what dairymen would like to enroll in such as: Basic Report, Advanced Level I, II, or III. An individual contemplating to go on a particular option might decide to receive information prior to actually going on the option. All the dairyman would need to do is check the box on the barn sheet to receive information with the test reports that month or call the state DHIA office. Updates will be distributed periodically to ensure that members have the most current information on PA DHIA services.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association at State College, Pennsylvania has an extensive computer system that services the dairy producers, with programs meeting the diverse needs of the dairy industry. The accuracy of information supplied to the computer system is the joint responsibility of the herd owner, manager or herdsman, and the technician. Accurate and complete reports increase the reliability of the information as a tool for herd management decisions and eliminates delays in processing reports.

Using and understanding of DHIA records make achieving goals such as higher levels of milk production and continued genetic improvement of dairy cattle and increased efficiency of herd management possible. Individual member dairy farmers are the primary group that profit from the DHIA records.

This manual is free to the members, county extension and DHIA technicians. The manual can be ordered through a technician, or by selecting the information box on the barn sheet on test day, or by calling the PA DHIA state office. A nonmember can also obtain the information through the PA DHIA office in State College, Pa or by calling 800-325-2720.

Pine Haven Farms

LynLee Farms of State College had the junior champion ram, which sold for $3,100. LynLee also had the junior champion ewe, which sold for $2,700.

In addition, Lauden Acres of Dauphin and Northumberland counties won for the first place fall ewe lamb, which sold for $1,875. Lauden Acres also won third place for the Class I yearling ewe, which sold for $2,700.

Pine Haven Farms' winning team won praise from Bill Cretcher, the Oklahoman who judged the Ohio show. "Glad he was here. He made it look easy," Cretcher said. "He has the completeness, correctness, and style that you are always looking for."

Conaway, who runs Pine Haven in the partnership with Diane Conaway and Richard Eberts that was formed in 1982, is a veteran of winning when it comes to sheep shows.

He is a regular exhibitor at national, state, and local shows and says he can see that events like the Ohio show are bringing enthusiasm back into the sheep industry.

Conaway said he is going to do his best to keep that enthusiasm going. He said it is so much better than the slump the sheep industry has been in for several years with low prices.

Conaway said he has seen a lack of interest in sales, but now thinks the good times are returning.

Pine Haven, which has been in operation since 1966 and has approximately 50 ewes on the farm, is doing its part to help those good times along.

During the year, the farm hosts a production sale for the Cumberland County 4-Her's market lamb projects, Conaway said. This year, he said, the production sale was a good one, with lambs selling for an average of $220 a head.

Abbott Joins AJCC As Promotion Director

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — Executive Secretary Maurice E. Core announced today that Sharyn W. Abbott, who was AJCC director of promotion, has accepted the position of office coordinator of Jersey Marketing Service effective May 10.

She will continue as coordinator of the All American Show and Sale.

Sharyn will be responsible for the planning and execution of public and private sale activities which includes coordinating selections, advertising and cataloging for dispersal consignment sales.

She will assist with the development and design of advertising for JMS general advertisements as well as for individual sales.

Abbott is a graduate of the University of Vermont with a bachelor of science degree in Animal Science.

She was the high individual overall at the 1987 National Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging Contest and a recipient of the American Farmer Degree in 1985.

She has put her dairy judging talents to work as an official at the 1991 National 4-H Dairy Judging Contest and the 1988 Washington State Jersey Show. She currently serves on the U.S. Dairy Cattle Genetics Council Promotion Committee.

Before joining the AJCC staff Sept. 1, Sharyn was employed by the American Guernsey Association for two and one-half years. While there she was information director and became managing editor of their publication.

Abbott resides in Reynoldsburg, Ohio with her husband Tim.

Jersey Scholarship Offered

DEFOREST, Wis.— American Breeders Service (ABS) encourages Jersey youth to apply for the ABS-sponsored Morris B. Ewing/ABS Scholarship.

Conducted in conjunction with the American Jersey Cattle Club, the essay contest is open to all Jersey youth who plan to continue with post-secondary education.

The winning student will receive a $500 scholarship to be presented in November at the North American International Livestock Exposition Junior Awards Banquet held in Louisville, Kentucky.

This year's essay topic is, "What can the purebred Jersey breeder do to meet the needs of the dairy producer in the year 2000?"

Essay applications should be sent to Sharyn Abbott at the American Jersey Cattle Club, 6486 East Main St., Reynoldsburg, Ohio, 43068. The application deadline is July 1, 1993.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association this week announced most of the details for its 1993 Junior Holstein Schools.

There are two judging schools, each two days in duration, offered to all junior members, regardless of cattle-breed affiliation.

Though location of the schools changes every year, a west site and an eastern site are selected to provide a reasonable opportunity for all youth to attend.

For this year, the specific locations for the schools are yet to be determined. Ken Raney, director of member relations for the Pa. Holstein Association, said the hotels and meeting places will be announced within the next several weeks.

However, the general location of the western school will be Crawford County, while the eastern school is to be held in Berks County.

The western school is to be held Monday and Tuesday, July 5 and July 6; the eastern school is set for Friday and Saturday, July 9 and July 10.

School officials are to be Steve Shaw, of Williamsburg, for the western school, and Gary Rogers, of Penn State University, for the east.

The fee schedule for the schools are identical, and are designed to reflect travel differences.

For those who need overnight accomodations the fee is $25. That includes school costs, the hotel room and an evening meal.

For those who live close enough to commute, the cost of the school is $15, which covers the cost of the school and an evening meal.

This year, a second member of the family who attends the same school will receive $5 off of their registration cost.

Each school starts noon the first day and ends noon the second day. There are to be between eight to 12 classes of cattle to be judged and instructors will attempt to cover all the basics of judging cattle.

Included in the instruction will be type evaluation, terminology, class breakdowns and how to effectively give reasons. Each person in attendance will have an opportunity to work one-on-one with an experienced judge on reasons giving.

All junior members, regardless of cattle-breed affiliation, are invited to attend. Furthermore, the schools are also open to 4-H and FFA members.

The deadline for registration is June 26. For more information, call or write: the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College PA 16801, (814) 234-0364.

PDCA Announces Judging Conference

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Purebred Dairy Cattle Association this week announced details for its 1993 Annual Judging Conference, to be held in Lebanon County July 7-8.

According to association officials, participants will have the opportunity to judge Brown Swiss, Holstein, Guernsey and Ayrshire dairy cattle during the two-day conference.

The school official is to be Jason Myers, a Holstein breeders from New Windsor, Md.

The cost for the conference is $40 and covers conference costs and lunch for both days.

Those interested in participating should fill out and send a registration form along with payment to: Pa PDCA, 839 Benner Pike, State College PA 16801, by June 15.

According to Ken Raney, director of member relations for the Pennsylvania Holstein Association which also serves as the administrative headquarters for the PDCA, those needing more information should write to him at the same address, or call (814) 234-0364.

Gift Will Endow Faculty Chair

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — A Penn State alumnus who says America must protect its world leadership in agricultural productivity has committed $750,000 to Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

C. Lee Rumberger of Pittsburgh, a former vice president with H.J. Heinz Co., made the donation to endow a faculty chair that will boost the college's research programs. The chair will be funded through a combination of lifetime gifts and an estate note. It will build on a professorship that Rumberger endowed with a $250,000 donation in 1987.

"Lee Rumberger has long recognized that our nation's leadership in agriculture has rested on a strong commitment to research," said Lamartine F. Hood, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences. "Research is the key to ensuring a high quality, safe and nutritious food supply."

Rumberger, who once served as vice president for research at Heinz, said, "I know from personal experience how important research is to the entire agricultural industry. We can't afford to be complacent. We must always be looking for better products and more efficient ways of doing things. My hope is that the Rumberger chair will play an important role in that area."

The C. Lee Rumberger and Family Chair in Agricultural Sciences will be appointed by the dean and could be located in any of the college's academic units.

"The Rumberger chair will help us to recruit and retain a world-class faculty member, who in turn will attract superior students," said Hood.

A Warriors Mark native, Rumberger was graduated from Penn State in 1920 with a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry and served as county agent in Fayette County for eight years. He joined Heinz in 1929 and worked his way through management ranks, becoming vice president for research and quality control in 1951.

Named vice president for development in 1961, he helped start Heinz operations in the Netherlands, Italy and Mexico, and was president and treasurer of the company's Mexican subsidiary. He retired in 1965.

Rumberger has long been active in alumni affairs in the College of Agricultural Sciences. In 1968, he became founding president of the college's alumni society and in 1974 the college named him an Alumni Fellow.

Rumberger has served on the governing boards of many agricultural organizations, including the agricultural board of the National Research Council and the Agricultural Research Institute, affiliated with the National Academy of Sciences.

Penn State honored him as a Distinguished Alumnus in 1960.

Dairy Pasture Walks Set

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Twelve contestants will compete in Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's 1993 Outstanding Young Cooperator contest, which will be held June 17-18 at the Turf Valley Hotel and Country Club in Ellicott City, Md.

During the contest, the Young Cooperators will participate in personal interviews and table topic discussions. Five winners, including the Outstanding Young Cooperators, will be selected by a panel of three judges.

Judging is based on knowledge of cooperatives and the dairy industry, leadership, speaking ability and poise.

This year's contestants include Sheld and Tami Miller, of Bangor, representing District 1; Joe and Cindy Doak, Woodstown, N.J., District 2; Richard and Loretta Savidge, Mertztown, District 8; Daniel and Brenda Rice, Kempton, District 9; John and Penny Garber, Waynesboro, District 10; Jim and Debra Krantz, Quarryville, District 12; Ronald and Jane Reese, Port Matilda, District 13; Evan and Lori Burkholder, Fayetteville, District 15; Gary and Gail Thoman, Dallastown, District 16; Logan Bower, Blain, District 18; Gary and Claudia Bechtel, Curville, District 20; and Robert and Beverly Stanton, Clearville, District 21.

Polled Hereford Association Holds Show

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — The 39th annual spring show and sale of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Hereford Association was held at the Mercer 4-H Park on April 24.

The show was at 2 p.m. with Eric Ligo of Mercer as the judge and the sale at 7 p.m. with Harry Anderson of Georgetown as the auctioneer.

The sale started with items donated by the membership to benefit the junior association.

The 33 lots (females and bulls) totaled $29,960 for an average of $908/head. There were 22 females, totalling $18,120 for an average of $824/head. The 11 bulls totaled $11,840 for an average of $1,076/head.

The grand champion bull, a December 1990 son of BB MSU 15S Wisdom, consigned by Circle W Hereford Farm of Salem, Ohio sold to James E. Ellis of Venus, Pa. for $1,300. Circle W also had reserve grand champion bull, a January 1992 son of CWF Special Force, sold to Robert Bedner of Pittsburgh, Pa. for $1,600. Top-selling bull was consigned by Hillside Hereford Farm of Butler, an April 1992 son of JCD NV Ascendant sold to Wilbur DeVore of Bear Lake, Pa. for $1,775. DeVore was also a volume buyer with the purchase of five lots.

Circle W continued in the winner circle with grand champion heifer, June 1992 daughter of CWF Special Force, sold to Charles Vogel of Evans City, Pa. for $1,025. Reserve grand champion heifer was consigned by Stanley Hunt of Portersville and purchased by Wilbur DeVore of Bear Lake, Pa. for $800.

There was a tie for highest selling female, a consignment by Tellish Hereford Farm of Hookstown, Pa., an August 1991 daughter of RRH Muchmore, sold to Michael Kopko of Washington, Pa. for $1,025.

Frank Granberry III of Zelienople, Pa. consigned the champion cow, a February 1990 daughter of IHRY GK Race, which sold to Susan Salusky of Emlenton, Pa. for $1,000.

Remodel with Chore-Time and you can have more birds, better performance and less maintenance. Chore-Time's 4 tier, 20 inch deep Duratrims are the same width as 3 tier dropping board systems and 4 tier reverse cages. Go from 60,000 birds to 80,000 birds.

Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders
FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs. per 100 birds/day—over $10,000 per year saved on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year!
TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength. No feed buildup or waste like chain trough
NO RE-GRADING of feed due to our design. Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs
REMIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping oil and nuts feed blended. Chain doesn't so feed can get stale
REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders. Easy splicing with auger connector and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace. Saves money and time year after year

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary.

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers* have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System. Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

is a member of Key Club and the National Honor Society. Although he is not from a dairy farm, he likes cows, is a member of the 4-H Dairy Cattle Club, and raises some on a nearby farm. He also works part time at Bard's Hardware in Leola.

Jason R. Barnett, the son of James and Susan Barnett of Strasburg is headed for Penn State after graduation from Lampeter-Strasburg. The 18-year-old said, "I want to study agriculture. Although I haven't narrowed it down, it will probably be dairy and animal science."

His choice of college was predestined, he said, because his dad, grandfather, uncle, and sister graduated from Penn State.

"It's the best in the country," Jason said of the university.

In FFA, Jason held offices as president, vice president, and treasurer. He earned a Keystone Degree and raised hogs as his project.

At school, Jason was a peer counselor and a member of National Honor Society, and soccer and wrestling teams.

He is a member of the Mt. Eden Lutheran Church youth group.

Jason works part time as a cook and dishwasher at Isaac's Deli in Strasburg.

Jeffrey Bollinger, son of Raymond and Sharon Bollinger of Ephrata, plans to study animal science at Penn State after graduation from Ephrata High School. Jeff raises Suffolk sheep, which have earned many top honors in fairs. This resulted in a sheep proficiency award from FFA, where Jeff is treasurer and a Keystone winner.

Jeff is a member of 4-H Woolies Club, Archery Club, and a member of the Ephrata Nazarene Youth Group. He works half days for Agway in the small engines department.

Amy Fenstermacher, daughter of Terrence and Kathy Fenstermacher, is headed to the Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science. The Hempfield senior said that she wanted to be an interior designer ever since she was four years old.

At that time, her mother worked for a furniture store and Amy liked playing with the swatches of fabrics. Her interest in interior design was further spurred when she studied interior design in home economics in high school.

Amy is also a class officer, photography editor for the school paper, cheerleading co-captain, a member of the Christian Education Committee of Salem UCC, and a member of Dance Theater.

Amy has also received an academic scholarship from the College and one from the Lancaster County Home Economics Association.

Lori M. Harnish believes Delaware Valley College is the best choice for her. The Manheim Central senior had her sights set on being a gym teacher until she got involved in FFA. Now, she wants to teach ag.

"I want to definitely teach in Lancaster County," she said. "I was born and bred here and I never want to leave."

In FFA, where she was vice president, Lori received the Keystone Degree. Her team placed first in horse judging and she was 12th in individual judging. In the county, she was first in livestock judging.

She is president of the 4-H Boots and Saddles Club; secretary of the 4-H Beef Club, where she received the Red Rose Max Smith Award, and is secretary of the 4-H Horsin' Around Club.

At school, she participated in field hockey, track, and rifle club. Community service included projects with the Lancaster Boys and Girls Club and with Christ Home.

Lori raises sheep on the family farmette and works part time at Brownstone Horse Farm.

Lori is the daughter of J. Rodney and of Nancy Harnish of Lititz.

Lorraine K. Martin of Ephrata is the daughter of Leroy and Laura Martin. The Conestoga Valley senior chose Messiah College as the place to study dietetics.

She said her interest in dietetics was influenced by teachers and her her desire to work with people in a hospital setting.

At school, Lorraine is treasurer of her school's National Honor Society, a member of Girl's Varsity Volleyball, and a member of the Fellowship of Christians Club.

At Mentzler's Mennonite Church, Lorraine is president of the youth group and teaches Sunday school. She is a volunteer at Ephrata Friendship Community, where she helps with the mentally handicapped game night. She works part time for Hurst's Produce and Weaver's Candy Outlet.

Lorraine also received an academic scholarship from Messiah College and one from the Lancaster County Home Economics Association.

Timothy Zuck, son of Charles and Gloria Zuck of Elizabethtown, will study culinary arts at Johnson and Wales. At Elizabethtown High School, Tim played varsity football and soccer. He was on the wrestling team, parliamentarian of the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA), president of Varsity Club, and member of the National Honor Society. Tim is also active in the Lebanon Bible Fellowship youth group.

Tim said his interest in culinary arts sprouted when his mother started working outside the home and he needed to make supper. He likes trying different "stuff" and eating it too. Tim thinks it would be great to be executive chef in a restaurant like Hotel Hershey.

Tim also received an academic scholarship from Johnson and Wales and one from FBLA.

Milking Shorthorn Convention Set For Ohio

DELAWARE, Ohio — For the first time ever, Ohio Milking Shorthonr breeders will host the American Milking Shorthorn Society (AMSS) annual convention, set for June 17 through June 19, in Delaware.

Dairy producers and industry representatives from across the country are expected to attend the three-day convention scheduled to be held in the Delaware Hotel.

A tour featuring an outstanding breeder's herd and an artificial insemination facility will kick off the convention activities on June 17.

The tour is to leave the hotel 8:30 a.m. June 17 to tour the Select Sires Inc. and Select Embryo facility in Plain City. Tour participants are to visit the cooperative's headquarters, see in-clinic facilities, its elite resident donor dams, and hear about the entire scope of the largest AI cooperative in the nation.

After the tour of the AI facility, an Amish-style lunch is to be served at a restaraunt.

Following lunch, the tour is to visit the farm of Mike and Polly Ullom, loacted near Croton, in Licking County.

The Ulloms were the winners of the 1991 AMSS Harry Clampitt Young Breeder Award. They farm 500 acres, raising corn, wheat, soybeans and alfalfa. The couple milks 45 cows, half registered Milking Shorthorns, the rest a mixture of registered Ayrshires, Jerserys and grade Guernseys.

The convention continues Thursday evening with an informal hog roast at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Starting 7 a.m. Friday is a breakfast buffet, followed at 8:30 a.m. with an awards program.

The American Milking Shorthorn Society will present the 8th Annual Harry Clampitt Young Breeder Award to a breeder aged 21 to 40, based on participation in the breed and related dairy industry activities.

In addition, the society also will salute Jesse Arthur, a pioneer Illawarra cattle breeder, by presenting a memorial trophy on his behalf to a society members with the three highest producing Illawarra-influenced cows on test for milk and butterfat.

The Illawarra cattle is an Australian Shorthorn-linked breed first registered in the Milking Shorthorn herd book in 1899.

Also, awards are to be presented for oustanding individual cow production for milk, fat and protein.

The AMMS annual meeting starts at 10 a.m. Friday. Lewis Arthur, AMSS president, and Betsy Bierdek, operations officer, are to address the membership on the society's programs and policies.

An election is also to be held to determine who is to occupy four seats on the society's board of directors.

Board members whose terms are expiring are Bill Bartlett, of Salisbury, Mass., Bill Jones, of Washington, Iowa, Clark Von Tungeln, of Verden, Okla., and Art Woodward, of Rio, Wis. All four are eligible for re-election.

The meeting is to continue through Friday afternoon.

Scheduled for Friday night is a banquet featuring speaker Ed Johnson, found of Agri Communicators and president and farm director of ABN Radio and Television.

Johnson has received a number of state and national honors from various agriculturally related organizations. He has also been included in the Ohio 4-H Hall of Fame and the Ohio State Fair Hall of Fame.

A graduate of Ohio State University, studying agricultural economics and education, he currently serves on the university's alumni board of directors and is president of the Ohio 4-H Foundation Board.

At the banquet, the recipients of the John O. Rowe Citizen Award, the national achievement winner and the national shorthorn queen are to be announced.

After the banquet, a dance is scheduled.

On the final day of the convention, a junior heifer show for junior members is scheduled for the Delaware County Fairgrounds. The champion winner is to receive a $200 prize and $100 goes to the reserve champion.

A convention sale is also scheduled, starting at noon at the fairgrounds.

Junior members also have a full slate during the convention with a national youth contest, production award presentations program, the queen contest, a pool party and dairy show.

For more information on hotel accommodations, call the Delaware Hotel at 1-800-837-1262, or (614) 363-1262.

Room reservations can be made directly. Members should mention the convention when making reservations.

For more information, including details of the sale catalog and meal reservations, write to the Ohio Milking Shorthorn Society, in care of Karen S. Body, secretary-treasurer, 7276 Hightop Rd., Hillsboro, Ohio 45133, or call during the evening (513) 987-9745.

For those using air transportation, a free shuttle to the hotel is available from Columbus International Airport. Free transportation to and from the fairgrounds is to be provided by the hotel.

House Salutes Big Mac Inventor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania House of Representatives recently recognized the inventor of the McDonald's Big Mac on the 25th anniversary of the super hamburger sandwich.

In a resolution adopted recently, the House congratulated Jim Delligatti, of Fox Chapel, Pennsylvania, for inventing the sandwich during the summer of 1967. The official 25th anniversary of the Big Mac was May 4, with more than 14 billion having been sold.

In the resolution, it states, "... therefore, be it resolved that the House of Representatives congratulate Jim Delligatti for inventing the Big Mac, an American sandwich classic; and be it further resolved that the House ... rejoice in the oustanding culinary and marketing accomplishment of a citizen of this commonwealth ..."

Many ex-dairy cows have been used to make those billions of hamburger sandwiches.

Financial Analysis From A Lender's Perspective

Editor's Note: This is the sixth of a seven part series to explain how Farm Credit analyzes farm and ranch businesses. A different aspect of financial analysis is addressed in each issue.

Net earnings — the barometer for your future

Consider the farmer who is trying to answer the simple question — how did I do last year? His cash flow statement shows a $42,000 shortfall while his earnings statement shows net earnings of $17,000. Which one is right? The answer — they both are correct.

Knowing cash flow isn't enough

While cash flow analysis shows if there is enough cash to pay bills in a given period, the key to knowing the true profitability of a business is to analyze its net earnings on an accrual basis. That means taking numbers from cash income and expense records and adjusting them for changes reflected on balance sheets from year to year.

Determining if an operation is profitable requires the farmer to compare the cost of production with the value of crops — regardless of when he paid the bills associated with the crop or when the crop is sold.

For example, a farmer might prepay fertilizer costs — an expense that will be used to generate income next year but shows up on the cash flow statement this year. Or a farmer may choose to hold crops produced in one year and sell them in the next.

How to determine net earnings

Start with your actual cash flow which shows the cash income you received and expenses paid during a certain period of time. Adjusting cash income begins with recognizing income generated but not yet received. For example, if the inventory of crops or livestock you plan to market is greater than it was last year at the same time, that increase is income your farm generated even though it has not been sold. Income generated in prior years, but sold in the period analyzed, must also be adjusted.

Cash expenses should be adjusted to consider supplies such as fertilizer or feed that you have purchased but will not use until next year. In other words, if an expense was incurred for something that was not produced during the period of time you are measuring profitability, it is not counted as an expense for that period.

Numbers tell the story

CASH FLOW Cash Accounting		NET EARNINGS Accrual Accounting
Cash income	$40,000	Cash income	$40,000
		Inventory adjustment	49,000
		Accrual Income	89,000
Cash expenses	82,000	Cash expenses	82,000
		Accrual Adjustments
		Unused fertilizer	(15,000)
		Unpaid items	1,000
		Accrual Expenses	68,000
		Depreciation	4,000
		Total expenses	72,000
Net cash income	$(42,000)	Net accrual income	$17,000

Interpreting the results

Once net earnings have been determined, the next step is to look at how those earnings are used, which usually falls into three categories: family living expenses, reduction of term debt, or changes in the net worth or equity in the farm or ranch operation.

Analyzing net earnings is important in evaluating your financial progress. When net earnings are positive, you should be building equity. Increased equity can reduce your need to borrow, provide a cushion for adversity or provide a financial base for expansion. ◆

Next week we will look at off-farm income.

FFA'ers Learn

Included at the conference were workshops on the legislative process, college preparation, ag literacy, supervised ag experience/new project ideas, fundraising ideas, and others.

On Thursday, Kleiboeker visited many county FFA chapters to speak to members about their roles as FFA officers.

Use Vaccinations For What They Are

ELKTON, Md. — Vaccinating livestock is an inexpensive way to assure healthy, productive animals on your farm. Always work with your veterinarian in designing a vaccination schedule because each farm is unique and a "typical" recommendation won't be the best recommendation.

How do vaccines work? A true vaccine takes advantage of the animals own immune system and stimulates it to produce antibodies towards the disease. You give an injection of the disease-causing bacteria or virus into the healthy animal and they react.

In a day or two your livestock may seem sickly (fever, droppy head, tired, no appetite, etc.) due to the vaccination. This is normal as long as the animal doesn't become extremely ill. Their bodies are fighting off the disease and, in the process, producing antibodies which will prevent serious outbreaks when they are exposed to higher, more dangerous levels of the disease.

Immunity doesn't last forever. Newborn animals which receive adequate colostrum from their mother's first milk will receive antibodies in a "passive" form. This passive immunity will work for about 6 months and then the level drops off.

Now the young animal has to produce it's own antibodies; this is known as "active immunity." Remember, though, the animal will fight off only the diseases it is exposed to.

Now you can see the potential for problems when moving animals from farm to farm, show to show, because they will suddenly be exposed to a wide variety of diseases all at once. Properly vaccinated animals will carry resistance to many common diseases.

Why give booster shots? Here again, the immunity doesn't last forever and multiple exposure to a disease causes the animal to create more antibodies and have greater resistance. (Figure 1)

Vaccines come in different forms. A live vaccine (LV) is simply the "bug" in its normal form. A modified live vaccine (MLV) is a slightly changed organism. The bacteria/virus may have been heated, cooled down or treated in some way that it is no longer so dangerous.

A MLV vaccine will still cause a reaction and the animal will produce antibodies. A killed vaccine (KV) is the safest form to work with, but it might not cause the greatest reaction and less antibodies will be made.

These different forms have different advantages. Pregnant animals could abort if given a LV or MLV, so they must be given a KV of certain diseases. Read the label to be sure the vaccine is safe for that animal.

One other factor to remember — young animals with passive immunity will NOT react to vaccinations well.

If you try injections at an early age, the antibodies present from the mother's colostrum will fight off the disease and no new antibodies will be produced. You just wasted your time and money.

Also, remember that animals given the LV can "shed" the disease. If you treated certain animals and they come in contact with bred animals, the pregnant animals could pick up the disease and abort. Be careful!

Vaccinations are part of the proper management of your livestock, but vaccinations are not perfect.

New Jersey FFA Convention Next Week

TRENTON, N.J. — More than 250 FFA members are expected in New Brunswick for the annual NJ FFA Convention which will be held at Cook College, Rutgers.

During the three (3) day convention, FFA members and delegates from across the state will gather to conduct business and honor fellow members for their outstanding achievements.

This year's convention to be held May 24-26, will feature Todd Hingson, Vice President of Live Oak, Florida as a keynote speaker. Other guest speakers include Mr. John Rodgers, Honorable Arthur R. Brown, Secretary of Agriculture, Dean Daryl Lund, Executive Dean, Cook College, and Dr. Thomas A. Henry, Director, Office of Adult and Occupational Education.

According to Nancy Trivette, state FFA advisor, awards in agriscience, agricultural proficiency and other areas will be presented to outstanding members, and top chapters will receive Safety, Superior Chapter and Building Our American Communities awards. New Jersey FFA Degrees will be conferred upon 23 members who, as a result of their agricultural and leadership achievements, have qualified for the highest FFA degree a state can bestow upon its members.

In addition to student recognition, several adults and groups are to be cited for outstanding service to the FFA. Honorary State FFA Degrees will be presented to eight (8) individuals. Distinguished Service Awards will be given to two (2) businesses for their support of the NJ FFA Association.

The NJ state FFA officers will preside over the convention. They are: Travis Eachus, President, Elmer, NJ, Tiffany Roberson, Vice President, Columbus, NJ, Theresa Cooper, Secretary, Lambertville, NJ, Allison Cottrell, Sentinel, Cream Ridge, NJ, Dean Pearce, Reporter, East Brunswick, Nicole Write, Treasurer, New Egypt, NJ, and Jay Tilton, Parliamentarian, Marlboro, NJ.

Fifty official delegates from each of the 36 number chapters in the state will represent the membership in voting on business. According to Travis Eachus, State President, the key issues for 1993 will be constitutional changes, contest revision and development and chartering a new chapter.

National FFA Vice President, Todd Hingson will address the convention Monday, May 24th at 8:00 p.m. The major emphasis of his speech will be strengthening agricultural education programs and increasing participation in FFA activities on all levels.

Hingson's was elected at the 65th National Convention in Kansas City, MO. last November. (See attached biography for additional information).

12 To Compete For Young Cooperator Title

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — If you are currently grazing, considering grazing, or just curious about grazing, then this series of Pasture Walks is for you.

Not only will you get to see farms using pasture systems, but you will also be able to ask questions and network with other interested farmers.

The following three farms have agreed to host pasture walks the last Thursday of the month, 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., May through October. For more information about the tours and directions to the farms, contact Tim Fritz at (215) 489-4315.

• May 27, Brian and Brenda Moyer, Montgomery County. Starting third year of pasture system, 36 cows and 15 heifers with 65 acres available to graze, water available in each paddock. Crops grazed: cool season grass/clover mixes, sorghum-sundangrass and brassicas. Total mixed ration, moderate milk production.

• June 24, Jessie Howe, Bucks County. Starting third year of grazing, 20 cows to be increased to 35 with 23 acres available to graze. Water available in each paddock, cool season grass legume pastures, started seasonal dairying this year. Only equipment: one tractor, rotary mower, and manure spreader. Moderate milk production.

• July 29, Forrest Stricker Farm, Berks County. First year of grazing, total of 99 head grazing 50 permanent pasture acres with more land available for temporary grazing. Two alleys and water available to all pastures. Cool season grass/legume pastures and alfalfa grazed. High milk production.

Poultry Producers Included For Tax Break

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Revenue has clarified the state sales tax exemption so that farmers who construct manure holding facilities beneath high-rise poultry houses do not have to pay sales tax on that portion of their new building, according to Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff.

Wolff, who had asked for a clarification, commended officials at the state Department of Revenue for their decision which will benefit poultry producers.

"In the past, manure facilities in the basements of hog feeder operations qualified for the exemption while similar units under poultry houses did not qualify," Wolff said.

"These manure facilities can accurately be called "manure tanks" and as such they are equipment directly used in the operation of a farm."

The Tax Reform Code of 1971 exempts from sales tax any purchase of machinery, equipment and supplies used by the purchaser directly in the operation of farming.

The Department of Revenue has determined that a manure holding tank qualifies as directly used equipment. That is true even though the "tank" may be a concrete structure either below ground or at ground level.

Farmers who have questions concerning the sales tax should consult the Pennsylvania Sales and Use Tax Regulation 226 or they should contact the Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division (717) 783-9360.

Texas Study Shows AI Heifers Perform Better

CHRIS WOELFEL
Dairy Specialist
Texas Extension Service

COLLEGE STATION, Texas — How many times have you heard the statement, "I can buy better heifers than I can raise," or, "I don't see any difference between AI sired heifers nand heifers I can buy through a dealer or auction barn with no information"?

This may be true, but it's not because all heifers are of equal genetic merit when it comes to production. This has been illustrated a number of times in popular publications where the difference between the average AI sire and natural service sire is approximately 150 PTA$, which translates into an added $150 per year income from AI sired heifers.

Using top AI sires with PTA$ exceeding 200 will add another 25- to 30-percent added income.

A Texas study illustrates the point extremely well with a striking difference in added income.

A Texas study illustates the point extremely well with a striking difference in added income from AI versus commercial heifers.

The study was conducted on the Holtex herd in Lancaster, Texas, following the dispersal sale in 1980, with results reported in 1983.

Home-raised, purchased registered, and purchased commercial heifers were fed a totally mixed ration (TMR) and were kept under the same housing, feeding and management system.

The home raised heifers were all bred at Holtex Farm. The purchased registered were purchased after the dispersal sale from throughout the East and Mid West, and the non-registered or commercial heifers were well-grown heifers with no pedigree information.

As shown in Table 1, the home-raised heifers out-produced the purchased registered heifers by 1,656 pounds of milk. The home-raised heifers also out-produced the commercial heifers by 4,026 pounds of milk.

It is important to note the home-raised heifers represented some of the top genetics in the country at that time and that the difference was real.

If genetic progress is taken into consideration over the past 10 years, you can add at least 1,000 to 1,500 pounds to the average production reported in this study.

There is no question that the average genetic makeup of commercial heifers has improved over the past 10 to 20 years. However, the fact remains that genetics do contribute substantially to the level of milk production.

All heifers are not created equal and certainly heifers from top AI sires are superior. Is the difference real? You bet cha'.

MILK CHECK

THOMAS JURCHAK
Dairy Specialist
Lackawanna County

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — The sudden rise in cheese prices last month is coming closer to home as it begins to show up in milk checks for April.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series jumped $1.13 in April following a 28-cent rise in March for a total of $1.41 in two months.

Since the M-W price is the Basic Formula Price for milk pricing in all federal orders, the increases are showing up already in the class prices that regulated handlers pay and, in turn, the uniform or blend prices to the producers.

The Class III price increases first and that is up $1.32 in Orders 2 and 4, and up $1.41 in Order 36, reflecting the change in the M-W price, so far.

Factored in the Class II price however, are the increases in cheese prices last month, so you will see big differences for milk going into soft dairy products.

From $10.78 in March, the Class II price jumps $2.15 to $12.93 in May and another 85 cents to $13.78 in June for a total of $3 worth of increases in three months.

Class II utilization is increasing now with warmer weather and more ice cream is being consumed, so a $3 increase in the Class II price will be significant in your milk check.

Class I prices bottomed out in April, but will increase 28 cents in May and $1.13 in June, again reflecting the increases in the M-W price.

Your milk check for April won't show increases that high yet, but it will be better by up to 42 cents a hundred weight, depending on which federal order is regulating your handler.

These increases in Class prices are indications of things to come in the next two months that will give you a farm price this summer higher than last year.

Peaked Out

Cheese prices increased another cent last month to $1.39 for blocks, matching the high price of last August.

That was four weeks ago however, and the price hasn't changed since then, so I gues it's safe to say it peaked.

The question is, what next?

It was a meteoric rise of 23 cents in seven weeks and if it stays there you can count on an average milk price higher than last year, but it may not hold all summer.

If cheese handlers were concerned about the milk supply and replaced their inventory stocks this spring, they will now be buying only what they need.

The export market for powder that helped to run up the cheese price has nearly disappeared.

The Dairy Export Incentive Program has contracted for no additional sales this month and powder prices are about like cheese prices — good, but not showing any movement.

Get It Now

Right now you can expect another good increase in the M-W price for May which will get you higher prices at the farm at least through July. What happens after that is the problem.

Will higher milk prices and new forage feed bring more milk to the market or will the attrition in cow numbers check the supply?

There's not much hope for improvement on the demand side with schools closing for the summer, unless exports can be stimulated through the incentive program or other efforts.

You're looking at market-driven prices so far above the support price that supports have little effect. You're seeing the volatility of free market prices that function for nearly all other farm products that other producers must cope with routinely.

Their strategy is to hang on to as much of their income as they can when prices are up because they probably won't stay there. I hope dairy product prices don't fall this summer but it's a gamble you may not want to take.

What Can Herd SCC Trends Tell You?

Many producers know what their herd average SCC levels have been because it is reported to them by their milk plant and they read it on their monthly DHIA reports. It affects their eligibility for milk quality premium payments, it is an indication of the herd's general udder health status, it indicates how much production they may have lost as a result of damage done to udder tissue.

Better indicators of the herd's udder health status, infection patterns and the effectiveness of mastitis prevention and control measures are the herd's SCC trends - lactation trends and seasonal trends. These can be found on Penna. DHIA's SCC Management Report and Herd Summary Report II, and on Raleigh's DHIA Herd Summary Report. They are also illustrated in Tables 1 and 2.

Table 1. Lactation Trends

STAGE OF LACTATION PROFILE		STAGE OF LACTATION (DAYS)
		1-40	41-100	101-199	200-305	306 +
NUMBER	1ST LACT	2	4	4	4	3
	2ND & LATER	4	7	8	8	4
% OF MILKING HERD	1ST LACT	4	8	8	8	6
	2ND & LATER	8	14	16	16	8
AV. DAILY MILK PRODUCTION	1ST LACT.	54	59	56	47	40
	2ND & LATER	75	76	66	49	37
AV SCC SCORE	1ST LACT.	3.2	2.1	2.2	1.2	2.9
	2ND & LATER	3.6	3.5	4.3	3.6	4.4

Table 1 shows SCC trends by stage of lactation and by lactation number. In this example, 1st lactation heifers, as well as the older cows, have scores in excess of 3.0 within 40 days of calving. These averages, apply only to the 2 heifers and to the 4 older cows that were less than 41 days in milk as of the last test day. Similarly, the 41-100 day average applies only to the 4 heifers and 7 older cows that were in that stage of lactation as of the last test day.

Why might the heifers and cows in this herd have elevated cell counts within 40 days of calving? A number of things could be responsible, some of which are:

1. Heifers being sucked.
2. Heifers becoming infected during their rearing period, perhaps because of unsanitary conditions, flies feeding on their teat ends, etc.
3. The producers could have purchased infected replacements.
4. Unsanitary maternity area.
5. Weakened immune system caused by inadequate nutrition, calving-related stresses, other infections, etc.
6. Ineffective dry treatment, or no dry treatment.

The cell counts of other heifers later in lactation are lower. This could indicate that:

1. Measures taken to control or reduce early lactation infections were successful.
2. Problem heifers were quickly culled.
3. Heifers later in lactation were not exposed to the same high-risk situations as those which calved more recently.
4. The low counts in heifers throughout the latter stages of lactation indicate that good milking procedures must have been followed to prevent spread of infections from older cows to the newer replacements.
5. In our example, some heifers could have gotten infected late in lactation.

As cows approach the end of their normal lactation and as they extend over into a longer lactation cell counts normally increase, not necessarily due to infection but due to normal sluffing off of cells in the udder. In late lactation there is less milk to dilute the cells, so the counts in milk are generally higher

Older cows generally have higher counts than younger heifers. Don't accept this as being normal. It isn't! Strive to maintain low counts in older cows as well. The reason older cows have higher counts is they have been exposed to more opportunities for infection, and we haven't been completely successful in preventing and controlling their infections

In our example herd, the older cows also came fresh with elevated counts and the counts remained rather high throughout lactation. Why?

1. Did the cows get infected in their previous lactation, soon after being dried off, or at calving time?
2. Were the cows dry-treated? Was it successful?
3. Was there any attempt to cure infections during lactation?
4. Are there a few older, chronically-infected cows that are keeping the count elevated month after month?

AVERAGES	30	126	165	66.8	63	78	12	6	3	1	2.3

Looking at Table 2, we observe that the average count did not change much from month to month, but we can spot some months when more than 10% of the herd fell in the code 5-9 range. The months were July 1989 (the month dropped), September, November, March, April, May and July. What happens in these high months, and in the days preceding that preceded them, to cause an increase in the number of cows severely infected? Was it due to —

1. Hot, mucky days and sloppy conditions?
2. Cows having access to stagnant water and swampy areas?
3. Illnesses or conditions that jeopardized the cows' immune systems?
4. Changes in milking techniques or milkers (people or machines)?
5. Failure to maintain the milking system, change inflations, clean the regulator filters, repair faulty pulsators, etc.?
6. Malfunctioning milking equipment?
7. The purchase of some infected replacements?

We've just raised some questions about the high months. Now let's focus on the low months, and ask what caused a drop in severe infections in these months?

1. Did you reduce the severity of infections with effective treatments?
2. Did you identify and correct the cause of the problem? Or, did you just treat the symptom?
3. Did you cull the problem cows (symptoms)? And, if there was no attempt to correct the cause of the problem, do other cows continue to get severely infected within a few months?

As I have illustrated, these trends can reveal a lot about infection patterns and herd management practices. But, we have to take the time to see the patterns and trends that make up the herd's average SCC, and we have to dare to ask ourselves some probing questions as to why these patterns and trends exist.

While most lenders have barely scratched the surface in agriculture, we've gone a bit further.

Fact is, you can explain your needs to some bankers until you're blue in the face and chances are they still won't understand. Farm Credit loan officers, on the other hand, have been through the most comprehensive ag lending training program in the nation. And many have farm backgrounds themselves.

They can approve loans for just about any farm need from land to equipment. And since a committee isn't necessary for most decisions, loan approval is easy and fast.

Stop by and talk with your Farm Credit loan officer.

industry — a lack of trust between the two forces that each will be responsible to the other in carrying out its responsibilities.

The Nutrient Management Act (reproduced in its entirety in the May 8 issue of Lancaster Farming) sets into place a regulatory system for the application of nutrients which result in non-point pollution. The act is not a final document and eventually is to expand beyond the scope of manure applications into residential sources of non-point nutrient contamination of water.

The actual regulatory limits are to be created and constantly reviewed by the State Conservation Commission, which is an existing agency independent of, but financed by the state Department of Environmental Resources and chaired by the secretary of DER.

The Nutrient Management Act mandates nutrient management plans for livestock producers who raise more than a certain number of animals per acre. It is voluntary for others and offers the benefit of some protection from prosecution under the state's Clean Streams Act. The law also nullifies local ordinances concerning nutrient management.

The specifics of the act, other than outlining what is to be done, are to be worked out by the Conservation Commission and a 15-member Nutrient Management Advisory Board, which is to review and comment on proposed regulations.

By design, the board is to be seated by a majority representation of those with agricultural interests. The board was added to the act as a compromise by environmentalists over the fact that DER has been mistrusted by agriculture.

The other law Casey signed establishes a permanent agency within DER which is to serve basically as a watchdog group on behalf of agricultural interests.

The creation of a 22-member DER Ag Advisory Board was done to secure a review by agriculture of all regulations considered by DER which may affect agriculture.

The board was seen as being needed in order to provide DER with better insight into the consequences and full impact of its regulations to the state's agricultural industry.

While the authority of the board appears limited in the proposal, the influence of the board is expected to be considerable.

In proposing legislation for the creation of a 22-member DER Agricultural Adivsory Board, the state General Assembly had stated the importance of agriculture to the Pennsylvania economy and to its environment.

The proposed law — introduced by Sen. Patrick Stapleton, D-Indianna, Sen. Robert Mellow, D-Peckville, and Sen. William Stewart, D-Johnstown — states, "The family farmers of this Commonwealth (sic) have a deep and rich history of responsible land stewardship. This Commonwealth's first environmentalists were farmers. State agencies must be more mindful of the impact that certain policies, rules and regulations impose upon the family farmers of this Commonwealth."

The board is to be comprised of one representative each from the the Pennsylvania State Grange, the Pennsylvania Farmers Association (Farm Bureau), and the Pennsylvania Farmers Union; a dairy producers, a livestock producer, a poultry producers, a grain producer, a fruit producer, a vegetable producer, a representative of the ornamental horticulture industry, a producer using sustainable agriculture, a representative of the agricultural industry; a representative from the state Association of Conservation District Directors, one from Penn State University; one each from the USDA Soil Conservation Service and the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; one each from the state Department of Agriculture and DER; and the majority and minority chairmen of the Senate and House Agricultural and Rural Affairs committees.

Under the proposal, DER would be required to notify the board of the "development of any regulatory proposal which would regulate agriculture as early as possible, but not less than 120 days prior to the date the Environmental Quality Board meets to initially consider any proposed rule making ..."

Further, the proposal grants that the board can request (within 30 days of being notified by DER that it is considering regulations affecting agriculture) a meeting with DER to discuss the forming of regulations and then the board may then submit written comments; and those comments are to be included in any proposal package DER sends to the Environmental Quality Board.

The chairman of the board is to rotate among all members, unlike the chair position within the State Conservation Commission.

Steam Engine goes round-n-round in and out of the Round House Station

Delweaco #8104 Action TRAIN Alarm Clock!

If you remember the old steam engine going down the track with the 'drivers' chugging away, the whistle screaming, and the bell 'ding-dong' ing, you will be amazed at this latest edition to our DELWEACO line of mantle, alarm, and novelty clocks ! When this alarm goes off, the miniature steam engine goes round and round, in and out of the round house; the whistle blows (VERY realistic!), the red and green lights blink on and off on each side of the station; and the bell clangs and clangs, the drivers chug-chug! Sounds exactly like the old steam engines used to! You will be very impressed with the sound of this toy train! YOU MUST SEE AND HEAR THIS ONE!! NOTE: This is NOT A TOY although my grandchildren love to watch the train go round and round and listen to the bell, the whistle, and the rumble of the drivers! I promise you it will wake you in the morning Very loud. Do not use as an alarm if you scare out of sleep etc., as we said before, it is LOUD! The clock movement is our quartz movement, accuracy to + or - 3 minutes a year. Uses 3 'AA' Alkaline batteries (not included.) Silver and black finish case id 8" tall and 7" circumference Dial is 2 1/4" round with black numbers and hands Our ONE YEAR GUARANTEE!. Suggested Retail: $49.95.

Farm Is Site Of Neff Family Homecoming

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

WASHINGTON BORO (Lancaster Co.) — It's always good to come home. And, that's exactly what many Neffs will be doing when they visit Dean and Doris Neff at their Washington Boro farm on June 25.

The Neffs are hosting a "picnic down on the farm" during the four-day Neff reunion, scheduled from June 23 to 26.

Neffs from across the U.S. and even from Switzerland and Germany plan to attend.

According to research, the first Neff emigrants to arrive in America settled in Lancaster County about 1717. After that, there was a constant trek of more Neffs who fled religious persecution in Switzerland and Germany and sought religious freedom and economic opportunity in the New World.

Now, an estimated 7,500 persons scattered across the U.S. carry the Neff name.

According to cousins Cyrus and Paul Neff, who are instrumental in planning the Neff Reunion, there's a swelling interest in finding geneological roots.

"It seems like everyone is digging up their roots. I'm not sure why so many people are becoming interested," Paul said, "perhaps it's because they see their heritage disappearing or maybe it's just because they enjoy history."

Whatever the reason, the Neff cousins find geneological research fascinating.

"My only complaint is that my interest started too late in life," Cyrus said. "By the time I started researching, the old ones were gone and I was one of the old ones."

These cousins and other Neffs are keeping records for future generations. "Neff News," is published four times a year and sent to subscribers. The publication includes brief historic accounts of Neffs and seeks to preserve their Swiss ancestry and family heritage. William Neff, who is also organizing the reunion, authored a book on the Neff-Naf Family history.

According to European researchers, the surname Neff is a shortened version of nephew. Many unrelated families referred to their nephews in this manner before surnames were established. This complicates tracking down ancestors, but genealogists were able to establish that three unrelated branches of Neffs settled in the New World. All three of these branches are invited to the reunion and separate tours are planned relating to each of these branches, referred to as "A," "B," and "C" lines. The one branch settled in Manor Township, another in the Strasburg area, and another in Huntingdon County.

Cyrus, called the historian by the Neffs, delights in traveling on Weaver Road in Central Manor township, which he refers to as Neff territory. He knows the names of the original Neffs who settled on the land, and how the land was passed down through the generations or sold to other families. Cyrus will be the tour guide for what is referred to as the "B" line Neff families who settled in Manor Township.

The Neff farm, where the picnic will be held, was once part of a larger parcel of land owned by the Neffs. It was divided in 1880 into separate homesteads for two brothers. Later, the farm with the original farmhouse was sold outside of the family, but it will be one of the stopping places for the tour.

The 13-room farmhouse, where the picnic will be held, is surrounded by pungent pines.

"I remember planting two of those pine trees," said Paul. The trees now tower above the three-story house.

Doris has dozens of geraniums to plant in the window boxes, which Paul had built for the farmhouse after a visit to Europe where windowboxes are prolific.

The older Neffs pointed out that the house was built before footers were poured. The rock foundation has remained firm. "The walls are straight — not a crack in them," Paul said of the three-brick-wide walls.

The farmhouse holds many memories for the Neffs. "I was born in the living room and lived there 60 years," said David, father of Dean.

"I guess I was born in one of those rooms too, though I don't remember which one," Paul said. He does remember playing in the hay and falling through the hayloft. It took doctors nine months to diagnose a cracked hip that stopped leg growth and caused Paul to have a hip replacement in recent years.

Cyrus, Paul and Dave spoke of the times they carried eggs and milk up and down the basement stairs.

"One step is higher than the rest," Paul said.

"It still is," Dean said.

The basement has an arch and the attic a smoke room to hang hams, a feature characteristic of that era.

The inside doors and woodwork still have the original comb-painted finish.

Changes have been made. The front yard was at one time an orchard surrounded by a white picket fence. Now thick green grass grows among the pines. Grandfather Harry Neff truck farmed produce, which he peddled in town. Dean's parents raised poultry, but Dean turned the chicken houses into a pig nursery to operate a farrow through feeder pig operation. Dean also grows 15 acres of fall ornamentals (mini pumpkins, gourds, and Indian corn). The original barn, in excellent condition, is now used to dip wash and shellack the ornamentals.

Dean said that he got the idea to raise fall ornamentals from an Indiana farmer about eight years ago. Since then, other farmers have followed his lead and Dean said that it is a cut-throat business. Dean crop farms the additional acreage.

An old-fashioned pig roast will held on the Neff farm during the picnic. Rain or shine, the Neffs are prepared.

"We built a dining hall that seats 200," Dean joked.

The "dining hall" in reality is a newly erected implement shed that will serve double duty for seating the crowd.

A hay ride or something memorable for the kids will be held, Dean promises.

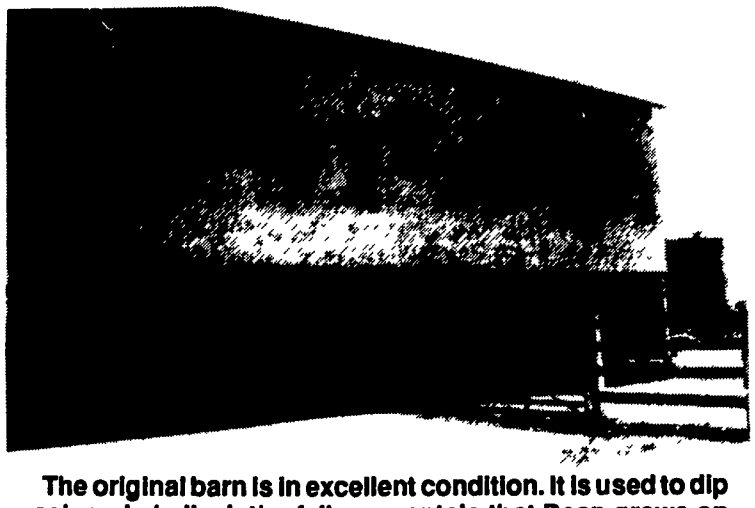
In addition to the farm cook-out and tours, plans for the three-day event include genealogical sessions at the Lancaster Historical Society, tours of the Amish country and Hershey, a banquet, and a Neff quilted wall hanging auction.

The reunion committee has reserved Days Inn for overnight accommodations.

"We aren't sure how many people are coming but we anticipate several hundred," Paul said.

It is known that families from across the U.S. and even some from Europe will attend the reunion.

Reservations for the Neff Reunion should by made by contacting Bob Neff Tours (717) 397-000.



The original barn is in excellent condition. It is used to dip wash and shellack the fall ornmentals that Dean grows on 15 acres of the land.

Homestead Notes

Penn State To Help You Sell Food For Profit

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — According to the USDA's 1992 Yearbook of Agriculture, over half of all new packaged consumer products introduced each year are foods and beverages. Moving from the design board, to small consumer "focus groups," on the way to grocery shelves, there are often far more casualties than there are successes. Between March 1989 and March 1990 alone, 197 new candy products, 170 tomato and other sauces, and 55 cheeses were introduced to the marketplace!

You may be wondering, is there room on those shelves for "Aunt Sue's Black Raspberry Jam?" on June 1 and 8, Penn State Cooperative Extension will be offering you a way to discover the answer at their Food for Profit workshop. This two-evening short course offers an overview of how to start a food product business, covering health regulations, sanitary food preparation methods, marketing, packaging, pricing, record keeping and business planning basics. The sessions will be held at the Lancaster Farm & Home Center, Arcadia Road, Lancaster, from 7 to 10 p.m.; a registration fee of $20 covers all materials and breaks.

Advance registration (prior to May 28th) is required; for more information, contact Winifred McGee at the Lebanon County Extension Office, (717) 270-4391.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

An unusual addition to one of the front porch flower boxes is visual evidence of a rash of activity overrunning the farmstead.

This nest, tucked between two calendula plants, is neatly woven of straw and grasses, the outside carefully plastered together with mud. Its circular near-perfection and tightness of weave suggests that these were not novice nest-builders. And the clutch of four aqua-blue eggs inside identifies the nest owners as robins.

But the porch box is not where this particular mother robin chose to craft her fine piece of construction. While she may be a master builder, her site selection left a lot to be desired. Her house, built on the alternator of a tractor motor, would certainly have proved hazardous to her baby birds — to say nothing of the tractor motor — when the engine heated and the nest went into flames.

My message to the probably-irate robin, could we communicate, is simply the same unappreciated one often laid on the kids in earlier years: "This is for your own good."

Faring better in this springtime hatching season was an egg of a different sort. In fact, when I first saw the egg's "contents," it already had perky tailfeathers about two inches long on a body far too small to be emitting the shrill, loud peeps coming out of its tiny beak.

The season's lone chick is tough as nails. Watching over it are its buff-beige, semi-tame, half-bantam mother and the beautiful, scrappy small rooster that adopted us a couple of years ago, besting roosters twice his size for the little hen's affection.

First time I spotted this chick, it was attempting to join mama on the evening roost, some six-feet above the heifer pen floor on a two-by-four. When it finally got there, the little wren-sized chick wiggled between her feet, perched there way up on the top edge of the hay trough, the pair settled down for the night.

Seems there would have been much softer, more comfortable places for a hen and chick to spend the night, like up in the haymow. Of course, the barn cats favor such cushy spots as well. So, perhaps she told the chick, as they hunkered down on their bed of hard lumber: "This is for your own good."

And still another farmyard mother recently eyeballed her offspring and made a decision that would be "for your own good."

Veteran barn cat and champion rodent eliminator Mama Gray appeared some weeks ago much more slim than she had been the previous day. Knowing that she stashes her offspring in bizarre places around the barn, we all kept watch the next few weeks for Mama Gray's litter.

As usual, she revealed her babies in her own good time. Headed out through the yard for evening milking recently, we met Mama Gray coming toward the house, lugging in her mouth a tigerish-striped kitten so big and pudgy she had to put it down every few steps to rest.

After a quick investigation, The Farmer pointed out her destination. A solar-heat gathering extension, about 18-inches wide, protrudes from the lower part of the greenhouse front. Black-plastic lining enhances the heat absorption. A Virginia creeper vine took root inside last summer and has happily grown there in the solar collector. Until I figure out how to eliminate this tough, pesty weed without tearing out glass, it continues to thrive.

Into this cozy, sheltered "solarium," Mama Gray has moved her four chubby kittens. As they grow, Mama will have captive two-legged babysitters and flowerbed playgrounds for her offspring. In the meantime, the playful kittens are beginning to flatten the unwanted greenery inside the glass.

A pleased-as-punch-with-herself Mama Gray grins at me with those big yellow eyes; I know what she's thinking: "Well, you wanted to be rid of that Virginia creeper."

"This is for your own good."

Host Families Needed

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Barbara Szekely from Hungary and Sascha Hegwein from Germany are two of several students who still need American homes for the 1993-94 school year. They will come to end of August and will leave when school is over in June. They would like to live with a family and attend the high school in the family's school district in order to learn first hand about the life of an American teenager and to share their culture with others. They bring their own insurance and spending money, and the family provides room and board and receives an income tax deduction.

AYUSA International, a non-profit organization, has local counselors who interview the families, provide activities for the students and host families during the year, and try to help the students, families, and schools to enjoy their international experience. Time is running short because many high schools require that exchange students aplications be in by June 1.

Barbara wants to be a journalist and likes swimming, reading, dogs, cats, horseback riding, theater, cooking and traveling. Sascha plays the piano and likes sailing, tennis, computers, basketball, karate and stamp collecting. They both have excellent grades and speak good English. If you would like to help one of these bright young people realize their dream of coming to our country please call Janet Erb at (717) 653-5536.

Changing Society Affects Families

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Each person sees the world in a little different way, Dr. James E. Van Horn, professor of rural sociology at Penn State told those attending the 36th annual Eastern Member Relations Conference.

These changes in perception often arouse conflicts between people. To demonstrate how these perceptions change when viewed from a different angle, Horn told of riding a train with a father and three sons. The boys' extremely disruptive behavior on the train antagonized many of the passengers. In exasperation, Horn told the father that his sons were disruptive and should be reprimanded. The father responded that he did not know what to do.

Horn asked, "What do you mean by saying you don't know what to do?"

The father said that they had just left the hospital where his wife, the boys' mother, had just died. "I guess they don't know what to do either," he said.

Dr. James Van Horn discusses changes in families with Laura England, center, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, and Dr. Cathy Hamlett, assistant professor of ag economics at Penn State.

Horn's perception of the problem was changed by this glimpse into this family's life.

To help solve problems, people need to understand each other. The two-day conference, held May 12 to 14, focused on how membership of cooperatives are changing because of changes in society and the need to strengthen member relationships.

Hallmarks of the '90s are change, work, time, and stress, according to Horn. Recent studies show that the U.S. has a more diverse population represented by many cultures. The way these cultures perceive each other may cause discomfort. The white culture usually views time in a different concept than non-white cultures, and this causes problems in the workplace. In the last decade, population is shifting. Most of the central states have 10 percent less growth while the East and West Coasts have increased 10 percent.

Some of the changes include the following:

- Two-thirds of first marriages will terminate.
- Families have two or fewer children.
- Mother is employed outside the home.
- About 25 percent of children live in single-parent families.
- Multi-generational families are now commonplace. It was unusual to have five generations of the same family living at the same time in former generations.
- Many families are undergoing monumental child care problems.
- Massive change and restructuring in the workplace as businesses try to figure out whose job it is to help families. Single parents have a higher absentee rate. Family problems relate to the economics of a community.

While today's family has changed, Horn stressed that people can not take a nostalgic view.

"I have as much belief in today's family as yesterday's," Horn said. He reminded the audience that the demise of the family was predicted when men left the farm during the Industrial Revolution.

"We cannot see change as all bad," Horn said. He suggests that stress is made easier by doing the following:

- Learn to accept what you cannot change and change what you can.
- Relax creatively. Smell the flowers.
- Get priorities in order.

Seminar For Child Care Providers

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County office of Penn State Cooperative Extension is offering a "Better Kid Care" Seminar for child care providers in Lancaster County to be held on Saturday, June 12 from 8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. at the Farm and Home Center.

Topics include safe food handling, discipline, recognizing and reporting child abuse/neglect, and record-keeping procedures.

Cost of the seminar is $15 and includes lunch. Registered family day care home providers, licensed group day care home providers and group day care home assistants are eligible for full reimbursement of the $15 fee following their attendance at the seminar through the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare, KURC-HBC Directed Training Program. Individuals will have the opportunity to earn .5 Continuing Education Units for their participation.

For more information, contact Debra Naumann or Doris Thomas at the Cooperative Extension office (717) 394-6851.

ADC Meets Farmers' Needs

More Than $129 Million in Extra Payments

"At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, our mission is to maximize returns to members. In the past six years, we returned more than $129 million to members in equity payments, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of $36,600 per member. And these extra dollars are continuing at the rate of $1.7 million a month.

Robert B. McSparran
President

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I am happy to report that we are financially healthy, strong in membership and growing in sales. ADC is the region's largest and most fiscally-sound cooperative, with a guaranteed market and outstanding benefits.

"More dairy farmers joined us last year than at any time in the past decade. If you are not an ADC shipper and are worried about your own milk market, then you should talk to the cooperative that is facing the future with confidence."

CHELATION THERAPY

THIS MAY BE YOUR ANSWER TO: Heart Problems, High Blood Pressure, Poor Circulation, Arthritis, Diabetes, Leg Cramps, Numbness, Tingling, Cold Hands And Feet & Atherosclerosis.

Dear Golden Pride:
I am 70 years old, I have never felt better. Before taking Golden Pride Bee Pollen, Propolis, Formula #1 and 76 Plus, I had problems with nerves, high blood pressure, diabetes, and angina.
I have been on the above mentioned since April, '85. The last visit to my doctor he said; "Jake, you have a clean bill of health. You don't have to come back to see me unless you need to. Right now you are fine."
My weight has come down. I weighed 205 lbs. in March, 1985. I now weigh 184. I cut out all nerve pills, I eat good and sleep good. I love what Golden Pride has done for me.

Sincerely, Jake Tate

Dear Golden Pride:
Before beginning to use Formula #7, Bee III, I conducted tests for my cholesterol level. I tested at 265. After one month's usage of Formula #7, Bee III, I returned to have my cholesterol checked again. It dropped to 195! That's 70 points in 30 days! I made no dietary changes and only added Formula #7, Bee III to my diet. A beneficial side effect was that I lost 10 pounds!

Bob Gilstad

Dear Golden Pride:
For many years I suffered from arthritis, borderline high blood pressure, and leg pain due to poor circulation. After being introduced to Formula #1 by a friend and then attending your meeting in Raleigh, I began on 4 teaspoons/day reducing to 1 teaspoon after that.
After just one week of Formula #1, I no longer had any problems with arthritis. After just 2 weeks, my blood pressure dropped 10 points, both top and bottom readings. My legs don't hurt anymore either. I'M SOLD!

James Ives

Dear Golden Pride:
A lady told me about Green Barley and that it was good for arthritis. I got one bottle... I am now on the second bottle. I discovered I did not need my cane anymore. I had used a cane for 18 months. I had a back operation in June 1990 and a hip replacement in Jan. 91... People asked what I was doing, I told them I was taking Green Barley, they said get me some. I never dreamed I would be selling this product. In 3 months I sold to 103 different people, all because they saw the difference it made for me.

Become A Pro With These Oriental Recipes

If you love to eat oriental foods, but you don't know how to cook them, this week's recipes are for you.

Cheryl Miller of Hallem offers several tips in preparing Chinese food.

She writes: I love to cook and eat Chinese foods. I think I'm addicted to them. I'm not a professional on Chinese cooking but here are some quick tips that I use quite often.

• Buy candied ginger slices instead of the actual ginger root. You can find it in a small bow in the Chinese section of the supermarket. Candied ginger slices last longer than ginger root.

• Put 2 or 3 slices in a baggie and break into small pieces with a hammer or other instrument. You can add this to ½ cup soy sauce and ½ cup water. Mixed with 2 tablespoons cornstarch. If you would like, you can also add ½ teaspoon Chinese five spice to this mixture. This gives a basic sauce to add to all chopped vegetables.

• When stir-frying, take spatula down the side of the pan lifting the vegetables on the bottom up to the top. This allows the vegetables to cook evenly.

• Add sesame oil for flavoring. This gives Chinese food a nutlike flavor. Add sparingly as you would an extract.

With the right recipe, oriental cooking is easy to do.

CHICKEN STIR FRY

1 pound chicken, sliced into bite-sized strips
1 egg white
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soy sauce
Dash white pepper
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
1 teaspoon gingerroot, finely chopped
½ cup chicken broth
1 package Chinese pea pods
1 tablespoon oyster sauce
Vegetable oil

Mix egg white, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, salt, soy sauce, and pepper in bowl. Add chicken and refrigerate for 30 minutes.

Mix 2 tablespoons cornstarch and the cold water.

Heat wok or skillet until hot. Add 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, rotate pan to coat sides and bottom. Stir-fry chicken, garlic, and gingerroot until chicken turns white. Remove from pan.

Heat pan again and add 2 tablespoons oil. Stir fry mushrooms for 1 minute. Stir in chicken and chicken broth; bring to a boil. Add cornstarch mixture. Cook until thickened. Add pea pods and oyster sauce. Cook for 1 minute while stirring.

Serve over hot white rice. Serves 4.

EGG DROP SOUP

2 13¾-ounce cans chicken broth
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 well-beaten egg
2 tablespoons sliced green onion

In saucepan, slowly stir the chicken broth into cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Slowly pour in the well beaten egg, stir once gently. Remove from heat. Garnish with green onion. Makes 4 servings.

BEEF STIR FRY

1 pound sirloin, sliced thin
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon grated ginger, optional
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 large onion, chopped
6 scallions, sliced lengthwise
2 carrots, sliced thin
1 cup celery, sliced
2 cups snow peas
1 sweet red pepper, sliced
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Marinade: combine meat, soy sauce, ginger, and garlic in a bowl. Cover and set in refrigerator for 1 hour.

In wok, heat oil over medium heat. Add onions and scallions, saute until onions are translucent. Remove meat from marinade, reserving marinade. Add carrots, celery, snow peas, red peppers, and marinade to wok. Stir 4 minutes until vegetables are soft. Add mushrooms. Push vegetables up side of wok. Increase heat to medium-high. Add meat and brown. Reduce heat to medium-low and push everything up side of wok. Combine cornstarch mixture to sauce; mix until thickened. Add pepper to taste. Stir until hot. Serve over rice.

Get Acquainted With Oriental Vegetables

BEAN SPROUTS: Raw or cooked, crisp-textured ivory shoots add crunchy goodness to recipes. Select fresh-looking sprouts. Refrigerate and use within a few days. Rinse sprouts and drain well right before use. Bean sprouts provide fiber and vitamin C. A ½ cup serving has 16 calories.

BOK CHOY: With its crisp, crunchy, ivory-white ribs and tender green leaves bok choy offers contrasts in color and texture. The stalks are mild, juicy, with a hint of sweetness. The leaves have a light cabbage flavor. Select bok choy with fresh-looking leaves that are dark green and shiny. Store refrigerated in a plastic bag and use with a few days. a ½ cup serving has 15 calories and is a good source for vitamins A and C.

CHINESE CABBAGE: There are several green varieties often marked as Chinese cabbage. Nappa is cylindrically shaped with smooth white ribs and yellow-white or green crinkled leaves. Celery cabbage is more elongated in shape than nappa and resembles romaine lettuce in appearance. It has long white ribs that are crowned by light green leaves. Either of these varieties is milder in flavor than head cabbage and more tender, crisp and juicy.

CHEESE BROCCOLI: Leafier, lighter green and longer stemmed than the more common variety.

BITTER MELON: Shaped like a cucumber or sometimes pear-shaped, bitter melons have a ridged and pebbled skin. When immature, they're bright green, firm-fleshed and bitter. As they ripen, they become slightly sweet, soft and orange. Best quality melons are green-turning-yellow, yet still firm.

CHINESE LONG BEANS: Slender beans, either light or dark green, range in length from one to three feet. Darker beans are generally better flavored and firmer in texture. Taste is the same as the more familiar green bean.

CHINESE OKRA: Tender amd succulent, resembling the more familiar variety. Slice raw into salads; add to soups or stews; stir-fry; or deep-fry in batter.

CHINESE WATER CHESTNUTS: Prized for their firm white flesh and sweet nutty taste, these crisp-textured tubers are perfect for salads, casseroles, meat, seafood, and stir-fry dishes. Look for fresh looking tubers at least 1½ inches in diameter. Store loosely wrapped in a plastic bag; use promply. Peel just before using. They can be eaten raw or cooked. Chestnuts retain their crispness after cooking.

DAIKON: An oriental radish shaped like a crrot and generally white, although varieties may differ in color. Its tastes similar to other radishes, with a sharper, nippier taste. Select firm, smooth roots. The larger sizes may be pitty. Oriental radishes should be used promptly for best flavor and texture. Scrub skin or scrape skin with a swivel peeler.

GINGER ROOT: Golden brown knobby tubers that may be grated, sliced or shredded and used for flavoring meat, vegetables, and desserts.

JAPANESE EGGPLANT: A slender, smaller sweeter variety than the American one. Can be baked, stir-fried, grilled, sauteed or used like the American variety.

SNOW PEAS: These translucent green pods contribute color, crunchy texture and delicious taste to recipes. Choose fresh, crisp, thin pods in which the outline of the peas is barely visible. Keep refrigerated in plastic and use promptly.

In a salute to dairy farmers, Lancaster Farming wants to show our readers how versatile and great tasting dairy products are in appetizers, dips, soups, breads, main dishes, vegetables, desserts, beverages, snacks, and salads. And, we want to give you an opportunity to win a cow — well, not a real one, but a replica of one.

Jot down your favorite recipe using dairy products and send it to Lancaster Farming for the annual Recipe Dairy Drawing.

If your name is drawn, you will receive one of the following prizes — all highlighting the cow: afghan, placemats, milk pitcher, mail box, porch mat, Jersey cow plaque, Holstein cow plaque, towel rack, paper towel holder, stuffed cow, appliqued pillow top, padded photo album, "Pennsylvania Farm Women Cookbook," "From Mother's Cupboard Cookbook," "TMR Cookbook," "Schuylkill Fair Cookbook," or "Real Royal Recipes," recipes compiled by dairy princesses.

Please send your recipe using a sizable quantity of at least one of the following ingredients: milk, cream, sour cream, butter, yogurt, buttermilk, cottage cheese, ricotta cheese, cream cheese, or any other hard or soft cheese.

Print or type your recipe and be sure to give accurate measurements, temperatures, times, and sizes of baking dishes to use. Be sure to print your name, full address, and phone number on the recipe. Please include a few paragraphs about yourself or your family. Although it is not required, we'd like a picture of you or your family to include with the recipe.

All recipes submitted will be printed during the month of June. Also, included will be the photo and sentences telling us about yourself and your family. Our readers especially like to read these tidbits of information as it helps to make us feel like "family." Even if you entered the drawing other years, we want you to participate again.

Send your entry to Lou Ann Good, Lancaster Farming Dairy Recipe Drawing, P.O. Box 609, 1 E. Main St., Ephrata, PA 17522.

Only one recipe per family, please. Send it immediately as the entries must be postmarked by June 1.

SWEET AND SOUR STEAK STIR FRY

½ pound boneless top round steak
20-ounce can pineapple chunks in juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon ground red pepper
1 small orange, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 medium green pepper, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 small onion, cut into thin wedges
1 tablespoon cooking oil

Partially freeze meat; thinly slice across grain into bite-sized pieces. Peel and slice orange, cut slices in half. Set aside.

Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Add ½ cup juice to a 1 cup liquid measure. Stir in vinegar, soy sauce, cornstarch, brown sugar, and ground red pepper. Set aside.

In a wok or large skillet, stir-fry green pepper and onion in hot oil for 3 to 4 minutes or until crisp-tender. Remove. Add more oil if necessary. Add meat to wok and stir fry meat for 2 to 3 minutes or until brown, push meat from center of pan.

Stir sauce, add to center of wok. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Add vegetables and pineapple chunks. Cook and stir until hot. Stir in oranges. Serve immediately over rice. Serves 4.

WON TON

½ cup finely chopped celery
2 minced garlic cloves
1½ tablespoon vegetable oil
½ teaspoon MSG
Dash salt
Dash pepper

Saute garlic in heated oil, add celery and pork, stirring occasionally, add MSG, salt and pepper, to taste. Cook until pork is thoroughly cooked. Cool.

Purchase won ton skins or egg roll skins from store, cut into 4 squares.

Add to soup or fry won ton until golden brown and eat.

FRIED RICE

1 cup cooked cubed meat, chicken, pork, or small can shrimp
1 green onion, thinly sliced
1 large onion, chopped
½ box mixed carrots and peas, thawed and drained.
4 cups cooked white rice
2 eggs, beaten
Soy sauce
Vegetable oil

Heat wok or skillet until hot. Add 2 tablespoons oil, rotating pan until bottom and sides are coated. Add onion and green onion. Stir fry until onion just starts to become transparent, about 4 to 6 minutes. Add meat and the mixed peas and carrots. Stir-fry 2 minutes. Push everything to one side. Add eggs and stir quickly, cooking them completely and keeping them in small pieces with your spatula. Mix all together. Add rice and 2 to 3 tablespoons of soy sauce, stirring until rice is coated by the soy sauce and is hot. Serves 4 to 6.

EGG DROP SOUP

5 cups chicken broth or water
1 tablespoon plus 2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cold water
1 tablespoon plus 1½ teaspoons cornstarch
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 scallions or green onions, sliced diagonally. Heat broth or prepare bouillon. Add salt. Bring to a boil. Mix 3 tablespoons water with cornstarch; stir slowly into broth. Boil and stir for one minute. Slowly pour egg into broth stirring constantly with a fork to form shreds of eggs. Remove from heat. Stir once or twice. Garnish with scallions. Serves 6.

CHINESE SPAGHETTI

Note: amount of ingredients depends on amount of guests. As easy to make for one as it is for 6.

Cooked spaghetti, keep hot
Raw vegetables: broccoli, carrots, green peppers, onions, celery, snow or sugar peas, mushrooms, canned or fresh.
Garlic salt
Vegetable oil
Soy sauce

Heat heavy skillet until hot. Add oil to just cover bottom of pan. Add garlic salt. Heat until browned lightly — do not burn. Add vegetables, stir fry until crisp tender. Add soy sauce to taste. Add hot cooked spaghetti, toss with vegetables. Serve immediately. Can add cooked leftover chicken or pork or small frozen shrimp when adding vegetables, if desired.

KUNG PAO CHICKEN

In a bowl, combine 1 tablespoon each dry sherry and cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Add 1½ pounds chicken breast meat that has been skinned, boned, and cut into bite-sized pieces. Stir in 1 tablespoon salad oil and let set 15 minutes.

Prepare cooking sauce. Combine in a bowl or large measuring cup 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 tablespoon wine vinegar and dry sherry, 3 tablespoons water, 2 teaspoons each sugar and cornstarch. Before beginning the next step, assemble the remaining ingredients.

Heat wok or large frying pan over medium heat until hot. Add 1 tablespoon oil and stir in ½ cup salted peanuts and ½ teapsoon crushed red pepper. More or less pepper may be added, depending upon your tolerance for spicy food. Stir, taking care that the pepper does not burn, for about 1 minute. Remove from pan and set aside.

Add 2 tablespoons oil to pan and increase heat to high. When oil is hot, add 1 teaspoon each minced garlic and fresh ginger. Stir once; add chicken and stir fry until chicken is cooked through, about 3 to 4 minutes. Add 2 whole green onions that have been sliced into 1½ -inch pieces and the peanuts and peppers. Stir in sauce and cook until sauce bubbles and is thick. Serve over rice.

Kathleen Murray Wolf

STIR-FRY CHICKEN AND VEGETABLES

2 cups leftover chicken, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
6 ounces snow peas or sugar peas
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
6 medium stalks celery, cut diagonally
1 small can mushrooms or ¼ cups fresh mushrooms
1 cup choice of raw vegetables - broccoli, carrots, etc.
½ cup green pepper, diced
½ cup onions, diced
¼ cup chicken broth
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon soy sauce
Cooked rice

Heat oil in heavy skillet. If using raw chicken, stir fry until white. If using cooked chicken, add chicken with vegetables. Stir fry until crisp-tender, add chicken broth. Bring to boiling. Mix cornstarch and water. Add to chicken mixture. Heat to boiling. Boil and stir for 1 minute. Add soy sauce. Serve immediately over hot cooked rice. Serves 6.

Hints: just as delicious made without chicken. Can easily be increased to accommodate extra extra guests — just add more vegetables.

QUESTION — Mae Pugh would like a recipe for chicken rice soup like that served at Ponderosa.

QUESTION — Mrs. Kenneth Ulmer, Waymart, wants a recipe to can a mixture of mushrooms, onions, green peppers, and oil in pint jars.

QUESTION — R. Smith, Jonestown, heard about hunter green pumpkins, not squash or gourds, sold at a roadside market in Lancaster County and would like to know where to buy the seeds.

QUESTION — May Ozinek, Flemington, N.J., wrote that on a recent trip to Florida, she and her husband ate at Shoney's the whole way down and back. At the breakfast buffet, Shoney's serves a delicious sheet cake that is spicy and filled with raisins and chunks of apples. The cake has a crumb topping and is very moist. Does anyone have a recipe?

QUESTION — Gloria Fready, Mount Joy, would like to know how to make French fried sweet potatoes. She tried making them, but they tasted soggy.

QUESTION — Evelyn Reinfeld, Halifax, would like recipes using buckwheat flour without yeast.

QUESTION — Patricia Corkell, Henderson, Md., would like a recipe for pickled garlic.

QUESTION — Patricia Davis, Dillsburg, would like a recipe for hard sugar cookies like those made by Archway.

QUESTION — Patricia Davis, Dillsburg, wants to know where to buy pasteurized egg whites.

QUESTION — A reader from Potter County would like a recipe for fudge made out of goat's milk.

QUESTION — Karen Yourga is looking for a recipe to can strawberries in a glaze that can be poured right from the jar onto a cake. She has tried several recipes that bleed and turn pink. She would like one with a dark red color in which the strawberries are not mushy.

QUESTION — Sue Pardo, Jarrettsville, Md., would like recipes to use in a bread machine.

QUESTION — Sherry Craner, Bridgeton, N.J., would like a recipe for chocolate pasta, made with wheat flour. It is used for a dessert topped with sauteed strawberries and white chocolate.

QUESTION — Cissy McKeon, Birdsboro, would like a recipe for hand-dipped chocolate-covered strawberries such as those sold at Kaufman's in Pittsburgh. Cissy writes that it appears as if a layer of cream is between the strawberry and the chocolate.

QUESTION — Lisa Kerrigan, Bath, would like a recipe for Kosher Dill pickles that taste like the Claussen pickles that are stored in the refrigerator.

QUESTION — Peg Koser, Lancaster, wrote that in this column she learned how to make a tea concentrate using spearmint leaves and freezing for later use. She asks if there is a similar way to make a concentrate using fresh blue grapes?

QUESTION — Mary Lehman, Elizabethtown, would like recipes for rhubarb and a cookbook on rhubarb. One, that I'm aware of is "Rhubarb Cooking for All Seasons." For a copy, send $6 to Rhubarb Cookbook, Box 392, Hopkins, Minnesota 55343. It is small, but has 150 recipes in it.

QUESTION — L. Weaver, Ephrata, would like recipes or ideas to prepare cubed steak.

QUESTION — Maureen Wheeler, Kirkwood, would like a lemon pudding cake recipe. She said her mother made it before cake mixes were invented. She remembers her mother poking holes in the top of the warm cake, just removed from the oven, with a toothpick and drizzling lemon glaze over the top. When the cake cooled, the lemon glaze hardened and "was mighty tasty."

QUESTION — Melanie Kozlowski, Kingsby, would like a recipe for chocolate muffins, a deep, dark chocolate muffin that is very heavy and moist.

QUESTION — Melanie Kozlowski, Kingsby, would like a recipe for mousse such as that served at Ponderosa.

QUESTION — Jeanette Babson, Ottsville, would like a recipe for salt pickles, which uses rock salt and grape leaves. The original recipe was made in a barrel and the pickles were very crisp and sour.

QUESTION — Jessie Mayall, Mansfield, would like a good recipe for a potato bun that has frosting drizzle on top. Jessie remembers when she was little, a friend's mother always had a big plate of these on the table.

ANSWER — Mark Kopp, Tower City, wanted to know what happened to sauerkraut. She said today it is shredded cabbage rather than the kraut she remembers. Thanks to Fran Pierman, Stockton, N.J., and Margaret Hill, Apalachin, N.Y., for sending recipes. Fran writes that the best sauerkraut is homemade and that it is simple to do. Get a container like a crock that is big enough to hold at least 5 gallons. The cabbage must be freshly picked so when you shred it and press it, it produces lots of juice because it must stew and ferment in its own juice. Take 3 tablespoons pickling salt (not iodized salt) for every 5 pounds of shredded cabbage. Mix salt and cabbage thoroughly then press it hard with your hands a little at a time until it is covered with its own juice.

When shredding cabbage, cut out the core and throw away. Shred finely about the thickness of a dime. You can do this with a butcher knife or with a wooden cutting board, but an old time slaw cutter makes it go a lot faster. You can usually find a slaw cutter at a flea market.

After cabbage is covered with its own juice, put a weight on top to keep the cabbage covered. It needs to be covered sufficiently to keep the air from the surface. The top layer may turn brown if the air hits it. If it does turn brown, throw away the off colored part. If you need more juice, you can add salted water. Allow the kraut to ferment at room temperature until it begins making gas bubbles the next day. Fermenting takes about 2 to 6 weeks, depending on the weather. When the mixture stops bubbling, it is finished. Refrigerate or pack it into jars. Process 30 minutes in boiling water bath.

Sauerkraut

Ratio of 3½ tablespoons pickling salt to 5 pounds shredded cabbage.

Place shredded cabbage and salt in large pan. Mix well by hand. Pack gently (do not pound) in crock using a potato masher to press down. Repeat until crock if filled within 5 inches of top. Firmly press down cabbage with potato masher to extract enough juice to cover cabbage. Cover with clean cloth. Place a plate on top and weight it down with a jar filled with water. Keep crock at 65 degrees to ferment. Check kraut daily. Remove scum as it forms. Wash and scald cloth often to keep it free from scum and mold. Fermentation will be complete in 10 to 15 days. If no bubbles rise, fermentation has ended.

ANSWER — Maureen Wheeler, Kirkwood, wanted a yummy recipe for baked beans that appeared in a '70s Rival Crock Pot recipe booklet. Thanks to Vivian Plasterer, Newburg; Maryann Patten, Clayton, N.J.; Janice Haas, Monocay Station; Suetta High, Reinholds; B. Davis, Coatesville; Nancy Smeal, Houtzdale; Ann Chapman, Vester, and others for sending recipes.

New England Style Baked Beans

1 pound smoked ham or ham hocks OR ½ pound cubed salt pork
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup packed brown sugar
½ cup maple syrup
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Completely soften beans by simmering in three times their volume of unsalted water for 30 minutes in a saucepan. Allow to stand covered for 1½ hours or until softened; drain and reserve 1 cup liquid.

Put beans in crockpot. Add remaining ingredients along with the 1 cup reserved bean liquid; mix well. Cover and cook on low 10 to 12 hours or on high for 4 to 5 hours, stirring occasionally. Cut ham from bone and return to crockpot. If thicker beans are desired, uncover, and turn to high during last hour. Variation: stir in ⅔ cup catsup and 2 tablespoons prepared mustard during last hour.

New England Baked Beans

1½ pounds dry navy beans
1 cup catsup
1 cup brown sugar
1 additional cup water
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 tablespoons dark molasses
1 tablespoon salt
¼ pound salt pork, ground or diced

Cook dry beans in water three times their volume in a saucepan until softened. Drain and put in crock pot. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Cover and cook on low 10 to 12 hours or on high 4 to 6 hours, stirring occasionally. Beans should be soft before adding sugar or molasses.

ANSWER — For the reader who requested a grits recipe, here is one from F.R. of Indiana.

Cheese Grits Souffle

1 cup quick-cooking grits
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter
1 roll garlic cheese
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup milk
Salt and pepper, to taste
1 cup cornflake crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter

Cook grits with salt and 4½ cups water in saucepan until water is absorbed. Add 6 tablespoons butter and cheese until well blended. Cool. Mix eggs and milk in a bowl. Season with salt and pepper. Add to grits and mix well. Spoon into 1½ quarts dish buttered. Top with buttered flakes. Bake covered at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

ORIENTAL NOODLE FRITATTA

3-ounce Ramen Oriental noodle mix, broken into chunks
10-ounce package frozen stir-fry vegetables
6 eggs, slightly beaten
1¼ cups water, divided into 1 cup and ¼ cup
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Set aside seasoning packets. In 10-inch omelet pan or skillet with ovenproof handle, combine noodles and 1 cup water. (You can ovenproof a skillet handle by wrapping it completely with aluminum foil). Cover the noodles and bring to a boil over high heat. Reduce heat to low and simmer 2 minutes, stirring once or twice, until noodles are soft. Add vegetables; cover and cook until thawed, about 1 minute.

Meanwhile, stir together cornstarch and seasoning packets. Add remaining ¼ cup water to mixture and blend into eggs.

Uncover vegetable-noodle mixture and continue to cook, stirring over medium heat until liquid evaporates, about 1 minute. Add egg mixture, cover and reduce heat. When eggs are set, place skillet under broiler 6 inches from heat to lightly brown. Cut into wedges and serve from pan or slide onto serving platter.

STIR-FRY CHICKEN GINGER

Cut 2 boned and split chicken breasts into bite-sized pieces or thin strips. Marinate at least 30 minutes in the following:

1 teaspoon peanut oil
1 tablespoon lite soy sauce
1 teaspoon fresh ginger, chopped or ½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon sesame seeds

Slice or chop:

2-3 carrots, peeled, thinly sliced
½ cup mushrooms
2-3 stalks celery, sliced at an angle
1 small yellow onion, sliced
1-2 stalks broccoli, chopped
1 green pepper, sliced julienne
Snow peas

Heat wok or large fry pan. Add peanut oil. Drain chicken, reserve marinade. Brown chicken quickly and remove from pan. Keep warm in oven. Stir-fry onion, carrots, and broccoli. Add pepper and celery. Mix 1 teaspoon cornstarch with ½ cup cold water or chicken broth. Add to wok with marinade. Return chicken to wok. Add mushrooms and snow peas. Simmer until juice thickens. Serve over rice.

Sue Pardo

HONEY-MUSTARD CHICKEN

20-ounce can pineapple slices in juice
4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
2 teaspoons vegetable oil
2 large cloves garlic, pressed
1 teaspoon thyme, crumbled
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup honey
¼ cup Dijon mustard

Drain pineapple, reserve juice. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper to taste. Rub with garlic and thyme. Brown in hot oil in nonstick skillet.

Combine 2 tablespoons reserved juice with cornstarch. Combine honey and mustard, stir into skillet with remaining pineapple juice. Spoon sauce over chicken. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Stir cornstarch mixture into pan juices. Add pineapple. Cook, stirring until sauce boils and thickens. Serves 4.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Alverna Martin, Wellsboro, wanted a recipe for mock pecan pie made with dried beans. Thanks to a Reinholds reader for sending a recipe.

Mock Pecan Pie

2 cups packed brown sugar
½ cup margarine or butter, melted
1 tablespoon vanilla
4 eggs, beaten
1 cup pinto beans, cooked and mashed
10-inch unbaked pie shell

In mixing bowl, beat together sugar, butter, vanilla, and eggs. Stir in beans. Pour into pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or chilled with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

ANSWER — Fay Leslie, Woodstown, N.J., wanted a recipe for spoon bread, which is soft and of pudding texture. Thanks to F.R., Indiana, for sending a recipe.

Spoon Bread

1 cup milk
1 cup water
1 cup cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons baking powder
1 tablespoon butter

Place milk and water in saucepan. Add cornmeal and salt. Cook 5 minutes. Add beaten egg yolks, baking powder, butter, and stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased casserole and bake in 425 degree oven for 40 minutes. Serves 6.

Tioga County Seeks Applicants For Milk Promotion

MANSFIELD (Tioga Co.) — Attention all milk lovers. Are you a young woman age 16-24? Do you have a farm background or are engaged in a dairy related industry? Would you like to share your love of milk products with others? If so pick up an application to be a Tioga County Dairy Princess at the extension center or call Bonnie Baker 717-549-7931.

Suzanne Jackson, the reigning Tioga County Dairy Princess, described her reign as the Tioga County Dairy Princess. "There are a lot of fun things to do. Like all of the parades, seminars, dipping ice cream in Philadelphia and the pageant in Harrisburg. Even when something might go wrong there are lots of better times to come. Radio talks, TV appearances, meetings, school promotions, handing out ribbons at the Tioga County Fair, also the Jersey Show and Districts. A scrapbook is kept and judged at seminar and pageant. Being the Tioga County Dairy Princess is a lot of fun, anyone can do it and will really be rewarded by the experience."

Dairy Maids ages 13-16 are also needed. These girls help the Dairy Princess at many functions. It is great training for the day when they will be a Dairy Princess. Applications are at the extension center. The Dairy Pageant will be June 21 at the Mansfield Methodist Church.

ANSWER — Ralph Johnson, Sewell, N.J., wanted a recipe for green tomato pie with raisins and a top crust. Thanks to Margaret Hill, Apalachin, N.Y., for sending a recipe.

Green Tomato Pie

Pastry for 2-crust pie
4 cups thinly sliced green tomatoes
1¼ cups sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
4-5 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Raisins, as desired

To peel tomatoes easily, immerse in boiling water until skins slip off easily, about 3 minutes. Blend together sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, flour, lemon juice, and raisins. Toss with green tomatoes. Place in pastry-lined 9-inch pie pan. Adjust top crust and flute edges, cut vents. Bake in 425-degree oven until tomatoes are soft and crust is lightly browned, about 50 to 60 minutes.

Riding A Wagon Train Helps Chris Understand Pioneer Life

Gay N. Brownlee
Somerset Co. Correspondent

ADDISON (Somerset Co.) — Chris Fortunato, age 14, was at the tail-end of the wagon train that rolled into town to hold camp for the night. Chris was riding her horse, Lady Jane, as one of three scouts at the back of the train.

It was the weekend of the National Pike Festival, held every year in May to celebrate the very first highway that went across the United States of America. This festival is held in counties along 200 miles of the National Pike — in Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio. Wagon trains and pioneer memories are part of the celebration.

Today the road is Route 40, but over the years it was called by other names because General George Washington and General Braddock, as well as Indians and many stage-coaches traveled over it from east to west and back again.

The Fortunato family really enjoys the wagon train. This year Chris's mother, Carol, drove a snappy-looking, black doctor's buggy that was pulled by her horse, Diamond.

Chris said her family belongs to the Appalachian Wagon Train that takes a 10-day journey each year. She said that is their main vacation because the train goes to a different place each year. It's different from the Pike Festival.

Wagon trains have horseback riders and wagons. The Conestogas are built very differently from covered wagons the wagonmaster said. There are also buggys and other old wagons that the owners take good care of because they respect the history of the old days. And they want their children to appreciate and understand the lives of the early pioneers who had never heard of a car.

When she was eight years old, Chris got her first pony. She had it for five years. Lady Jane came last year.

"I bought Lady Jane in June 1992," she said. The horse was seven years old and Chris paid for her with her own money.

"When I got her, she was like my savior because I was really depressed," said Chris. That's because Chris had lost her other horse.

"Don't walk near a horse that has its ears back," Chris warns, "or one that has a red bow on its butt, because that means that they kick." That's good advice to remember.

Chris is also a Girl Scout. So when the wagon train arrived at the campsite for the National Pike Festival in Addison, her Scout troop prepared supper over a big campfire for 150 people. The Girl Scout leaders helped them.

During a program when lots of friends came to visit the wagon train, the Girl Scouts in costumes, performed Indian dances for the audience who sat on hay bales and on the grass.

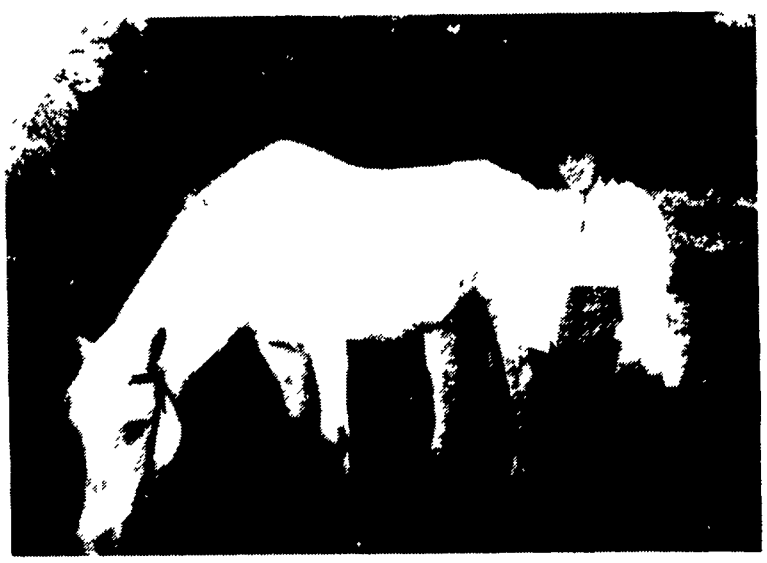
"I was at a Pow Wow," said Chris, "and an Indian taught me (to dance)." She said her mother likes to read about the customs of Indians.

Chris is currently in the eighth grade at the McMullen Junior High School in Fayette County. She lives in Markleysburg. "School is okay," she says, grinning. "I get to be with my friends."

Her favorite things include Indian beading, basketball, and photography.

Her dad's name is Jim Fortunato and her brothers are Rich Gmys and Ron Gmys.

Here there are 19 wagons, buggies and riders coming down the road to reach Route 40 near Grantsville, Md. They are going west to Addison, Pa. for the National Pike Festival. Many other entries joined the wagon train.



Chris Fortunato and her horse, Lady Jane are at the Addison, Pa. campsite for the National Pike Festival's Pennsylvania wagon train on May 13.

Chris Fortunato and two other Scouts are at the rear of the National Pike Festival wagon train as it enters Route 40 of The National Pike, while other traffic stops.

Chris Fortunato and her Girl Scout troop helped with the opening of a program for the National Pike Festival at Addison. Dressed in Indian costumes, the girls later did — some Indian dancing for the audience.

4-H Artists Have Opportunity To Shine

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Do you know of any 4-H members who excel in the arts? Is one of his hobbies drawing pictures of his favorite things? Does she like to take photographs of her family, friends, pets, or interesting places around her home? Do you enjoy listening to he or she tell stories about his or her experiences while raising 4-H projects?

If you answered yes to any of the above questions, then you should encourage the child to participate in either the "Poster Art Contest," the "Photography Exhibit Contest," or the "Small Animals Essay Contest." These three contests are held in conjunction with Penn State 4-H Achievement Days held at Penn State University on July 27, 28, and 29. All 4-H members from 8 to 19 years of age are eligible and are divided into three categories: ages 8 to 10, 11 to 13, and 14 to 18. The winners in each contest are recognized at the awards assembly during State Days on July 29.

If you think someone has a knack for the arts and/or would like to participate in one of these activities, please call Jayne Hess, 4-H summer program assistant, at the Extension Office (717) 334-6271 or 624-4525) for more contest guidelines and details.

Prince is popular with children who come to Tracey's Orchard. His favorite snack is apples, of course, said Franklin County Apple Queen Heidi Martin.

Heidi Martin Reigns As Franklin County Apple Queen

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

GREENCASTLE (Franklin Co.) — Franklin County's Apple Queen finds fruit-growing to be a family affair. A fifth-generation member of the family who operates Tracey's Orchard, Heidi Martin, 18, has been involved with fruit all her life. She is the daughter of Randy and Sandi Martin.

Her grandparents, Ralph and Connie Tracey and their two sons, Edwin and Denny, run the orchard. Heidi's mother, who is the Traceys' daughter, helps with the bookkeeping. The daughters-in-law and grandchildren help as needed. The orchard was originally purchased by I.C. Barr, Connie Tracey's grandfather, in the 1930s.

Apples, peaches, pears, cherries, plums and nectarines grow on 86 acres. Some of the apples are wholesaled to Knouse Foods; everything else is sold retail at the sales shed from June through Christmas. The operation includes a 2,000-bushel cold storage building.

Heidi has helped to sell the fruit ever since she was a child. She now also works at Klein's Grocery Store in nearby Shady Grove, and enjoys waiting on many of the same customers at both places.

A senior at Greencastle-Antrim High School in the business curriculum, Heidi is as yet undecided about her future plans. She would like to either go on to school or enter the secretarial field. She is taking a class on Lotus computer program basics because "the business field is changing fast, and if you don't know what you're doing, you're ancient," she said.

No matter what she does after high school, she plans to continue her involvement at the orchard. "This is my second home here," she said. "They always find something for you to do."

"We always enjoy having an extra hand," her grandmother added. The grandparents lived in the farmhouse across from the sales shed until last January, when they switched houses with Edwin and his family.

Heidi is not the first in her family to wear the crown of apple royalty. Her cousin Brandi served as 1992 Apple Princess. The girls had agreed years ago not to run against each other in the pageant. Brandi is older, so she ran last year. Now both girls are encouraging Brandi's younger sister Lori to enter. Another cousin, Edwin's daughter Megan, 7, is already talking about entering, according to the family. Both Brandi and Heidi were sponsored by their grandparents in the apple queen competition.

Heidi had been looking forward to competing in an Apple Queen pageant for several years.

"Ever since I was little, we always got dressed up and went to the Queen banquet — it was the thing to do," she related. "The contestants were always asked the question, 'What is your favorite apple?' and I would sit and think, 'What will I say?'"

In preparing for the 1993 pageant, Heidi did more than decide upon her favorite apple; she read up on the latest technology in the industry, such as new spray materials and storage techniques. She has heard her grandfather and uncles talking about the new technique of taking oxygen out of the apples to stop the ripening process, and decided to become informed about it. She visited the Penn State Fruit Research facility in Biglerville to learn about it. After the removal of the oxygen, the apples are stored in a carefully controlled environment. Later, oxygen is pumped back in to restart the ripening process.

She also read up on Johnny Appleseed, and will use some of what she learned about him when speaking to children. Johnny Appleseed went west ahead of the settlers planting apple trees so that the fruit would be ready for the immigrants to eat. A very religious, simple man, he was also a missionary to the Indians. "Almost everyone had heard of him," Heidi said, "and there was never a bad word said about him."

Heidi will be speaking to a Brownie troop later this month. She will tell them about the many different varieties of apples and impress upon them that it is "fun and interesting to have an apple as a snack," she said.

Heidi's favorite apple recipe is Fresh Apple Cake. "This is very moist; the butterscotch and the apples enhance each other," She said. Although Heidi makes this recipe often, she asked her grandmother to make it for her birthday. "Grandma makes it the best," she explained.

FRESH APPLE CAKE

2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 cup cooking oil
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking soda
3 cups finely chopped apples
1 cup chopped nuts
1 package butterscotch chips

Beat sugar and eggs together; add oil. Sift dry ingredients. Add apples and nuts. Mix all together. Pour batter into greased and floured 9" x 13" pan. Sprinkle butterscotch chips over batter and bake at 350° for 45 - 50 minutes. Can also be made as muffins.

Growers Approve Referendum

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania vegetable producers approved the referendum to continue the Vegetable Marketing and Research Program by a vote of 374 to 246. The approval ensures the continuation of the program for the next five years.

An impartial teller committee counted the ballots in Harrisburg recently. A simple majority among the state's vegetable producers who use one or more acres of farmland or 1,000 square feet or more of greenhouse area to grow vegetables for sale in Pennsylvania was needed for approval.

State Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff accepted the results of the Teller Committee's ballot count. "Research to improve productivity and promotions to increase market share will continue under this program," Wolff said. "Our producers still have a powerful tool in their corner."

Since its creation in 1988 under the Pennsylvania Agricultural Commodities Marketing Act (PACMA), the program has provided more than $70,000 to support 36 research projects. The program has also reached more than 7 million people through its news releases and has created point-of-purchase kits and materials, the "Know Your Vegetables" consumer brochure, and the "Pick 5, Get 10%" vegetable sale promotion at 100 farm markets across the state.

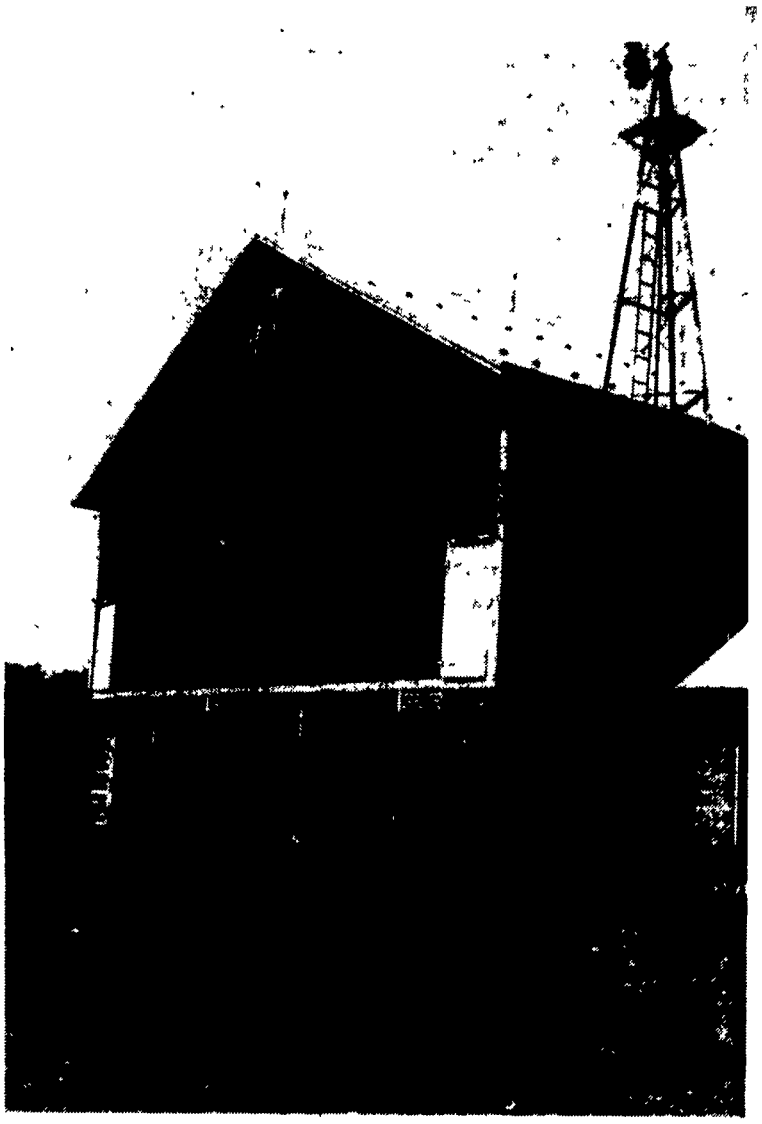
Three-month-old Heidi is the eighth generation of Benners to live on the farm. She is held by her mother Susan with grandparents Mildred and D. Edwin Benner. The house was built in 1870. The elder Benners live on one side of the double house while Susan, husband Leonard, and Heidi live on the other side.



The red-painted barn with louvered vents, a wooden silo, and a metal windmill signifies the autheticity of agriculture's past on the Benner Homestead Farm.

Benner Homestead Farm Preserves Agriculture Heritage

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Who said, "Things aren't like they used to be?"

Whoever made that comment should visit the Benner Homestead Farm in Gettysburg. There, the farm has been in the family since 1802. The same values evident in the 1800s are still prominent today: love of the land, family, and country.

Today, the Benner Homestead Farm will be placed on the National Register of Historic Places during a formal presentation. The farm is considered historically significant because it has preserved the agriculture lifestyle of the past.

The farm was surveyed by the Penns as part of the 43,500 acres laid out for the Manor of Maske. Boundaries were marked with axe marks on the trees. At one time, three of the trees were still standing on the Benner property, but now only one of the trees remains.

Three generations of the Benner family now live in the double farmhouse. D. Edwin and his wife Mildred of 52 years live on one side. Their daughter Susan, her husband Leonard, and 3-month-old Heidi live on the other side.

D. Edwin farms the land similar to those of his ancestors. He uses no pesticides or herbicides. Although he has tractors, he prefers to do much of the field work with horse-drawn equipment on the 145 acres, and he thinks water drawn from a hand-dug well and sipped from a tin dipper tastes better than running water in the house.

Susan works full time in the operating room of the local hospital but she much prefers working on the farm. Recently, she added 25 sheep to the farm's melange of animals: 5 horses and mules, 20 beef cattle, 35 hogs, and a mixture of 200 chickens, geese, ducks, and turkeys that roam the property.

The farm is within six miles of the Gettysburg Battlefield. Susan said that her great grandfather could hear the soldiers as they walked up Taney Town Road but no soldiers invaded the farm. However, Civil War bullets and arrowheads have been found on the grounds. Susan's great-grandfather was there to hear President Abraham Lincoln proclaim the famous Gettysburg Address.

Although no ground was sold from the original landholdings, some ground was given to build the Mt. Joy Lutheran Church and parsonage in 1851. The Benners continue to be involved there. D. Edwin has been elected Sunday School superintendent for 50 years. Each family member was a Sunday school teacher and held other leadership roles. Susan plays the organ.

Political involvement is another part of the Benners' heritage. Susan said that one of her ancestors was a congressman. When Susan was only a few months old, President Eisenhower held her in his arms for a picture-taking session when he went to the polls to vote. The Eisenhower farm is a neighboring farm to the Benner Homestead. With such a heritage, Susan said that she had no choice but to be a Republican. Her mother is a past president of the Republican Women and a township auditor. Susan is a state committee woman for the Republican Party and has held other offices in the local organization. Along with many political artifacts, Susan has a cross-stitch picture that proclaims: "Republican born, Republican bred. When I die, I'll be Republican dead."

Both Susan and her mother attended the National Republican Convention in Texas last year.

"But my first love is home and farm," Susan said. She is thrilled that her daughter can grow up with her grandparents living in the same house. "I think grandparents are important in one's life. I had a lot of good experiences growing up with mine," said Susan who is an only child.

In keeping with her love for her heritage, Susan's wedding in 1990 incorporated some traditions of the past. The groom wore her great-grandfather's suit and rode by horse and buggy to the Benner Homestead where the wedding took place. Surrey rides were given to wedding guests. And, an old-fashioned pig roast was held for the reception.

Susan said the homestead, which was built in 1870, has been the site of weddings, baptisms, funerals, and public suppers.

The original house is built of logs. Susan said that it was her decision to have the house vinyl-sided because "I hated to see Daddy climb up to the high point to paint it."

She does enjoy watching him farm with mules, horses, and the wooden-wheeled grain wagons made in 1900.

"Daddy enjoys the peacefulness of horses," she said. "It's cost efficient. He uses the tractors for plowing, but the horses for hay baling. And, he still makes the old-fashioned corn stalks."

D. Edwin practices crop rotation and finds it effective for pest and weed control.

"This was always an organic farm even before organic farming was popular," Susan said.

"I think we have just as much yield as anyone else," D. Edwin said.

He advises that other farmers should watch machinery expense. "There's nothing that kills quicker (financially) than machinery," he said. "If you can expand without going in debt, it's OK, but if you need to borrow, it doesn't pay off."

He trims the fence rows on the farm by walking with a power scythe. The sheep are supposed to keep the meadow trimmed, but they prefer "Mom's flowers." A herd of goats was quickly sent to market when they invaded the garden.

Susan sells lamb to local restaurants after taking it to inspected butcher shops.

The Benners home butcher hogs and beef. Twelve to 15 relatives come for the day-long affair and the dinner that Mildred prepares.

Because Susan's husband is a stone mason, he recently built a stone fireplace in the old summerhouse located in back of the house. The Benners estimate that the summerhouse was built in the late 1700s. They also chinked the logs and renovated the summerhouse that still has the original wide floor boards.

Many family heirlooms and antiques that were stored in the attic during the past eight generations of Benners who lived in the home are now in use. Susan had the parlor suite reupholstered and placed in the parlor with the antique baby carriage and cane rocking chairs. Numerous pictures from the attic are now hung on the downstair walls along with heirloom displays of dishes and knicknacks. A pair of candlesticks that once belonged to Napolean Bonaparte's brother set on the Gothic Revival mantelpiece in the parlor. Numerous pieces of antique furniture are used throughout the house

The original 1802 deed of the farm and the plaque showing the Benner Homestead Farm has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places are treasured by the Benner family. The farm was surveyed by William Penn who notched the trees to show the land boundaries. Only one tree with the axe markings still visible remains on the farm.

Child Care Choices

Nationally, 26 million children up to age 13 are cared for in a variety of ways while their parents work. Forty-eight percent are cared for by relatives. Another 44% are in either center or family day care. But having a designated day care provider doesn't mean that parents don't have to discuss choices for unexpected events.

Who takes a child to see a pediatrician if she has a rash? When your child is sick, who does the school nurse call? When can your daughter be home alone for a few hours in the afternoon? And who's responsible for checking up on her while she is alone? Who makes the babysitting arrangements if you want to go out to dinner?

Child care choices are difficult ones, even for families in rural areas. For many farming families, one partner may work off the property for at least part of the week. Even if an adult is "home," that doesn't mean that he or she has the flexibility or the freedom to be providing careful supervision of a young child. You are still involved in community organizations. You need to run errands and see doctors. These events may throw a glitch in your routine child care choices.

You can take a few positive steps to prepare for these choices. Several months ago, I shared a list of home-alone readiness skills. They may come in handy as you consider summer child care needs. Remember the highlights. Most importantly, both you and your child should feel relatively comfortable with the idea that she will be home alone for some time. She should also be able to recite her name, address, and phone number. Your child needs to be able to take accurate phone messages and in an emergency to dial 911 and get to a neighbor for assistance.

Other child care choices may create some tension between you and your partner. My friends face these choices on a frequent basis. During the winter months, child care centers in our area closed early because of bad road conditions, and I heard lots of stories about "Who's going to leave work early and pick up the baby?" In one case I heard a husband comment to his wife, "I can't just leave work. We have things that have got to get out today. You'll have to get her."...assuming the wife's employer wouldn't place the same demands or expectations on her.

In your family, is it the mother who assumes primary responsibility for transporting children to appointments? Does she cancel meetings or adjust schedules to accommodate a child's needs? Is there a logical reason why those choices are made? Is her time really more flexible?

People say parenting needs to be a 50-50 shared responsibility. After caring for an 18-month-old for one evening, I was once again reminded that parenting is not a 50-50 job, but a 100-100 job! When it comes to child care choices and holding up your end of that major responsibility, how are you doing? In your home, do adults share the joys and the burdens that children bring?

Ask yourself these questions:

Who checks to make sure homework is completed and school paperwork is returned?

Who plans birthday parties for your child?

Who prepares your child's lunch?

Who takes care of the bedtime routine?

Who repairs or assembles a child's toys?

Who makes the decisions about child discipline?

Take some time this week to think through the assumptions you've made about child care and the roles you accept. Are they the best ones for you? Are they equitable? Do both partners accept those roles? If it's time for a change, use this column as a motivator to discuss one or two areas and come up with a compromise that builds support for you as a parent and that provides safe supervision for your children.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

When I go to the garden to plant seeds, I have to take a pencil and paper along. You see, one afternoon I put 19 different kinds of seeds in three rows. Usually I can identify plants when they sprout but some of these were unusual flowers. Because I save my own seed and sometimes plant old seed, this year I had to replant some green beans.

This spring I raised my own pink, yellow, and red tomato plants. But when I put them in the garden, something ate them. This is very discouraging as I then had to buy some. Celery is something that I do not raise due to all the work of bleaching it in the fall but this year I've put some in my garden as it is quite expensive in the store.

One of Lancaster Farming's readers was kind enough to bring me a big box of various plants and I'm enjoying them as they bloom. In the fall I had given her a variety of lily bulbs.

This year our children decided to give my husband a surprise party on his 75th birthday. He expected to have lunch at a nice restaurant with two of our children. But, when we arrived there were fourteen family members, beautiful flowers, balloons and a big decorated cake.

He even got a gift certificate to buy more expensive woodworking equipment. His most recent project was a very nice bookcase. But when it was finished and he showed it to me, I thought it needed glass doors so the books wouldn't get dusty. It seems that I am never satisfied.

FPPF Polar Power

Keeps Your Diesel Running In The Worst Winter Cold!

Fuel filters, separators do nothing to keep diesel fuel from the waxing or gelling that blocks up and clogs fuel lines and filters.

FPPF Polar Power contains FPPF's Fuel Power and FPPF's Polarized Diesel Fuel Flow Improver, the industry's leaders. It will keep your diesel running in the worst winter cold: lowering the pour-point, totally dispersing water, eliminating gum/varnish...outperforming all other additives and at lower cost.

Since the Benner family has occupied the house for eight generations, the furnishings were never sold but placed in the attic when no longer used. Susan rescued these antique pieces and numerous others from the attic in order to establish the history of the place.

Benner Homestead

as is the old-fashioned cookstove. Some of the ceiling light fixtures date back to the 1920s.

The barn has louvered vents, a wooden silo, and a metal windmill that still pumps water for barn use.

Although the Benners call the farm the Benner Homestead Farm, it will be called the Spangler-Benner Farms on the National Register because the house was built by Spangler.

It's Susan who pushed to have the farm approved for the National Register of Historic Places.

Susan said the process to have the farm approved for the National Registrar was a detailed and time-consuming project. Pages of details and pictures were required.

She said, "The honor of being on the National Register goes to my ancestors who had foresight to preserve the family farm. They had many offers to sell because of its valley setting, but it's a home that we will never sell but hope to preserve for future generations."

In addition to farming, D. Edwin has a part-time job as sealer of weight and measures for Adams County and is an auctioneer. He and Susan are board member of the Adams County Farmers' Association .

Susan, who was a highly-involved 4-H'er, was a former national winner in dairy foods. As a national winner, she received a $1,000 scholarship, which she applied toward her studies for a nursing degree from Messiah College.

Susan said that her husband took her maiden name when they married. "It's not because I'm a woman's libber, it was his idea," she said.

With a heritage like the Benners, it's a name worth carrying on. Daughter Heidi is the eighth generation of Benners to live on the farm.

This 1900s wagon is still used on the Benner farm.

Dairy Princess Candidates Sought In Huntingdon County

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — The Huntingdon County Dairy Promotion Committee is currently seeking candidates for the 1993 dairy princess, dairy maid, dairy miss, or Little Dairy Miss.

The dairy princess program offers the opportunity for qualified young persons to make a personal contribution to the well-being of the dairy industry by devoting their time and talent to the promotion of its products for the period of one year. The dairy representatives present programs in schools and at meetings of both farm and non-farm groups. They conduct demonstrations in grocery stores, malls, banks, and at fairs. They also ride in parades and assist in promoting dairy products.

For more information and application forms, contact Shirley Heeter at (814) 259-3427 or the Extension Office at (814) 643-1660. Deadline for submitting applications is May 15. The pageant is scheduled for June 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln Grange.

Farm Women Societies

York Society 11

York County Farm Women Society 11 Potosi met at the home of Sandy Keiser with 15 members attending. Members were served a luncheon at noon by the hostess. The meeting began with scripture, prayer, and flag salute. Secretary Charlotte Dubbs read a story on dandelions written by her daughter, Joyce Bupp followed by roll call response "Something I remember about the dandelion."

The treasurer distributed 10 Spring Rally tickets to members who ordered them. All members are to wear hats. June 15 the society will entertain Group 34 for lunch at Hometown Lutheran Church at 12:00 o'clock.

The tickets for the County quilt project were distributed. The quilt was made by members throughout the county and will be given away at the convention.

Another quilt is being made with 34 blocks representing 34 groups and will be given away at the county picnic in July at the 4-H center. Chances for this quilt were distributed also. The proceeds from the quilt will be used to host the State Spring Rally in 1994 in York Co.

The program committee, Mildred Bupp and Chrystal Brenneman conducted an auction of donated items of baked goods and hand-crafted items.

The May meeting will be hosted by Alice Krout.

Lancaster Society 20

20 members and 3 visitors of Lancaster Farm Women #20 enjoyed a tour of the Lancaster County Winery on Thursday, May 6. Following the tour they gathered at Willow Valley for lunch. During this time the president, Nancy Axe, conducted a short business meeting at which time they were reminded of the yard sale at Nancy's home in Strasburg on Saturday June 5. She mentioned that the gathering for Farm Women's Day will be at the Dutch apple, also that the County is in need of a 2nd Vice President. From the three charities listed for the County Farm Women #20 voted for Christ Home in Paradise. Seven members will be attending the Spring Rally in Hagerstown, Md. on May 26th.

Lancaster Society 19

The Lancaster County Farm Women's Society #19 visited Abner Zook's 3-D carvings display on May 8.

The lunch stop was Risser's Restaurant.

Oberholtzer's Green Houses was the next stop for members to enjoy and pick up flowers.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Naomi Spahr, June 12. Members will go to Conestoga View May 20th to play bingo with the guests.

Eighteen members are going to the Spring Rally in Hagerstown May 26.

Berks Society 4

Mary Jane Schneider was guest speaker when Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 4 met in the Boyertown RD 4 home of Ferne Kulp. She spoke on "Mid Winter Mourning," a book she wrote on the Opera House fire in Boyertown.

In observance of Mothers Day each one received 9 plants and a poem, "Angels in Disguise," was read.

The June meeting will be at the Powdermill Hollow Road home of Elsie Rothenberger where a pound auction will be held.

Berks Society 1

The April meeting of Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 1 was held at the home of Pauline Hartman in Oley. President Ruth Walters presided at the meeting with 18 members answering roll call. A new member, Geraldine Marsteller, was welcomed into the group. The featured speaker of the evening was Arlene Hafer, a nurse at a local nursing home.

Fifteen members will attend the annual Spring Rally in Hagerstown, Maryland on May 26.

Joan Haas will host the May meeting at which counted cross stitch will be demonstrated.

Lancaster Society 24

Twenty-two members of Farm Women #24 met recently at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center, Lancaster for their April meeting. The group entertained guests from Farm Women #8 and the county officers. The program of the evening featured Pearl Veronis from the Greek Orthodox church, who lectured on the history of the Orthodox religion both here in this area and overseas in Russia. Following this the group enjoyed a salad dessert treat, and each guest received a flower plant as a favor.

In May, the society will hold their next meeting at the home of Anna Mae Snader, Leola, when the program will be presented by Peggy Atkins, a Cataract Support counselor.

Berks Executive Board

Berks County Society of Farm Women executive board meeting was held at the Agricultural Center on May 3 with 16 members present. Group #1 held devotions with Ruth Walters reading a poem "Extra Prayer," followed by The Lord's Prayer and flag salute. How did you cope with the Blizzard of 1993 was the roll call question of the evening; but to get us thinking spring, President Phillipy read a poem "Mother's Garden."

The bingo party was held at Berks Heim on April 8, and the volunteer dinner was held on April 21.

Scenic River Days this year will be July 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1. Plans are being made to have another successful year.

Berks County's bus to Hagerstown, Maryland is filled and will be on its way to the spring rally on May 26, leaving Klein's at Douglasville 6 a.m., Bethel 7 a.m. Ladies don't forget your hat and gloves.

Dorothy Stricker, state first vice president, reported one bus has gone on their trip to Holland, Michigan. Next year's trip is planned for the Canadian Rockies in June 1994.

Congratulations to Group #8 on their 25th anniversary celebration at the Shartlesville Grange on April 30.

Group #2 was saddened with the death of member Betty Stump on April 1.

Tickets were distributed by Sandy Rauenzahn, chairperson, for the quilt project for Berks County.

A motion was made to give a monetary gift to the Dairy Princess Pageant promotion committee.

Next executive board meeting is on June 28 at the Agricultural Center. Note change of date; due to the 4th of July holiday.

Extension Sponsored Singles Convention

BLOOMSBURG (Columbia Co.) — Bejou Merry, a wordsmith experienced on-page and on-stage, will be the keynote presenter at the third annual Pennsylvania Singles Convention banquet, according to Shirley Bixby, convention organizer and coordinator. Merry will use her talents as columnist, entertainer and TV talk show host to create an upbeat, practical guide for dating in the millennium. Her 30 years of active research and field work in singlehood serve as the background for her empowering keynote presentation entitled "Happy New Year 1999 - AAARGGHHH or AHH?" Bejou Merry is known in Central Pennsylvania as a professor of comedy writing and communication at Harrisburg Area Community College and Bloomsburg University.

Slated for June 11 through 13, 1993 the convention theme of "Living, Learning and Laughing" will be evident throughout the weekend activities. Participants will live and dine on campus, learn from more than 25 workshops, and laugh at an improvisational theater production focusing on issues of singledom. Informal discussions, country dance instruction, a banquet and dance complete the agenda and make this "the best convention ever" according to Bixby of Penn State Extension. Challenged to provide varied opportunities for self-development and social interaction for single adults. More than 25, Bixby commends the convention planning committee for its outstanding job.

Whether single by virtue of divorce, separation, death of a spouse or by choice, the convention offers something of interest for everyone. Workshop presenters are experienced professionals who are donating their time to present workshops. Topics range from serious legal and sexual issues related to being single to the more light hearted issues of travel and dating.

Registration fees offer full weekend resident and commuter options as well as a special one-day registration alternative. The convention is jointly sponsored by Bloomsburg University's School of Extended Programs, Penn State Cooperative Extension, and the O.A.S.I.S. singles organization. For information and registration, contact The Magee Center, 700 West Main Street, Bloomsburg, PA 17815 or phone (717) 389-4420.

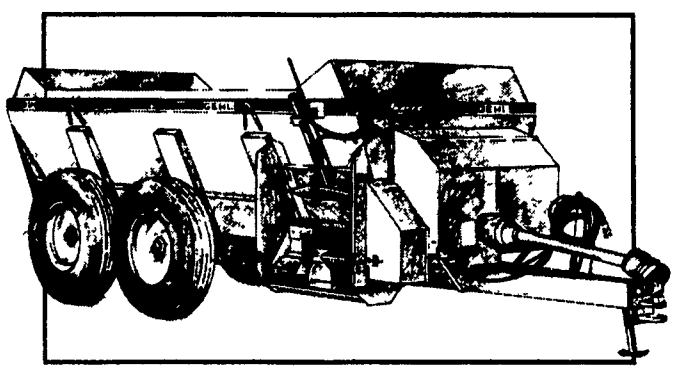
GEHL®

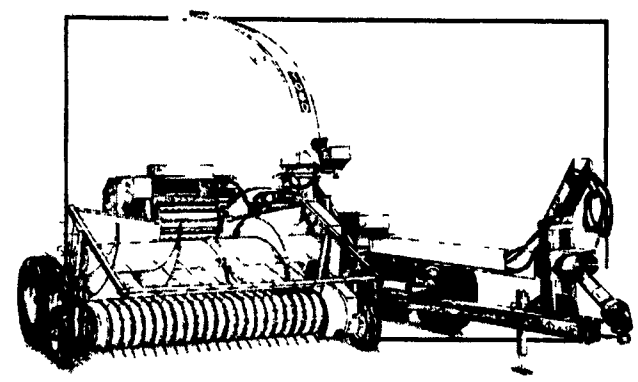
NORTH AMERICA'S #1 V-TANK SPREADER



The Gehl Scavenger® II is the "original" V-Tank spreader and still the best. It delivers outstanding performance in all types of manure, from liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure.

- Patented square-tube auger – Hydraulically powers up and down to break up solid material.
- Variflo discharge – Spreads smoothly and evenly for complete application control.
- Five models – From 192 to 596 bushel heaped capacities to match your operation.
- 10-Year warranty – Against rust-through on the tank for peace of mind.
- Options include – Truck-mounted units and hydraulic lids.

CHOP IT DOWN



Gehl forage harvesters get the job done faster with these performance features:

- Exclusive Auto-Max Load-Sensing System – Increase capacity by up to 20%. Lets you operate at top capacity without the fear of downtime due to overloading.
- Metal-Stop Metal Detector – Prevents machine damage and hardware disease.
- In-head Hydraulic Knife Sharpener – Lets you sharpen knives in the field.
- Patented One-Sided Cutterbar Adjustment – Makes adjusting the cutterbar quick and easy.
- Three Models To Choose From – Including the largest capacity pull-type forage harvester on the market.

Lebanon To Hold Pageant May 29

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Lebanon County Dairy Princess will be crowned Saturday, May 29. This year's pageant will once again be held at the Lebanon Vo-Tech School. The festivities are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Henry Homan, local radio personality and writer, will serve as emcee for the Dairy Princess Pageant, as well as the Dairy Maid Coronation and the Lil' Miss contest.

Jennifer Bashore is the daughter of Ricki and Roberta Bashore, Lebanon. Jen is 17 years old and is currently a senior at Northern Lebanon High School. The Bashore family farm consists of 120 acres, which supports their herd of 175 Holsteins, 7 of which are Jen's. The Bashores moved to their current farm six years ago, and since then Jen has been very active in 4-H, FFA, and church activities. She currently is serving as president of the Norlebco 4-H Dairy Club, and vice president of the Northern Lebanon FFA. Jen is a member of the Lebanon County Jr. Holstein Club and the Bashores are active members of Little Swatara Church of the Brethren. Miss Bashore enjoys a variety of sports and enjoys working with children. Her immediate plans are to continue working on the family farm.

Karen Heilinger is the 17-year-old daughter of Richard and Josephine Heilinger, Newmanstown. The Heilingers raise Holsteins, Brown Swiss and Guernsey cattle. Karen owns a total of 15 head and spends a lot of time in the show ring with her Guernseys and Brown Swiss. She is a member of both the Brown Swiss and Guernsey Breeders Associations. Karen is also active in the Elco Dairy 4-H Club and the Eastern Lebanon County FFA Chapter, where she is serving as secretary. Karen and her family are members of St. Pauls U.C.C. Church in Millbach.

Karen Heilinger and Jennifer Bashore will compete for the Lebanon County Dairy Princess title on May 22.

Miss Heilinger has one more year of high school to complete and then plans to attend Delaware Valley College and major in agriculture science.

Stacy Krall and Amy Burkhart will begin their reigns as Dairy Maids for Lebanon County. Following is a brief introduction to these young ladies, who will play an integral role in dairy promotion during the next year.

Amy Burkhart, Myerstown, is the 13-year old daughter of Tim and Kay Burkhart. Amy is a member of the Elco 4-H Dairy Club and is a member of the band and chorus at Eastern Lebanon County School. Miss Burkhart wants to serve as Dairy Maid because she thinks "it would be fun to see what the Dairy Princess does and she loves milk and cows."

Stacy Lin Krall is 15 years old and lives with her parents Glen and Linda Krall, on their dairy farm near Lebanon. Stacy attends Cedar Crest High School and is involved in the FFA program there. She owns three dairy animals of her own. Stacy feels serving as Dairy Maid would be a good way for her to promote the

4-H Horse Club

A ribbon cutting ceremony was held May 16 at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds. After several years of planning, the youth members, adult volunteer leaders, and parents of the Lebanon County 4-H horse and pony clubs have completed building a second horse ring at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds.

It is a dream come true for the 4-H children. The ring is 150 feet x 300 feet with a stonedust surface. Many area businesses have donated their time and materials to complete the project.

The 4-H members, adult volunteer leaders, and parents have sold hamboats, held bake sales, and donated many hours of hard labor to complete the new show ring. With monetary donations, the 4-H Horse Clubs have purchased new equipment for jumps and western game classes.

The 4-H district horse show will be held in Lebanon County at the new facility on August 28. After placing in their county roundup, competitors will compete at the district level for a chance to advance to the state competiton in Harrisburg at the Farm Show Complex in late October.

Contact Steve Hain, 4-H Leader, (717) 866-7393 or Martha Gregory, extension 4-H agent, (717) 270-4391.

Capitol Days

Dauphin County 4-H members and leaders Ayanna Inman, Shared Ministry 4-H Club, Mrs. LaVerna J. Fountain, director of U.S. Senator Harris Wofford's central Pennsylvania Office, Valerie Bingaman, Shared Ministry 4-H Club, Matthew Wagner, 4-H Clover Leaves, and Helen C. Riley, extension agent met and visited with the Honorable Ronald I. Buxton, House Representative (District 103) and the Honorable Ronald S. Marsico, House Representative (District 105) at the 4-H Capitol Days held recently at the Harrisburg Hotel in Harrisburg.

In addition, to meeting with their legislators at the legislative breakfast and a private visit in their offices, 4-H members and leaders visited other governmental departments and state agencies, as well as toured the Capitol Building. We also had a chance to meet with Catherine Baker Knolls, Pennsylvania treasurer and Gene R. Stephenson, deputy treasurer II at the Treasury Department.

Pennsylvania 4-H Capitol Days is conducted for the purpose of providing 4-H teen members with an opportunity for studying the process of legislation, meeting and talking with officials of state government, visiting various facilities of state government, developing an appreciation for Pennsylvania's heritage, relating the 4-H educational program to government officials, and gainng a better understanding of political issues.

Summer Program Assistant

Adams County Cooperative Extension recently announced that the position of 4-H Summer Program assistant for the summer of 1993 will be filled by Jayne N. Hess, daughter of John J. and Bonnie L. Hess.

Jayne began her duties as 4-H summer program assistant on May 10 and will continue with extension through August 6. She will be working with 4-H summer events such as Regional 4-H Presentation Night, 4-H State Achievement Days, 4-H Fair, 4-H Fashion Revue, 4-H Overnight Camp, 4-H Day Camp, and miscellaneous other local and county 4-H events.

Jayne will be developing and presenting a "Kid's Community" program, which will be centered on healthy eating habits, physical fitness skills, survival skills, and character values and morals. Jayne will be holding the "Kid's Community" program in two separate community areas in Adams County.

The main focus of this program is to develop a 4-H program in communities where one does not exist. Jayne will be promoting her program in several elementary schools in late May. This program will be geared toward 8-12-year-olds and will include educational as well as recreational activities.

Jayne is attending Penn State University, majoring in agricultural science, and minoring in English writing. She is a junior planning to graduate in May 1995.

Jayne belonged to the 4-H Dairy Club for 11 years. While in 4-H, she served as president of the Dairy Club and vice president of the Adams County 4-H Senate. She also participated in Citizenship Washington Focus, Pennsylvania 4-H Capitol Days, interstate exchange programs, and Penn State 4-H Achievement Days.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

State 4-H Capitol Days

Lebanon County 4-H members observed the inner workings of state government when they took part in State 4-H Capitol Day activities recently in Harrisburg.

Lebanon 4-H members who attended State 4-H Capitol Day activities include, from left, Stephen Major, Joyce Watson, and Joya Tobias.

Delegates from Lebanon County were Stephen Major, Joyce Watson, and Joya Tobias. Capitol Days began with a tour of the governor's mansion. After the tour, members visited the departments of education and community affairs. The 4-H'ers participated in a breakfast with their district's state representatives. The legislators and 4-H members discussed local issues, legislative developments, and the status of the 4-H youth program.

State 4-H Capitol Days is part of Penn State's Cooperative Extension.

The final competition of the evening will be the Lil' Miss contest. There are three contestants in this part of the program. They are as follows:

Jennifer Maulfair is the 7-year-old daughter of Dale and Pattie Maulfair, Jonestown. Jennifer has two brothers and one sister. The Maulfair-Acres Farm consists of 250 acres of land which supports their herd of 70 Holsteins and Ayrshires, 1 of which Jennifer owns. Jennifer has a cat named Garfield and a dog named Lassie. She enjoys singing in the church choir, playing with her Barbie dolls, playing with her brothers and riding bike. Jennifer's favorite flavor of ice cream is chocolate.

Erin Williams is the 6-year-old daughter of David and Christine Williams, Lebanon. Erin has a younger brother and sister and helps with them. Erin's parents own Chris-Da-Will farm which consists of 145 acres and 60 Holstein cows, 1 of which Erin owns. Erin has a cat named Kaki and a dog named Ralph. Erin enjoys riding bike, painting, reading and helps feed calves on the farm. Her favorite flavor of ice cream is vanilla.

Chanelle Horst is the 7-year-old daughter of Kirby and Sheryl Horst, Newmanstown. Chanelle's parents farm 115 acres and milk 50 Holstein cows. Chanelle is in first grade at Schaefferstown Elementary School, enjoys singing in the Cherub Choir, riding bike, jumping rope, fishing and playing with Barbies. Chanelle has a pet cat named Midnight and a calf named Ralunda. She likes strawberry ice cream.

Choosing And Using Store-Bought Frozen Foods

If you do not have a garden, store-bought frozen produce is considered the next best thing to just-picked fruits and vegetables. According to the Frozen Vegetable Council, produce is frozen within four to six hours after being picked. This policy locks in the full flavor, color and nutrients that could be depleted when fresh produce travels days or weeks to market, then sits in your pantry or on a refrigerator shelf. A study done at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Campaign, found that "Fresh-frozen" green beans (whether frozen by a home gardener or by a frozen-food manufacturer) retained twice the Vitamin C than so-called "fresh" green beans bought at a retail market.

To make sure the frozen vegetables you purchase are just as fresh as they can be, first squeeze the package before buying it. If the vegetables are clumped together, that indicates they have been thawed and refrozen, which could result in a loss of quality. Second, if you can see through the package, be sure the vegetables are brightly colored with no crystallization — another sign of thawing and refreezing. When you reach the checkout counter, be sure all of your frozen items are packed together to keep them cold, and get them into your freezer as soon as possible.

As long as frozen produce is stored at 0 degrees F., it will stay fresh-tasting for up to six months. If you use only part of the package at one meal, you can either refreeze the rest in an airtight container for up to four weeks or let the entire package defrost and drain; then store, covered, in the refrigerator and use within three days.

How long a food will retain its quality in the freezer will depend on the food's condition at the time of freezing and on the way you package it. Foods must be in airtight, moisture-resistant packages, otherwise they are susceptible to deterioration, contamination by bacteria and freezer burn. Freezer burn can occur when a food loses moisture, often because an opening in the package has been exposed it to air. Light spots appear on the surface, and it becomes dry and tough. Freezer burn makes food taste unpleasant but it does not make the food unsafe.

Keep a freezer thermometer handy to be sure the temperature remains at 0 degrees F. A full freezer maintains its temperature better than a half-empty one, but do not freeze too many items at one time. The heat given off by the non-frozen foods could raise the temperature in your freezer. Likewise, it is also important to keep the to-be-frozen foods away from the already-frozen foods; place the unfrozen items on the freezer floor for fastest freezing or on a specially designated freezer shelf.

It is best to thaw meat, poultry and seafood in the refrigerator rather than on your kitchen counter. If you need to thaw quickly, place the package in frequent changes of cold weater until it is ready for cooking. Thawing at room temperature or in hot water can be hazardous because it sets up the ideal warm environment for bacterial growth.

Foods can be cooked from the frozen state, but about 50% more cooking time must be added (a roast that normally would cook in four hours will take six hours from the frozen state).

Valuable Farm

110 Acres +/- Farm in Windsor Township, York County, Pa.

Attention Investors, Developers, Farmers

Here is a farm with outstanding potential. The land is mostly all clear and rolling with a view for miles. There is 20 acres or so surrounding the house & barns. The pasture has a stream. Very nice setting.

Road frontage galore. Approximatley 1673 feet on White Oak Rd. Approximately 880 feet on Craley Rd. and approximately 400 feet on Blacksmith Rd. Public sewer is along these roads on the South on a downhill grade. Public water is closeby on the West and Northwest. Other developments are popping up all around this property.

The farmstead has a 2 story frame home in good condition. The huge barns were used for beef cattle. There are 2 mobile homes on the property presently used as rental units. The valley with the farmstead would make a beautiful setting for a farmette.

If you are looking for a farm to farm this is a good one as there is very little unuseable land. The cropland is in good condition with good conservation practices.

Call for an appointment to see the boundaries.

Terms: 10% day of auction balance in 60 days. Balance of terms by Rob Lloyd of Stock & Leader - Attorney. Balance of terms day of auction.

Test Water Every 3 Years

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — Homeowners who draw their drinking water from a private well should have their water tested annually, said a Penn State researcher.

"The only way to be certain your drinking water is safe is to monitor it on a regular basis," said Dr. Paul Robillard, assistant professor of agricultural engineering in the College of Agricultural Sciences.

"To protect both family members and livestock, the water supply should be tested for bacteria and nitrates once a year, and for sulfates and pH levels at least once every three years," he said.

These tests provide an indication of the overall quality of your water, said Robillard. They detect possible contamination from sewage, manure, gas drilling, and mining activities.

A test for total coliform bacteria should be performed to determine whether sewage or manure has contaminated your water. A total bacteria count will indicate the presence of other organisms not necessarily associated with sewage.

"All private water supplies should be tested for nitrates," said Robillard. "Excessive concentrations of nitrates can cause health problems, such as blue baby syndrome in infants and young ruminant animals."

Nitrates in drinking water pose a minimal health threat for adults. But the presence of nitrates can indicate that other highly soluble compounds are leaching into groundwater.

"Tests for sulfates and other dissolved salts also can provide an indication of the quality of your drinking water," said Robillard. "Excessive concentration of certain salts can cause gastrointestinal problems in humans and animals."

"Water with a pH greater than 6.5 or less than 8.0 is within the safe range," said Robillard. "Corrosion can introduce lead and other dissolved metals into drinking water. Excessive lead concentrations are a health threat to everyone."

Both low and high pH water can adversely affect cattle and dairy cows. Low pH may increase problems related to acidosis and high pH may result in alkalosis problems.

In addition to monitoring private water supplies on a regular basis, homeowners also should test the water if there has been new mining or gas well drilling, a new water source developed, a change in the appearance, taste or odor of water, a change in a pump or plumbing, or a noticeable drop in dairy milk production.

For $10, the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources will test a water sample to determine whether it is bacteriologically safe. Information is available from a local DER office.

To learn more about water testing and to obtain a list of certified private laboratories that analyze water for private water supplies, request the free Penn State fact sheets, "Water Testing" and "Where to Have Your Water Tested" from your Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

Remodeling Livestock Buildings

The "best" remodeled building is often one that requires fewest modifications.

When an existing building must be changed drastically to meet current needs, consider constructing a new building. Analyze the existing building to determine if it is more suited for some other future purpose rather than the one you have in mind. For example, an uninsulated machine shed is easier to remodel for a swine breeding/gestation barn than for a farrowing or nursery facility. Therefore, consider a new building for the nursery and remodel the machine shed for gestation.

Remodeling is not always the cheaper route, either. When remodeling costs are more than 50-65 percent of the new building cost, a new building is usually best. Remodeling costs include any demolition of interior structural components and concrete floors. Consider cost and availability of construction labor. Because of the many "unknowns" in remodeling, many farm builders are hesitant to accept remodeling jobs.

Before remodeling, carefully evaluate the existing building's structure, consider location, and plan for suitable manure management.

Keeping Hogs Cool This Summer

When the thermometer hits 90°F, hogs reach the "upper critical temperature" according to the National Pork Producer Council's "Swine Care Handbook."

Water-based cooling systems are the best way to keep hogs comfortable when temperatures rise. Drippers, misters, sprayers, and evaporative methods are some of the water-based cooling systems available.

If you use drippers, make sure the water outlets are not clogged. The same applies to mister nozzles and sprinklers.

A hypodermic needle will sometimes work to unclog drippers. The relatively low cost of dripper nozzles makes replacing them a reasonable option.

Check automatic timers on these units as well. If you don't have drippers, now is the time to install them — they'll pay for themselves in one summer. When temperatures exceed 85°F., sows take in 40 percent less feed and reduce milk production about 40 percent. This, of course, will translate to a drop in litter weights and potentially increase preweaning mortality.

USDA Dedicated To Safe Meat Supply

Ensuring the public's health by assuring a safe meat and poultry supply is a premium goal for the United States Department of Agriculture. Dr. Jill Hollingsworth with the Food Safety and Inspection Service of the USDA said this country has the safest meat and poultry supply in the world, but even good safety procedures can always become better.

"We realize that we have to take a different approach to food safety procedures. We've been working on it, we've made some changes, we've modernized, but progress has been extremely slow," she said. "An outbreak like E.coli certainly raises everyone's sensitivities. We have a new administration — a new secretary who's very focused on food safety and has it as a high priority. So it's basically opened up a window of opportunity for us to move faster than we ever have before."

Hollingsworth said to accomplish a better inspection system a two-track plan has been developed. The first step, after answering the many questions, is a short-range goal and would incorporate a pathogen reduction strategy, as well as continually educating the public.

"What can we do on the farm to make the animals going to slaughter safer?" she said. "What can we do in the are of slaughter and when the meat is processed to make it safer? Then we have a very strong component with the consumers, because no matter what we do right now, no matter how much science we apply, we cannot guarantee that raw meat and poultry products will be pathogen free. These are animals, pathogens live in these animals. Animals aren't sick from these pathogens, people get sick from the pathogens. So what we have to do is be sure the consumer understands they play a very important role in food safety."

Hollingsworth adds that the second step is a long-range goal that starts from scratch designing the best food safety inspection system possible and using expertise from around the world.

Hollingsworth was one of 25 prominent food safety experts, along with representatives from the National Livestock and Meat Board, that met for a roundtable discussion on food safety earlier this spring.

Livestock Ledger

Emu Production

"Emu" comes from the Portuguese word "ema," meaning large bird. The second largest of the world's flightless birds, surpassed only by the ostrich, is classified as a ratite — flightless running bird with no keel on the breastbone. When fully grown, the Emu stands 5 to 6 feet tall and weighs an average of 120 pounds and can weigh up to 150 pounds.

Emu farming is becoming quite popular in the eastern part of the United States in the last five years. This type of alternative livestock enterprise lends itself to small and part-time farming because land and management requirements are minimal. The Emu is tolerant of adverse weather conditions.

There are several ways to establish an Emu operation. Here are some alternatives:

• You can purchase emu eggs and hatch the chicks yourself. This method is lowest in cost but highest in risk. Eggs cannot be candled or guaranteed fertile — a sound knowledge of emu egg incubation is required.

• Another alternative is to purchase chicks at three months old (highest mortality rate is before three months). It is more expensive than eggs or hatchlings but will probably prove more cost effective, because the mortality rate is greatly reduced and breeding uncertainty is eliminated.

• Another alternative is to purchase yearlings or young adults. More expensive than chicks, under this method eggs should be produced within two years.

• The most costly method is to purchase a proven breeder pair (birds that have laid and produced fertile eggs together). This method will allow production to begin in the next season.

As with any enterprise, the prospective Emu producer needs to research potential markets. The producer should realize that Emu markets are not limited to local buyers and national distribution should be investigated.

The major market for Emus is breeding stock. However, Emu oil, leather, and meat are also marketable items. The oil of the Emu is used in skin care and pharmaceutical products, the skin for high quality leather products, and the meat is a low-caloric, low-fat alternative to beef.

Unfortunately, the present markets for Emu leather, oil, and meat are not well established. Producers largely depend on the breeder market to make a profit in emu production.

Watch Out For "Farmer" Tans

Summer is here, and that "healthy" tan you get from working outside could eventually turn into a very unwelcome condition.

Farmers, like any other people who work outdoors, are at an increased risk for skin cancer. The traditional and useful "baseball cap" is effective in shielding the eyes and forehead from the sun, but leaves other parts of the head, especially the ears, neck, and temples, poorly protected.

Skin cancer strikes more than 600,000 people in the United States each year, killing approximately 8,500 of them.

To protect yourself, the National Farm Medicine Center recommends three easy steps. First, apply a sunscreen with a sun protection factor of a least 15 each morning. This allows you to stay in the sun about 15 times longer than you could without sunblock. Second, wear long-sleeved, tightly woven, cotton shirts, long pants, and a wide-brimmed hat. Step three is to follow steps one and two year-round.

SMOOTH OPERATOR

When you need to get in and out smoothly and quickly, look at our line of L-Series tractors with Glide Shift Transmission (GST). Designed for a wide range of farm and utility chores, our direct-injection Kubota diesel engine tractors come with 23.5 to 33 PTO HP.

These versatile and rugged tractors are designed specifically for the farmer or light construction professional who needs the ability to shift gears without stopping or clutching to move hay, dirt, fertilizer and other materials. And, you'll save time, fuel and unnecessary wear and tear on the engine.

So, if you want a tractor that is dependable, efficient and available with a wide range of implements and special features, take a look at our smooth operators – the Kubota L-Series line with GST.

Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a full line of tractors through a nationwide network of over 1,000 dealers.

New Stall From Tri-County

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Tri-County Confinement Systems, a specialist in hog barn construction, has introduced a new confinement stall. Designed for human convenience, animal safety, and durability, the new stall was developed and tested on Tri-County's research and development farms.

For convenience, flat top rails and a short back gate provide easy access for pregnancy testing and visual inspection. In addition, both front and rear gates open either left or right.

The stall features no sharp edges, a design that reduces the chance of injury to both animals and humans.

To provide maximum strength, the stall uses horizontal solid steel rod design. The steel rods run through punched uprights for support. In addition, to restrict corrosion, which normally occurs where the stall meets the floor, the Tri-County stall features stainless steel front foot pads and rear legs.

The confinement stall is available with several options: a feed drop pipe made of heavy duty steel and welded in place, a rear mounting strap with bolts welded in place, and a breeding stall configuration with straight back and tall rear door, which opens left or right.

The stalls are 86 inches long and 41 inches high and available in widths from 21 inches to 24 inches.

For more information, contact Tri-County Confinement Systems, 608 Evergreen Road, Lebanon, PA 17042, (717) 274-3488.

Pennfield Promotes 3

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Pennfield Corporation Feed Marketing Division is pleased to announce the following promotions within its expanding Dairy Feed Sales Marketing Division:

Donald C. Snyder has been promoted to the newly created position of regional manager, dairy feed sales. Snyder will have responsibility for eight sales people, tonnage, and marketing programs in Pennfield's western sales area. Don joined Pennfield in December 1983.

Herbert Bonnice, Jr. has been promoted to the position of senior sales representative. He will be responsible for the development of all dairy tons in Pennfield's northern market area and supervises one other sales district. Bonnice joined Pennfield in September 1990.

Richard K. Stehr has also been promoted to the position of senior sales representative. He is responsible for the development of dairy tons in eastern Lancaster County and supervises one sales district. Stehr joined Pennfield in January 1988.

Badger's Agri Service Top Dealer

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. — Stahl Manufacturing, Inc. (manufacturer and distributor of replacement parts for Harvestore structures and unloaders), announced that Badger's Agri Service, Inc. is their top volume dealer for 1992.

This is the second consecutive year that Brian and Marlene have won this award. They were in attendance at Clarksville to receive this award. They increased their purchases from Stahl approximately 35 percent over 1991.

While attending the dealer meeting recently, Badger's Agri Service also received awards for Top Ten Dealer and member of the Century Club.

Aerotech Introduces Classic™ Fan Line

LANSING, Mich. — The classic fans that have made Aerotech, Inc., a leader in ventilation performance and value for more than 40 years now have a new name, Classic, and new options and accessories.

Classic fans, ranging from 9 inches to 48 inches in size, feature outstanding performance and durability, plus a broader range of configurations and options.

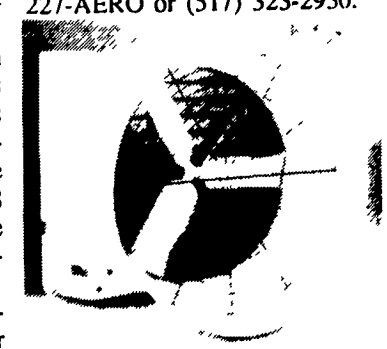
Classic fans are available with galvanized steel panels, or, for corrosive environments, fiberglass panels. Aerotech's cast-aluminum propeller is available on all fans with galvanized-steel panels and on 9 inch to 24 inch Classic fans with fiberglass panels. On 36 inch to 48 inch fans with galvanized-steel panels, low-cost galvanized-steel props are also available. All 36 inch to 48 inch fiberglass-panel fans come with polymer-coated, galvanized-steel propellers.

Housing options include galvanized steel or stainless steel for 14 inch to 24 inch fans. For 36 inch to 48 inch fans, choose straight, tilt, or recirculation housings.

Discharge cones, which can boost performance by up to 20 percent, are available on all 14 inch to 48 inch fans. Weatherhoods and guards are also available.

And, all-aluminum, galvanized-frame/aluminum blade or all-plastic shutters are available on 14 inch to 48 inch fans.

Aerotech markets a full-line of environmental control products, including fans, evaporative cooling systems, heaters, and controls. For more information, contact Aerotech, Inc., 929 Terminal Road, Lansing, MI 48906, (800) 227-AERO or (517) 323-2930.



Shown is the Aerotech 48-inch fan with fiberglass panel, polymer-coated propeller, and fiberglass discharge cone with guard.

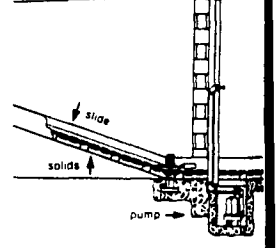
Thinking Manure Auger? Consider a Better Alternative — 9000/9000S Liquid Transfer System



Removes liquids from the gutter while manure goes up the slide.

- Liquids flow through a screen in the gutter bottom
- Submersible pump moves the liquids through 2" PVC pipe to manure spreader or other discharge point
- Solves overflow problems of leaky drinking cups and pipes
- Also, for milk waste water and other liquids
- Installs easily anytime

SAFETY! It's no accident

Mixing T.M.R. the Way You Want

Open-Top Mixers

- Four notched augers mix fast--even square-baled dry alfalfa in limited amounts
- Self-aligning auger bearings mounted outside Flanged auger tubes for easy removal
- Planetary gear reducer and roller chain reduction power the augers. Roller chains operate in sealed oil bath
- On trailer models, the discharge door and discharge augers are controlled hydraulically

Stationary auger mixers

Tumble Mixers

- Tumble mixing plus a central spiral circulator moving ingredients to the back of the drum while fliting moves ingredients forward.
- No internal bearings
- Low maintenance — only 3 grease fittings.

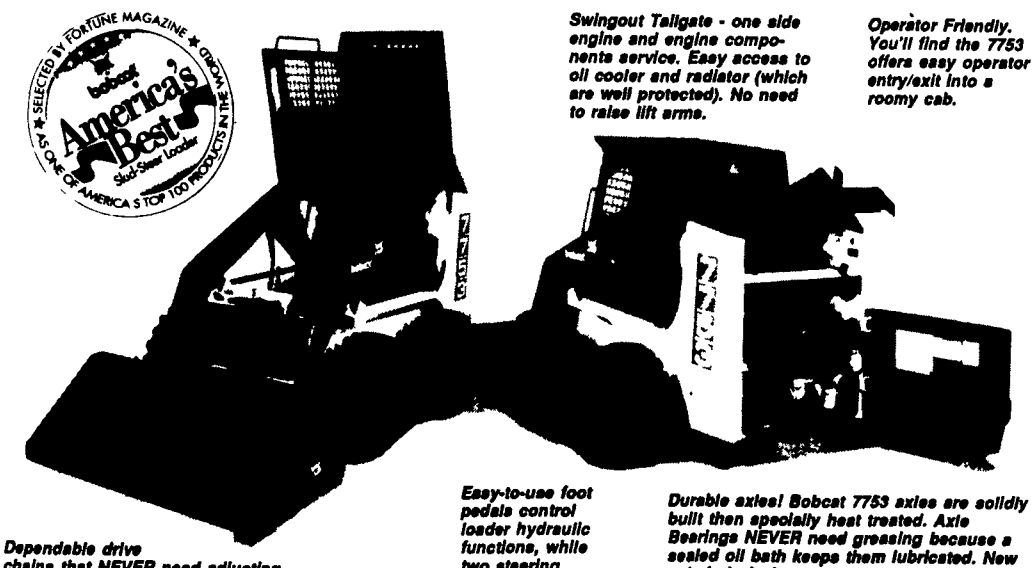
Bobcat 7753 Long-Wheelbase Skid-Steer Loader

It's What's Inside That Counts!



Swingout Tailgate - one side engine and engine components service. Easy access to oil cooler and radiator (which are well protected). No need to raise lift arms.

Operator Friendly. You'll find the 7753 offers easy operator entry/exit into a roomy cab.

Dependable drive chains that NEVER need adjusting. The "bow tie" design uses prestressed, heavy-duty drive chains in two short continuous loops per side. That means long-life in the most rugged use and NO periodic, time-consuming drive chain adjustments.

Easy-to-use foot pedals control loader hydraulic functions, while two steering levers allow precise maneuverability.

Durable axles! Bobcat 7753 axles are solidly built then specially heat treated. Axle Bearings NEVER need greasing because a sealed oil bath keeps them lubricated. New axle hub design protects axle seal from damage from wire or twine. Hub is easily removed if service is required.

Experience America's Best.

Melroe company has over 30 years of skid-steer loader experience – longer than anyone else. That's one of the reasons Fortune Magazine has twice recognized the Bobcat loader as one of the 100 products "America Builds Best."

Reliable Components.

Other than a few daily checks and fills, you can rely on the PERFORMANCE of the 7753 Bobcat. It has been designed and built with durability and low maintenance in mind.

Great Serviceability!

The Bobcat 7753 has been designed to be serviced quickly. For example, there's single-side access to the transversely-mounted engine, a lift-out oil cooler for easy cleaning and a tip-up cab to expose hydraulic and hydrostatic components for entry. For repairs, the exclusive BOSS® System can help quickly diagnose system problems. These features, along with a factory-trained service technicians and "top-shelf" parts availability, mean your loader can be back on the job in no time.

TOTAL HAND CONTROL!

Dealer-Installed Option!

- Easy Wrist-Action Control.
- Push-Button Auxiliary Hydraulics For Total Hand Control. (Available only on 50 Series loaders. 40 Series loaders utilize foot pedal to activate auxiliary hydraulics.)
- Easy-Grip Handle.

FASTBALLS, POP-UPS, SACRIFICE FLIES AND FARMING

Alan W. Strock
Farm Management
Extension Agent

Did you ever think about how successful farming is like successful baseball?

The successful farmer and the the successful baseball player, team, and/or manager have many things in common.

Now that the baseball season is in full swing and the Philadelphia Phillies are making mincemeat of the rest of the National League, it's a good time to discuss these similarities.

Since a baseball team has nine players on the field, nine ways that baseball and farming are similar follows.

Eye On The Ball

First: Keep your eye on the ball. Farmers must always keep their eye on their mission, goals, and objectives of their farm. The mission may be to provide a high standard of living and comfortable retirement for the farm family, or to enjoy being one's own boss, or enjoy the outdoor, rural family living environment that provides ample time for recreation, spiritual, and personal growth for all involved.

Farmers often get caught up in the daily grind of chores and forget the big picture of why they are really farming. Almost all successful business people have set lofty goals at the start of their career and never loose sight of that goal or mission.

Be Strong Up The Middle

Second: To win, you must be strong up the middle. The "middle" for today's farmer is his/her financial management ability, the financial health of the business, and the high but cost-effective productivity of the farm's crops and livestock. If the farm employs additional labor, the manager must also be a strong capable labor manager. How the farmer manages his assets is more important than the amount of effort that he or she puts into the business.

Expect The Heater!

Third: Always be ready for a curve, but expect a fastball. Farmers need to make cash flow projections using their own five- or 10-year averages, but must always allow for the farmer's version of the curveball, a drought, a flood, a wet spring, or low commodity prices. Farmers need to be flexible in their financial planning, their building plans, and their cropping and feeding programs.

Cover All Bases

Fourth: Cover all the bases. As baseball has four infielders and a catcher to cover all the bases, farmers should at least annually complete a balance sheet, a profit and loss statement, and a whole farm analysis. Budgets and cash flows for all the farm enterprises should be completed.

Farmers should know if their breeding replacement program is profitable and if their various crop enterprises are profitable. Also educate to your weaknesses and hire consultants to complement and to cover the bases you don't want to or can't. Have a network of consultants that includes extension agents and specialists, veterinarians, DHIA supervisor, feed salesman, artificial inseminator, mechanics and machinery salesmen, crop experts, legal advisors, bankers, accountants, and other successful farmers.

Back Up The Play

Fifth: Back up the play. As baseball players must move from their fielding position to back up a base in expectation of an overthrow, farmers must make contingency plans for when the unexpected happens.

Farmers need insurance to cover the prospective losses they can't self-insure. Consider crop insurance especially if you live in a droughty area. Keep two to six months of personal family living expenses in cash or near cash investments in case of a disability, other tragedy, or extremely low commodity prices.

Poor Defenses Lose

Sixth: A poor defense costs wins. Farmers must have plans to defend against disease, poor production, and financial disasters.

Defend the misuse of your time. Proper time management rather than money is the key ingredient to farm, family, and marketing success.

Sacrifices Are Required!

Seventh: Sometime sacrifice bunts and flies are needed to score. Farmers at times need to sacrifice money and their personal time to be successful. Sometimes farm improvements and additions are needed worse than house improvements or additions.

To keep the next generation interested in the farm, the older generation must allow the younger one to make mistakes even though it may cost some money. Don't be afraid to try new innovations even if failure is a real possibility. Sacrifice some ground to do on-the-farm research and development experiments as well as variety trials.

Be A Team Player And Leader

Eighth: Be a team player. The most successful farmers are active in their community, church, farm organizations, and/or social groups, and/or have a hobby or some other avenue of release from the strain and routine of farming. They realize they need to farm to live, not live to farm.

Many successful farmers are industry leaders in cooperatives and/or other farm organizations, and are the real decision makers on many of the managing boards because of their progressive thoughts, attitudes, and actions.

Avoid Expensive Free Agents

Ninth: Expensive free agents don't necessarily bring championships. Expensive feed and forage additives, storage facilities, bulls, cows, sows, and boars don't necessarily yield higher profits. All expenses, whether operating expenses or capital assets, must yield a positive return.

So, in closing, as the great Yogi Berra once said, "When you get to the fork in the road, take it!"

ASA Commends Ag Advice

ST. LOUIS, Md. — The American Soybean Association (ASA) commends the House Agriculture Committee's recent 26-11 vote to restore use of the soybean loan by eliminating the two percent loan origination fee.

"There was strong sentiment among the congressmen to revive the loan program program and make it useable again," said ASA first vice president and South Dakota soybean farmer Larry Diedrich. "And although this is not a done deal, the fact the House Ag Committee made this recommendaton as part of their budget reconciliation plan demonstrates the depth of their concern for soybean farmers."

The loan origination fee has reduced the effectiveness of the marketing loan by discouraging program participation. According to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), the origination fee has cut loan activity in half from projected 1992 levels by increasing effective interest rates well above commercial levels and ASCS has projected use will continue to decline.

The two percent loan orgination fee on the $5.02 per bushel marketing loan is 10 cents. That effectively reduces the loan to $4.92 per bushel, but farmers are required to pay back the $5.02 amount with interest if local prices are above that level. If the fee were removed, farmers would have a $4.92 per bushel income support and lower effective interest rates.

Congressman Tim Johnson (D-SD) offered the amendment in the House, which was subsequently supported by Bill Emerson (R-MO), Harold Volkmer (D-MO) and Pat Roberts (R-KS).

CONSIDERING A CAREER IN AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERING?

Dr. Dennis E. Buffington
Ag and Biological Engineering

Have you ever considered a career in agricultural engineering? There are many exciting career opportunities in agricultural engineering that relate to the poultry industry as well as all other facets of agriculture.

Agricultural engineering involves the application of engineering principles to agricultural and biological systems that are of great concern to our society today. Career opportunities are in the areas of food and fiber production, food processing, and conservation management of land and water resources. Employment opportunities for agricultural engineers are undoubtedly going to increase as the world populations continue to demand more abundant supplies of nutritious, high quality food as well as clean water and preservation of other natural resources.

Students find the courses in agricultural engineering to be very interesting and stimulating. The curriculum provides thorough training in mathematics, physics, and the engineering sciences common to all engineering disciplines. In addition, students receive specialized training in biological and agricultural sciences. The courses in this major include food engineering, design of mechanical and structural systems, environmental systems for plant and animal growth, computer controls, and natural resources management and utilization. All students are encouraged to become active members of the Penn State student branch of American Society of Agricultural Engineers in order to learn more about the profession.

Agricultural engineering students are eligible to participate in the co-op, a program for those students who want to gain professional engineering experiences while they are continuing their studies. Co-op students alternate semesters between working as engineering trainees for a company or governmental agency and taking classes at Penn State.

The first semester of work is generally the spring semester of the junior year. After working one semester, the co-op student returns to campus for one semester and then returns to work for the following semester. This pattern is continued until the co-op student has earned one year of professional engineering experiences by the time of graduation.

Graduates are employed as soil and water conservation engineers, food engineers, structural engineers, environmental control engineers, and machinery engineers. Graduates are also employed as engineering consultants. Agricultural engineers work in various capacities in the areas of design, development, testing, research, management, applications, sales, education, and service.

Decisions that people are now making about their careers are important. Anyone with an interest in agricultural engineering is invited to call collect at (814) 865-7792 so that we can discuss career opportunities and any other issues of concern. I will provide any additional information concerning agricultural engineering, or any other major at Penn State. Also, please feel welcome to visit the Agricultural and Biological Engineering Department at Penn State to learn more about career opportunities in the profession.

Requests for further information should be directed to Dennis E. Buffington, Professor and Head, Department of Agricultural and Biological Engineering, 249 Agricultural Engineering Building, Penn State University, University Park, PA 16802.

New Gate Hinge Bracket For Steel T-Posts

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Wouldn't it be nice to hang a gate from a steel T-post?

Now you can with American FarmWorks' new Wedge-Loc gate hinge. The all-aluminum hinge bolts securely to any size steel T-post and swings up to a 10 foot gate. For wider openings, up to 20 feet, you can swing gates from both sides.

The Wedge-Loc gate hinge eliminates the need for wooden gate posts, digging post holes, or drilling holes for hinge pins. Simply drive a steel T-post wherever you need a gate and bolt on a Wedge-Loc gate hinge. The pin lock design prevents livestock or people from lifting the gate off its hinges. The Wedge-Loc gate hinge lets you easily move gates from one location to another.

American FarmWorks' Gate Hinge is part of the Wedge-Loc T-post bracing system. Other Wedge-Loc hardware lets you build end and corner braces using only T-posts. There are also brackets that hold plywood and planks to T-posts for woodsheds, kennels, and other enclosures.

For more information on the Wedge-Loc Gate Hinge and other Wedge-Loc hardware, contact American FarmWorks, (800) 437-1839.

WHEELING
Channeldrain
ROOFING & SIDING
Exclusive drain channel guards against wind, rain and snow...assures dryness.
1. Wide overlap: Increases strength and leak protection at each joint.
2. Wide nailing surface: Makes nailing easier and faster.
3. Drain channel: the exclusive leak-proof system that prevents capillary action; stays weather tight. This Wheeling feature has insured "dry barns" for thousands of farmers over the past 50 years.

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

Testimonial from a very satisfied customer

The Beaver Fence Systems are tops! We installed 1 mile of their fence on our farm on Feb. 3, 1993, full size post, 3-1/2 feet deep, excellent braces. We used 5 strand (2 elec.) high tensil, all in place in just 8-1/2 hours! The fence is as straight as an arrow-excellent equipment-very efficient work!

"I am a hard man to convince, but after I saw how Beaver built the fence, I'm ready to put my digging iron away," says David W. Brubaker of Honey Grove Acres, RD1, Box 629 Honey Grove, PA 17035

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds
BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.
MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.
ON-FARM MIXING
A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that
• BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
• BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
• BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
• BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds
5 Gal. Container, 55 Gal. Drum or Bulk

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- ◆ Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels
- ◆ Improved energy density of your rations.
- ◆ Excellent quality control.
- ◆ Exchange programs with feed mills.
- ◆ Economical storage, rolling and grinding available
- ◆ We also buy corn and soybeans

EBY AGRI-DUMP BODIES

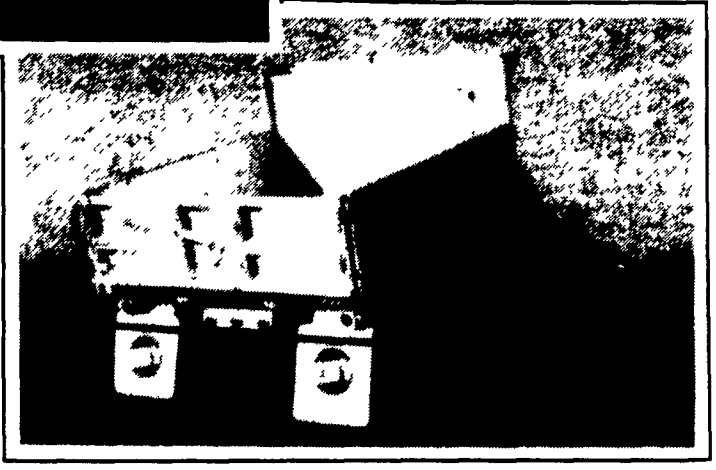
Rugged...built like a heavy dump truck

Eby Aluminum Agri-Dump Bodies pay off in dependable long-term service. Their all-aluminum construction means:

- Greater payload efficiency
- Maintenance-free service
- Substantially higher resale value.

Eby's time-tested design is available in lengths to 24' for grain bodies and 10½' for general purpose dump bodies. A long list of standard features such as tarp rail, built-in steps, aerodynamic uprights and Harsh hoist is complemented by a full range of custom options, including tailgates, Wahpeton tarps and grain chute.

When you select your next grain body or general purpose dump body, consider the value that aluminum offers. It's a worry-free investment in your future.



CHECK OUT THESE FEATURES/BENEFITS

- Up to 40% lighter than steel, for greater payload
- Designed for long life
- Resale value
- Corrosion resistant, never needs painting
- Appearance to complement any truck
- Complete list of popular options, including tailgates, tarps and sides

STANDARD SPECIFICATIONS

- 6" heavy-duty extruded longitudinal sills
- 3" crossmembers on 12" centers on body lengths to 14'; 4" crossmembers on 12" centers on lengths over 14'
- 5"x1¾" extruded side posts, slanted for improved aerodynamics; 3"x2" heavy wall top rail
- .125" thich side sheets; .188" thick floor sheet (.250" thickness optional)
- Single acting tailgate with center flow chute, hinged top
- Rear ladder rung with step mounted on mud-flap bracket
- Includes mudflaps, aluminum splash shield, ICC-approved bumper and lights.

GRAIN BODIES

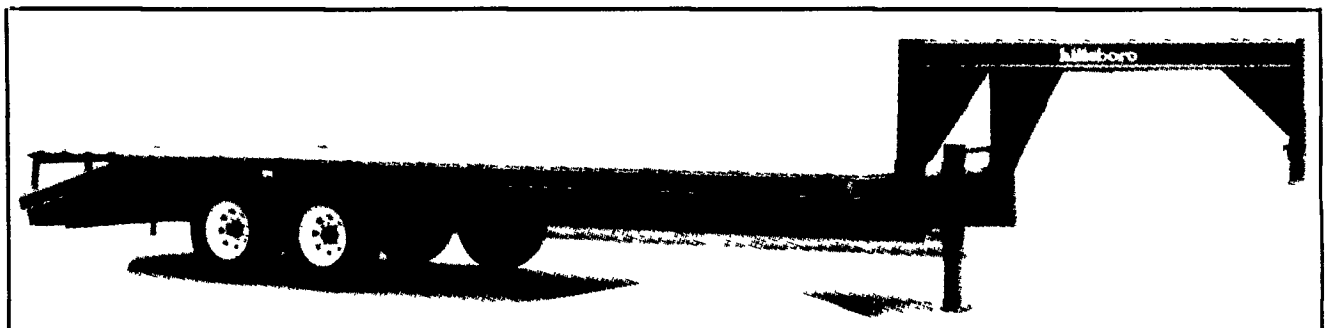
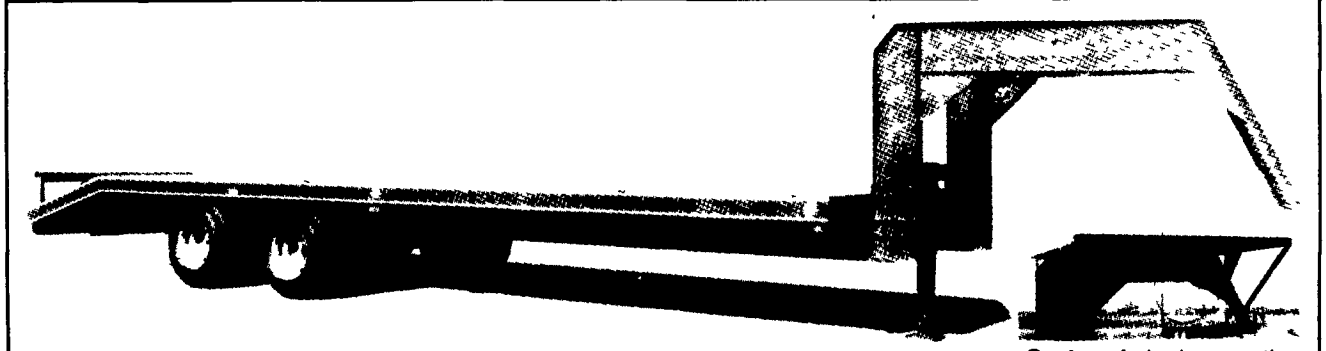
hillsboro
flatbed trailer
with flip-up beaver tail



24 Foot Length Shown



28 Foot Length Shown

Optional deck over the neck is 7½ 'x8'

The FLIP-UP BEAVERTAIL raises and lowers in seconds -- slide out ramps are stored under the beavertail The Hillsboro Flatbed features a full 96" deck width which is more value than the competition

The Hillsboro Flatbed is available in two styles, the 20' and 24' trailer with standard neck, and the 28', 30' and 32' trailer with heavy duty neck.

VERSATILE — RUGGED — RELIABLE and REASONABLY PRICED!

The Hillsboro Flatbed Trailer with flip-up beavertail can be the one trailer that means lower cost for you. Here's why!!

VERSATILITY! That's what makes a Hillsboro trailer such a good investment. With the beavertail down it's an excellent trailer for moving wheeled equipment. Flip the beavertail up and it adds an extra four feet of deck space for hauling hay and other bulky loads.

HERE'S WHAT HILLSBORO QUALITY MEANS - All Hillsboro trailers are manufactured in precise jigs and fixtures which assures excellent alignment of axles, a better pulling trailer, a level and square trailer.

HILLSBORO WORKMANSHIP INCLUDES-Exceptional weld quality, material that is chemically cleaned, two coats of high quality paint, material strength engineered into the best flatbed value.

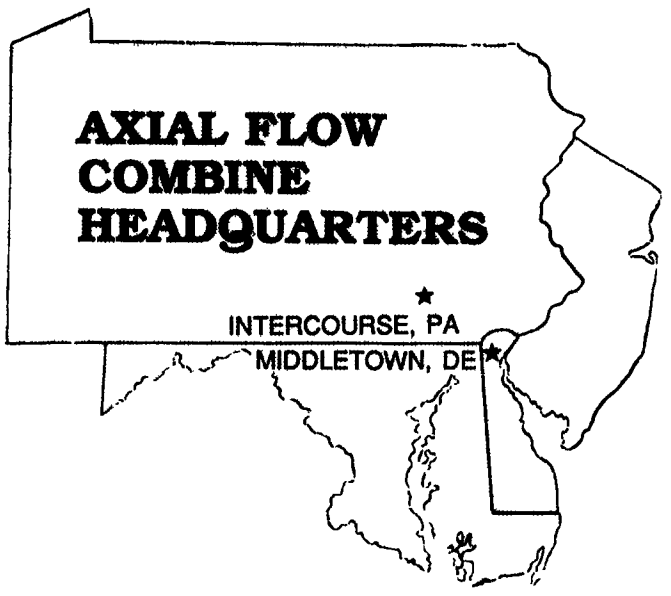
CARTER 1993



Case IH made the BEST COMBINE BETTER!

The ROTOR is still the HEART of the AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE but check out these changes in the NEW MODELS...

- MORE HORSEPOWER...
  The 1644 has more engine HP than the model 1460 manufactured up to 1985... and the 1666 has more engine HP than the model 1480 manufactured up to 1985...

MODEL	HORSEPOWER
1644	- 180
1666	- 215
1688	- 260

- LONGER SIEVES...
  Both the chaffer and shoe sieves are 13" longer than previous models increasing the cleaning area by 25.9%...

- CROSS FLOW FAN...
  Patented chevron design moves air evenly over the entire sieve surface giving excellent grain quality in all kinds of crops...

- FIELD TRACKER...
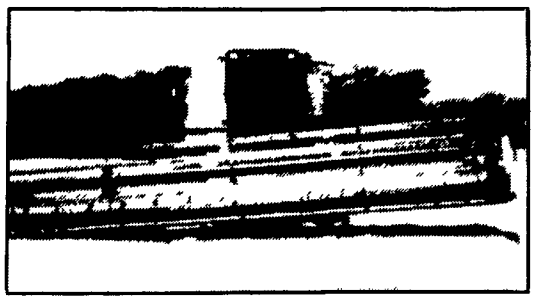
  Permits the header to follow ground contours, independent of the combine by automatically tilting from side to side in response to terrain changes...



You'll find the BEST COMBINE at C.B. HOOBER & SON INC., where you also get the BEST COMBINE SERVICE!

Too Much Meat Could Mean Lean Year

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Consumers probably will pay less for some meats this year, but low prices caused by booming production could make 1993 a lean year for some livestock producers, said a market expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"This may not be a banner year for the livestock industry," said H. Louis Moore, professor of agricultural economics. "Total red meat and poultry production will be about 60 billion pounds, up two billion from last year's record and about 10 percent more than 1990. This level of production will keep prices for meat animals low. There's just too much meat for any segment of the livestock industry to be very profitable throughout 1993."

The recovering economy should boost consumer demand for meat, however. "Per capita consumption of all meats will be about 212 pounds this year, up three pounds from last year's record," Moore said. "But real disposable income probably will increase only 1 to 2 percent. This rather sluggish consumer income growth will put more downward pressure on livestock and poultry prices."

Moore expects most of the production increase to come from poultry and pork. "Based on the December pig crop report, pork output should increase about 4 percent, broilers about 4 percent and turkey about 3 percent," he said.

Beef production should rise about 2 percent in 1993. "Beef prices are currently high because of bad wetaher and slow gains of cattle in feedlots, but prices are likely to fall by several dollars when the weather market is over," Moore said.

Veal output for the year probably will drop about 1 percent, while lamb will rise 3 percent. "Their production levels make lamb and veal minor production items," Moore said. "Lamb and veal combined now account for only 1 percent of red meat and poultry production.

"Hog prices at Pennsylvania markets should range in the mid $40's most of the year," he said. "This is despite last year's 8 percent production increase and an expected 4 percent increase in 1993. The hog industry has become more competitive with poultry and has developed a favorable image with consumers."

Livestock producers should more than break even thanks to inexpensive feed. "The record 9.48 billion bushel corn crop from 1992 is cheap and of fairly poor quality, and eventually will be fed to livestock," Moore said. "Cheap feed will help producers keep costs down, and most beef, pork, and poultry producers will cover all of their cash costs in 1993. This may encourage more production in 1994, especially if the economy continues to improve."

Farmers Launch Weed Air Attack

WILMINGTON, Del. — Farmers and ranchers have a new option to control weeds this spring in hard-to-reach areas in pastures and rangeland.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has approved the aerial application of Ally herbicide, giving farmers more flexibility in keeping weeds such as musk thistle, a noxious weed, from spreading in fields and reducing beef production. Registered for use on pasture and rangeland for the past three years, the herbicide had been labeled for ground application only.

Being able to control weeds by air is an important option to beef producers, explained Reginald Young, DuPont product manager.

"Ally offers improved safety and weed control, but the past restriction requiring application by ground rigs only was a limitation to producers," Young said.

"Aerial application gives producers more flexibility in their weed control programs to maximize production. For example, they can now cover rugged terrain to keep weeds from getting established and becoming a source of later problems. It also helps them with large acreages where spraying is impractical with ground equipment. And it gives them greater flexibility to work around unfavorable weather and wet field conditions."

A broad-spectrum broadleaf herbicide, Ally is used by producers in the spring to control problem weeds including musk thistle, bolting musk thistle, common broomweed, marestail, pigweed, kochia, cocklebur, wild carrot, and buckbrush. Other advantages include crop safety, low use rates, reduced pesticide load to the environment, a wide application window, and residual activity.

Specialists note that weed control is an important part of an overall pasture management program to maximize forage and beef production.

"By eliminating broadleaf weeds using herbicides like Ally, the yield and quality of the available forage increases. Producers can run more head per acre and realize an increased daily gain," Young said. " And, since there is no grazing restriction — even for lactating dairy animals — producers don't have to worry about the problems of moving stock. The bottom line is that producers can improve the efficiency of their beef production two ways: overall weight gain and convenience."

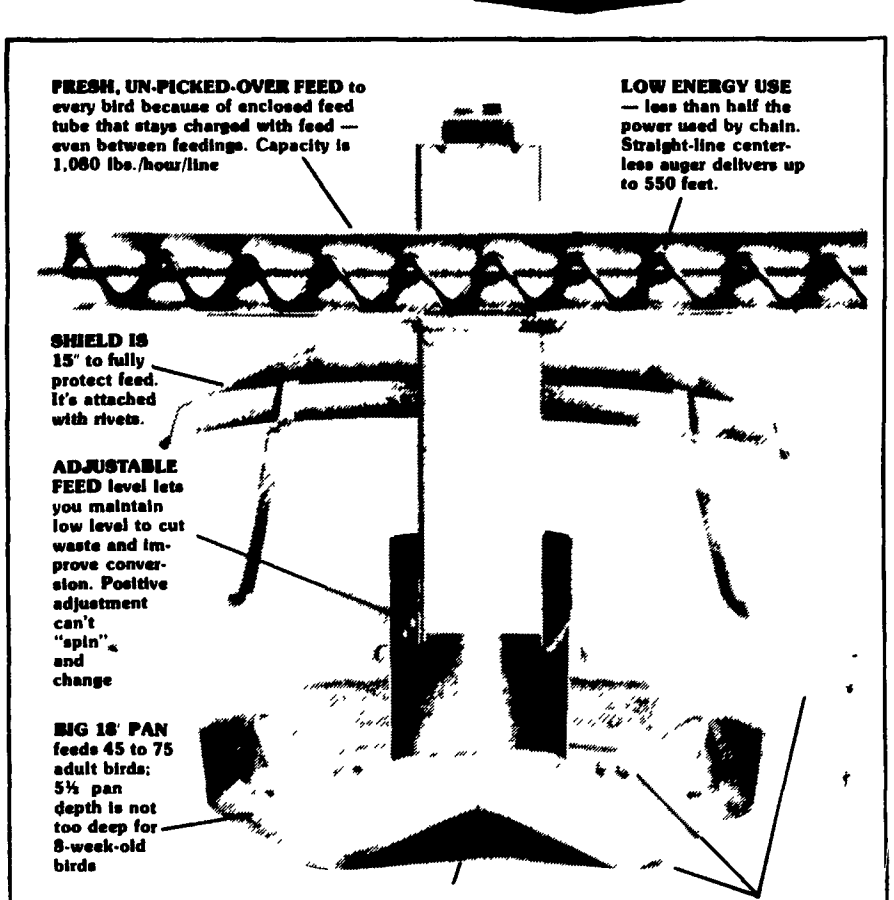
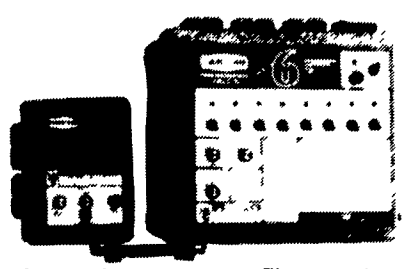
Contracts for new and updated turkey houses using CHORE-TIME equipment



FRESH, UN-PICKED-OVER FEED to every bird because of enclosed feed tube that stays charged with feed — even between feedings. Capacity is 1,080 lbs./hour/line
LOW ENERGY USE — less than half the power used by chain. Straight-line centerless auger delivers up to 550 feet.
SHIELD IS 15" to fully protect feed. It's attached with rivets.
ADJUSTABLE FEED level lets you maintain low level to cut waste and improve conversion. Positive adjustment can't "spin" and change
BIG 18" PAN feeds 45 to 75 adult birds; 5½ pan depth is not too deep for 8-week-old birds
LONG-LASTING because it's designed just for turkeys. 20 ga. galvanized steel, no bolts or screws.
BUILT-IN HIGH CONE distributes feed in pan, avoids build-up in tube.
FEED-SAVER FEATURES: unique "V" pan shape lets you maintain a low level; feed-saver ring; 2½" pan lip to catch feed.
Now Available With New All-Plastic Pan
10-YEAR AUGER warranty: no one else comes close

Chore-Time H2 ALL-PLASTIC FEEDER floods feeder pan with plenty of feed to attract and start poults from the first day.



Chore-Time SUPER 6™ curtain-sided ventilation made easy

Chore-Time SUPER 6™ Environmental Control System takes the work out of operating curtain ventilation — and does it without requiring anyone to be a computer expert! SUPER 6 accurately and automatically "supervises" your building's ventilation during hot, cold, and even during natural ventilation periods — doing automatically what most hog producers are attempting to do by hand.

Young Farmers Hold Banquet

FAWN GROVE (York Co.) — The Kennard-Dale Young Farmers Association has awarded its outstanding Community Service Award to Mr. and Mrs. David Gemmill at the 27th annual banquet.

A savings bond was presented to the Gemmill's on behalf of the York Bank in recognition of their exceptional contribution to the community.

The Gemmills own and operate a dairy farm in Delta. In addition David Gemmill is a Dekalb dealer, member of the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers, member of the Southern States Board of Directors, Delta area Little League president, and former president of the Kennard-Dale Young Farmers Association.

The association also inducted the 1993-94 officers at the banquet: Alan Yost, president; William Rinas, vice president; Charles Richardson, secretary; Dwight Hedrick, treasuer; and Mark Hushon, director of public relations.

Philip Loht of Kunzler & Company of Lancaster was the guest speaker for the evening. More than 35 door prizes were donated by local merchants and individuals.

AGRICULTURE'S LEADING EDGE FFA

PREVENT PIGLET CRUSHING

MODEL 90
FARROWING CRATE

Constructed from heavy gauge materials this crate is designed to reduce crushing, with sow comfort in mind. The bowed bottom bars makes for a comfortable 33" crate width when the sow lays down, yet the adjustable anti-crush bars eliminates the sow from carelessly dropping on the piglets. This movement restriction does not hamper the sow as she lays down, or wants to stand up, as the bars slide up and out of her way.

Speakers Discuss Nutrition, Production, Marketing At Layer Seminar

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Poultry nutritionists and specialists attending a seminar at the Hershey Convention Center here were told the presence of oyster shells in layer rations is effective in improving shell quality even when diets contain generous levels of calcium.

Dr. Kavous Keshavarz, of Cornell University, reviewed research on calcium requirements at a seminar on nutrition, production, and marketing hosted by The Fox Company of Newfield, N.J. and American Stone-Mix, Towson, Md.

Andrew Wadsworth, general manager of the Egg Farm Division of Wegman Food Stores, Wolcott, N.Y., told attendees Wegman decided to build their own egg production facilities when they were unable to get adequate supplies of eggs that met their standards of high quality.

As part of their quality assurance program, Wadsworth said they add oyster shell to pullets' diets at 16 weeks of age and include them in all rations through 79 weeks of age at the completion of the laying cycle.

Dr. Lance Minear, manager of poultry research services, Southern States, Providence Forge, Va. said one of the major challenges and opportunities facing the layer industry is the ability to get "fresh flesh" into rations.

The Northeast, in particular, has many opportunities to utilize by-products from the meat and fisheries industries. Extruders, he said, offer a great deal of potential for adding such products directly to rations.

Minear cautioned his audience to be extremely careful in obtaining pullets that are adequate for housing in a new type of facility. The inability of birds to adapt to a new system may be a root cause of difficulty in getting them to the proper body weight to support early, high production.

While computers have become a useful tool in record-keeping and formulation, Minear told his audience they are still underutilized in flock management.

Keshavarz reviewed trials at Cornell which showed the substitution of oyster shell for 50 percent of pulverized limestone in diets improved shell quality both at high and low temperatures.

He also reported on trials with gypsum as a source of supplemental calcium. When combined with oyster shell at the 50 percent level, gypsum was able to support good eggshell quality. When calcite crystals were used, the gypsum failed to support eggshell quality.

Other work at Cornell by Keshavarz and associates to determine the effect of calcium source on separation in commercial operations were also discussed.

Studies conducted on two farms indicated that more particles of oyster shell than calcium chips were available to birds along feeding lines.

J.C. (Mac) McLaurin, president of the recently formed Egg Association of America, told the audience the new organization was formed because of a need to operate more effectively in addressing the needs of the industry.

An example of an effort to provide more beneficial programs, cited by the speaker, is the new Northeast Egg Promotion Campaign. The program will focus attention on the major media markets of the Northeast, and it is a cooperative venture of Northeast state and regional associations, individuals, and the Egg Association of America.

Student Named Outstanding

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Richard Hissong, a Penn State senior from Mercersburg, has been named the 1993 Outstanding Senior in the College of Agricultural Sciences. He was honored at the college's 1993 Spring Commencement, held Saturday, May 15, on Penn State's University Park Campus.

Selection for the award, which is sponsored by the College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society, was made by honor students in the Coaly Society, college faculty, and alumni. Competition for the award is based on academic achievement, leadership in college clubs, recommendations, an application essay, and contributions to university and community activities.

Hissong, the son of Ronald and Judith Hissong of Mercersburg, will receive a bachelor's in agricultural systems management and technology (ASMT). His first association with the college was as a student in the 1988 Pennsylvania Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences.

He was president of the ASMT Club in 1992 and was a member of the Coaly Honor Society, the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, and the Ag Student Council. He served as an ag advocate, a group of select students who represent the college at major events and support efforts to enhance the image of agriculture and recruit highly qualified students.

Hissong was a winner of the 1991 Guldin Speaking Contest, an annual college event in which undergraduates deliver research-based addresses on issues in their field of study.

Hissong has lived and worked on his family's 400 acre Mercer-Vu Farms, where he plans to return after graduation.

Tractor Line Ranges From 17-35 H.P.

NORCROSS, Ga. — Massey Ferguson is introducing six new compact tractors from 17 to 35 horsepower that meet customer needs for more operator comfort, greater ease-of-use, and improved productivity.

A wide range of implements make these tractors useful on the farm, on light construction and landscape sites, at parks and schools, and at home.

MF 1210, 1220, 1230

These rugged, workhorse compacts have 3-cylinder, naturally aspirated diesel engines, water-cooled for longer life. The lugging ability of these engines practically eliminates the need to downshift in tough field conditions.

Choose from a standard gear or hydrostatic transmission. The standard transmission has an easy, straight line pattern between first and reverse, and a wide gear range that lets you select the speed best suited for the job.

The hydrostatic transmission features easy, single pedal control of changes between forward and reverse without clutching. An optional creeper gear for special applications is available for the standard transmission.

A mid-mount PTO operates at 2,000 rpm and drives mid-mount mowers. The rear PTO operates at 540 rpm and drives many of the same implements used by big farm tractors.

MF 1240, 1250, 1260

Heavy-duty 3-cylinder diesel engines have high torque backup and a wide operating range. They operate at lower speeds to reduce wear on internal engine parts for longer life.

A unique, 16-speed, synchro-shuttle transmission has 3rd and 4th gears synchronized for shifting-on-the-go in those gears. The synchro-shuttle with single lever shifting between forward and reverse make front loader applications fast, smooth and effortless. A creeper gear is built into the transmission.

New MF 1200 Series Tractors

MF 1210 - 17 hp
MF 1220 - 20 hp
MF 1230 - 25 hp
MF 1240 - 25 hp
MF 1250 - 30 hp
MF 1260 - 35 hp

These tractors are equipped with a rear, independent, electro-hydraulic actuated PTO operated by an easy-to-engage toggle switch at the steering column. An optional forward-facing mid-mounted PTO is available.

Features Common To All Models

A flat deck provides a comfortable working environment and a fender-mounted roll-over-protective-structure (ROPS) can be folded down when operating under doorways or low-hanging branches. Wet disk brakes and a horizontal exhaust add to reliability and operator convenience.

MF implements are job-matched to the power output of each tractor and include rotary cutters, Quick-Attach loaders, Quick-Attach backhoe, front dozer blade, and mid-mount rotary mowers. MF 1200 Series compact tractors are designed so more than one implement can be mounted at the same time. There is no need to change implements when changing jobs.

This MF 1250 tractor is one of six new Massey Ferguson 1200 Series compact tractors from 17 to 35 horsepower that are designed for more operator comfort, greater ease of use, and increased productivity.

Registration Approved For Biological Insecticide

WILMINGTON, Del. — Growers across the country have a new biological insecticide in their arsenal against lepidoptera insects.

"Biobit" HP, a high-potency bioinsecticide from DuPont, has been approved by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for use on a broad spectrum of agricultural crops.

"Biobit" HP is a double-strength formulation of "Biobit" WP wettable powder. "Biobit" is the trade name for the Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt) product marketed by DuPont.

Bts are naturally occurring bacteria that have proven effective in the control of lepidoptera larvae such as loopers, armyworms and bollworms. Lepidoptera insects are a common threat to many types of vegetables, fruits, and fiber crops.

"Biobit" is harmless to humans and the environment, and the concentrated HP formulation makes it easy to use. "Biobit" HP comes in one- and five-pound bags which are easier to handle and mix than the 10- and 25-pound containers that have been used for packaging "Biobit" WP.

"With 'Biobit' HP, growers need less material to achieve the same effectiveness they've come to expect from 'Biobit' products," said Laure Kenyon, "Biobit" product manager. "And its double-strength formulation means 'Biobit' HP can be handled in smaller packages that are easier to haul and mix in the spray tank."

The active ingredients in "Biobit" HP are the Bt spores and protein crystals that are formed during the fermentation process employed to produce the bacteria. The spores and proteins in "Biobit" HP act as biological stomach poisons in larvae, effectively controlling worms that eat it.

"In extensive field studies, 'Biobit' HP demonstrated excellent control of lepidoptera insects in the early instar stages," said Kenyon. "Young larvae that eat it off of treated crops stop feeding within hours and die within two to five days."

"Biobit" HP's unique action against lepidoptera insects makes it an ideal tank-mix companion with other insecticides such as "Vydate," "Lannate," or "Asana" XL. Such combinations can extend the spectrum of activity against pests while providing for longer residual in the field.

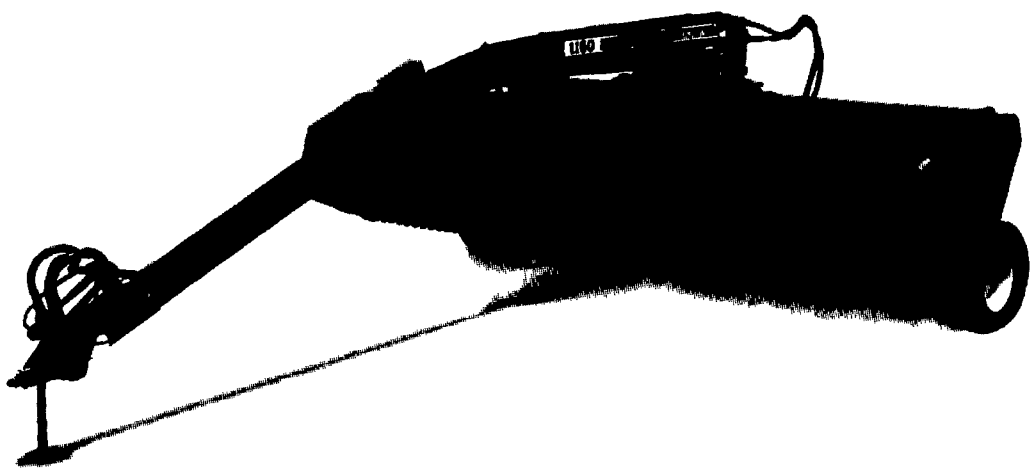
IT ALSO CUTS MANHOURS.



Hesston 1160 Mower Conditioner

When you're doing high-capacity haying, our Hesston 1160 Hydro Swing Mower Conditioner gets right down to business.

We built it with a center-pivot design that gives you all the benefits of a self-propelled — without the extra expense. And it's made for consistent, even cutting.

Once you've entered your fields, the 1160's fully engaged 110" conditioner goes to work for fast drying and even, well-conditioned windrows. You can even adjust the forming shields to produce everything from a swath to Hesston's unique fluffy windrow. Whatever the crop conditions, the 1160 tailors itself so you can harvest the highest quality hay and save lots of time in the process.

See your AGCO/Hesston dealer listed here and ask about our flexible financing plans on the 1160. Or on our wide selection of other equipment, all backed by the AGCO Warranty Program.

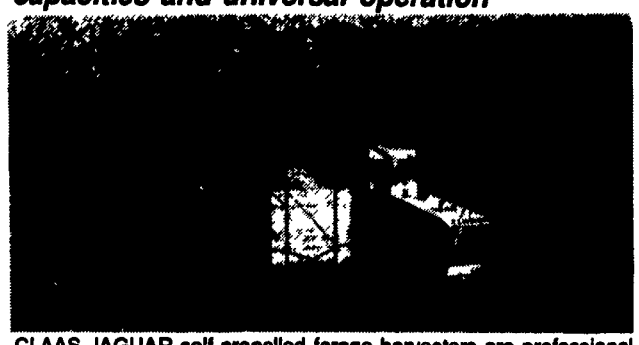
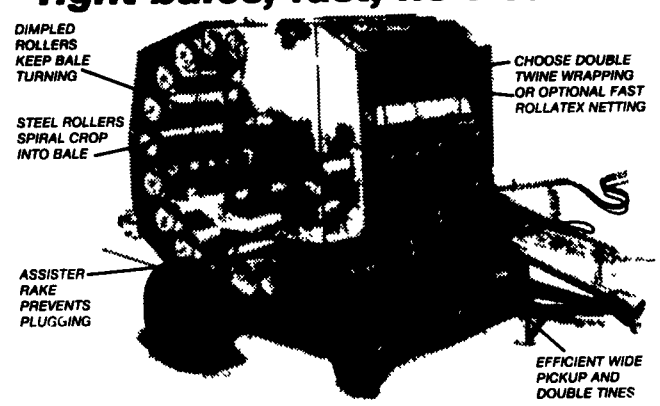
Self propelled forage harvesters for highest capacities and universal operation



CLAAS JAGUAR self propelled forage harvesters are professional machines. Profitability demands high working quality and high speed of operation. This can be achieved with advanced technology and fully matured machinery. Today's farmers and contractors make competent decisions. These professionals have made the CLAAS JAGUAR Europe's number one.

Owners say:

"Tight bales, fast, no trouble"



DIMPLED ROLLERS KEEP BALE TURNING
STEEL ROLLERS SPIRAL CROP INTO BALE
ASSISTER RAKE PREVENTS PLUGGING
CHOOSE DOUBLE TWINE WRAPPING OR OPTIONAL FAST ROLLATEX NETTING
EFFICIENT WIDE PICKUP AND DOUBLE TINES

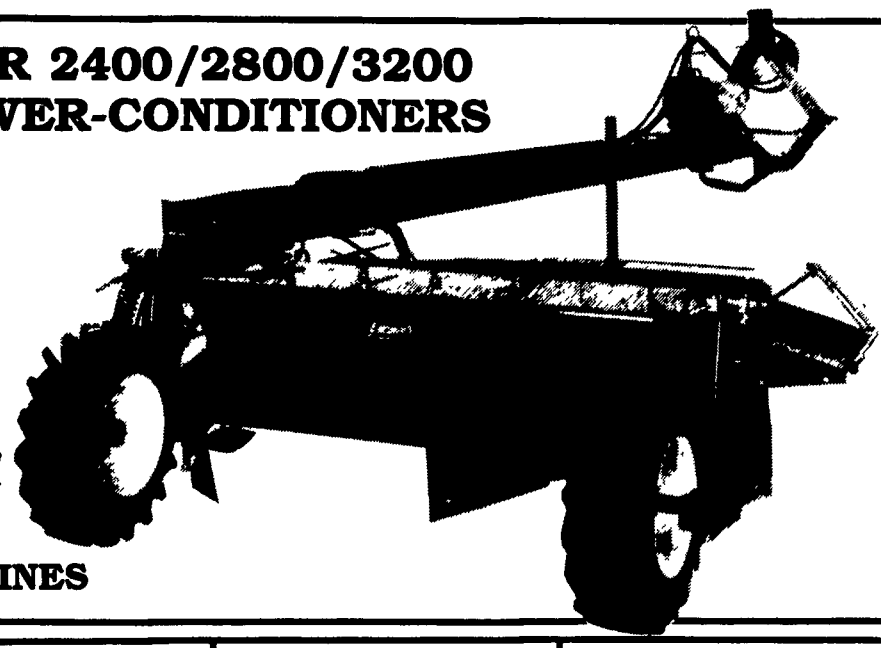
GMR 2400/2800/3200 MOWER-CONDITIONERS



Forage harvesting with a GMR Mower- Conditioner means:
* rapid crop drying as a result of roller conditioning and adjustable swath shape
* preservation of nutritional value
* high harvesting capacity
* greater efficiency of next stage machines (tedder, swath rake, self-loading wagon, baler, etc.)

The GMR Mower-Conditioner has a long service life, is simple to operate and easy to maintain.

Transmission for MF 3600 Series tractors

MASSEY FERGUSON

What farmers like you told us you want in a powershift transmission.
"Smooth shifts"	The transmission has to shift as smoothly as you can manually shift, without the jerks that can damage implements
"Fuel efficiency"	Deliver more engine power to the wheels and PTO.
"Reverse shuttle shifting"	Make synchronized shifts from forward to reverse
"Better speed selection"	The next powershift gear should never be more than 17% faster or slower.
"Low cost"	Make the benefits of powershifting more affordable to buy and maintain

Ford "30 Series" Model 5030
4 Cy - 62 HP Tractor

North America's leading tractor line offers you more:
- Hydrostatic steering. Easier handling, durable, responsive.
- Improved front axles. Both two-and four-wheel drive axles; stronger, durable.
- Transmission. Choose the 8x2 or the 8x8 shuttle... the perfect loader transmission, or the deluxe 16x8 Dual Power.
- Also Choose From: "3230"—32 PTO horsepower
  "3430"—38 PTO horsepower
  "3930"—45 PTO horsepower
  "4630"—55 PTO horsepower

Come in for the full details on the Ford "30 Series" tractors

NEW! Exclusive design produces best-ever bales

The unique New Holland Models 650 and 660 Roll-Belt™ round balers make the best quality bales ever. Tight bales—dense bales. Good-looking, square-shouldered bales that hold up to the weather. The patented Roll-Belt design means fast, sure core formation, even in the toughest crops. The adjustable hydraulic belt-tensioning system puts maximum bale density control at your fingertips And, you can choose from three optional automatic tying mechanisms for the smoothest package ever.

The ultimate 9-foot mower-conditioner

Close, even cutting from the lightweight header that floats over ground contours.

Thorough but gentle conditioning from chevron-design inter meshing rubber rolls.

Best-in-class performance, capacity

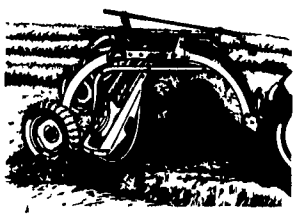
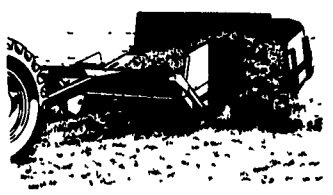
The original Rolabar® rake



Don't settle for second best

Depend on the rugged construction of New Holland Rolabar® rakes. More farmers buy New Holland rakes than all other brands combined because they're rugged, reliable and pick up more of your valuable hay. Don't buy an imitation. See us for an original.

Save hay Save money



The New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter can save your hay crop by turning it over to dry, without losing valuable leaves. Get your hay out of the field sooner, before it rains. Or, if it's been rained on, dry it quickly and gently. Make your hay more valuable with the "166".

Ted fast... beat the weather

You can beat the weather.. and save time and money. The New Holland Model 163 tedder is nearly 18' wide, so you can ted faster and bale sooner. And when you're ready to move, the "163" folds for easy transport.. no tools necessary.

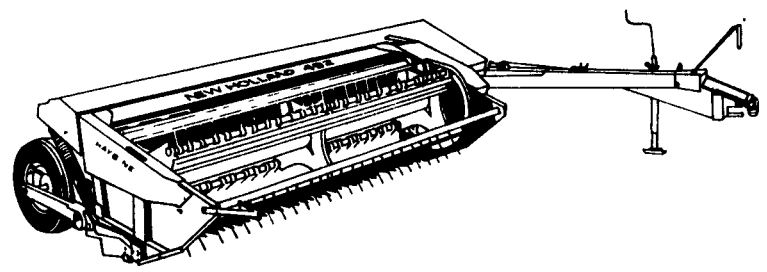
LIGHTWEIGHT HEADER



CLOSE, EVEN CUTTING

The Model 492 Haybine® is the ultimate nine-foot mower-conditioner. Its unique lightweight header floats over ground contours for a close, even cut and less cutterbar damage.

Get all your crop. Stop by and take a look at the Model 492!

RAIN OR SHINE

The New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter will change the way you make hay—for the better. The Model 166 speeds drying time as it gently lifts, fluffs and turns windrows without roughing-up the hay. And, keeping more of the protein-rich leaves intact means you'll get high-quality hay into the bale or silo, fast!

The Model 166 features:

- 65-inch Super-Sweep™ pickup
- Adjustable pickup windguard and discharge chute
- Easy-to-lift overcenter handle
- Optional hydraulic drive
- Optional hydraulic pickup lift

Stop in today. Let us show you how to make high-quality hay with a Model 166 windrow inverter . . . only from Ford New Holland.

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

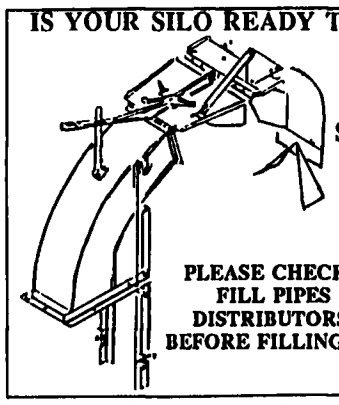
S & S SILO SERVICE

ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

CONCRETE REASONS WHY A NEW POURED CONCRETE SILO IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT...

NO REBUILT SILOS!
NO PREOWNED SILOS!
"ALL NEW FOR YOU!!"

A. Enhancement of cash flow. Improved forage quality results in consistent, and increased milk production.

B. "Safe Silo" Our silos meet or exceed industry standards, reducing/protecting lender liability.

C. Initial Cost. Used or cheap pre-fab silos may have a lower initial cost, but based upon useful life, the new poured concrete silo will have a lower annual cost: due to longer life and lower maintenance costs.

D. Residual Value. Our new, poured concrete silos are built for "generations of use", and enhance the future value of the farm.

E. Storage Losses Reduced. Poured concrete silos consistently out-perform all other methods of storing and preserving the total digestible nutrients in forage crops.

F. Protecting Forage Quality. Oxygen and heat cause the most damage to stored silage and haylage. Our poured concrete silos are the very best system to PROTECT YOUR FORAGE QUALITY... "NOBODY PROTECTS FORAGE QUALITY LIKE WE DO...NOBODY"

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when its empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy!

A Reminder: Check Your Door Steps For Safety. Don't Take Chances On Poor Door Steps - Think Safety First!
We Have Patterns Of Most Silo Door Steps.

RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increases useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

BIG VALLEY PERFORMANCE

Paul Zook, of Bellville, started feeding Maxi-Tech 32FF in September of 1992. Within six months the milk response is as follows:

Date	# Cows	Lbs. Milk	RHA	% BF	Lbs. Fat	DIM	IOFC
8/92	49.3	63.2	21349	3.7	784	173	1755
9/92	49.3	64.7	21382	3.7	793	167	1798
3/93	46.9	73.6	22263	3.5	784	175	1870

Paul feeds two TMR groups that each contain corn silage, haylage, hi moisture shelled corn and Purina Maxi-Tech 32FF.

Purina Would Like To Thank Paul for Sharing His Records And Wishes Him Continued Success.
